Acts of 1850.
[illegible]

OF WONDERS AND GHOSTS.

We moderns are a great people, and this age [illegible] we live in is a wonderful age. The marvels that distinguish it are almost [illegible]. We [illegible] say nothing of steam [illegible] telegraph, the daguerreotype [illegible] comparison with [illegible] discoveries, these are [illegible] the first and faint glimmering [illegible] approaching splendor of [illegible]. Steam and gas and such [illegible] will be consigned to oblivion and [illegible] when the [illegible] glories of modern [illegible] burst upon the enraptured vision of mankind. When people learn through Mr. Fiske [illegible] by electricity, to cure all incurable [illegible] by electric taps and magnetic tric[illegible] body will be exempt of old age. When Mr. Paine's [illegible] experiments shall have [illegible] philosophy of the ancients which [illegible] water was an element, and [illegible] furnished the world [illegible] with light [illegible] chemistry will [illegible] company will break, [illegible] expand, and the towering [illegible] will cease to fail before the [illegible] woodman.

[illegible] physical [illegible] when considered with the vast achievements which are to be accomplished in spiritual natures. Why [illegible] Andrew Jackson Davis [illegible] himself into [illegible] the inner eye of the spirit, beholds the denizens of the world of [illegible], witnesses the exterior phenomena of [illegible] that the spirituality [illegible] body is incomparably the [illegible] mortal [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] and [illegible] Mr. Davis [illegible] commun[illegible] the dead and penetrate [illegible] grave, we shall have very [illegible] indeed.

[illegible] benefactors of society [illegible] that the Misses Fox, signs [illegible] cooperating nobly with Mr. [illegible] ladies have unfolded a new [illegible] the doctrine of [illegible]. To them has been given [illegible] power of evoking spirits from their dwelling [illegible] them to answer [illegible] Grave and learned [illegible] and the shrewd [illegible] testify to the mysterious [illegible] And yet we [illegible] at the confession [illegible] the Misses Fox [illegible] shadows [illegible] and in [illegible] them to hold converse [illegible] that swarm about our [illegible] of the spirit world [illegible] from the prison house of death [illegible] they were sometime [illegible] they [illegible] a most un[illegible] We [illegible] that spirits were all soul [illegible] But such [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] Baltimore [illegible] N. Y. Commercial Advertiser, who persists [illegible] that the whole affair is a bold and [illegible] humbug, and that the dollars [illegible] purpose of taking [illegible] with the [illegible] We are amazed at such obstinate unbelief [illegible] For our part, we [illegible] doubt that the Misses Fox [illegible] wonderful ladies, and that their spirits are just as veritable and genuine specimens of [illegible] as the Cock Lane Ghost, or any other that haunts church yards, or is summoned from the charnel-house by cru[illegible] to frighten naughty little boys.

From Havana.

By the British steamer which arrived at Mo[illegible] Sunday last, we have dates from Havana to the [illegible]. The fate of the American prisoners is still involved in uncertainty, but the [illegible] was that they would be [illegible] the imperative demand of the [illegible] backed by a sufficient [illegible] In the meanwhile [illegible] excitement in Havana [illegible] the passengers, that [illegible] the Conde de Alcoy is disposed to liberate the captives, Gen. Armero protests energet[illegible]. The populace, who are [illegible] take sides with Armero, and the press [illegible] by constant abuse of the United States, and by appeals to the people to con[illegible] engaged in a war of races. [illegible] the long run precipitate the [illegible] of Cuba, unless wiser and more [illegible] prevail.

Our Consul, Gen. Campbell, has been repeatedly [illegible] with assassination, and his position in Havana is becoming critical. It is [illegible] that he may ultimately [illegible] to withdraw from the city, and seek safety on board an American man-of-war.

Mr. Gould, whose arrest at Cienfuegos has been [illegible] was set at liberty a few days ago, at the instance of our Consul at Trinidad, after close confinement for nearly two weeks.

We copy the following from the correspondence of the Picayune:

Another American citizen, Mr. Edmund Doyle, a merchant in Cardenas, has been arrested on a most frivolous charge. One of his clerks, preparing over night his lowing piece [illegible] the next morning, put on the [illegible] and burst it. This occurring near an open window frightened the watchman, who [illegible] gave the alarm, and the house was surrounded by some thirty or forty men, the clerk arrested and his arms tied behind him, and with Mr. Doyle conducted to prison. This is the more unjust to Mr. Doyle, from the fact that he, while Cenuti, the Governor, was a prisoner in the hands of the Lopez party, was the only resident in Cardenas that went to speak with him and offer him clothes, money, and services.

From Port au Prince.—An arrival at Philadelphia brings advices from Port-au-Prince to the 4th inst. The country was quiet, and there were no signs of warlike demonstrations against the Dominicans. Business was dull. The stock of Coffee was so much reduced that holders were demanding higher prices, which had the effect of checking business. There was little or no mahogany or logwood in the yards.

BY MAGNETIC TELEGRAPH.

[To the Merchants' Exchange.]

FURTHER BY THE NIAGARA.

Baltimore, June 26.

The intelligence from England, per the Niagara, is to the following effect:

The debates in Parliament presented no new feature of general interest. The Ministry have again been defeated.

The news from France is interesting, and creates much excitement and discussion. The President has lately made a tour of the provinces, and was generally well received. The great event of the day is the visit of Thiers to Louis Philippe, in England. He was well received by the Court of St. James. It is said that his visit has reference to certain deep intrigues and important political changes which are projected in France. Before leaving, Thiers had an interview with the President.

The Paris accounts from Rome, say that the Pope has dispensed with religious ceremony.

The People of Rome evince an uneasy and unquiet feeling. Nothing but the presence of foreign soldiery prevents a popular demonstration.

The King of Prussia has nearly recovered from the effects of the wound inflicted upon him by the assassin.

Mr Soule will, to-morrow, make his great speech for the division of California. Let us listen to it, but let us not be dazzled by its brilliancy. There are many ways of defeating the bill now before the Senate, but the most effective is by holding out a delusive hope that something better may be obtained. There may be abstract reasons of state why California should be divided, but it is no longer an open question, and the result of the vote will show it. Mr. Soule is, no doubt, honest in the advocacy of his principles, but he may be pushed forward by others to cover more sinister designs. We are not yet out of danger, and the Union may yet be put to severe trials.

There is a party of men opposing the bill who have no other but selfish views. They owe no allegiance to any party, and are to the regular whigs and democrats, what wreckers are to the navigators. We may be obliged to embrace them in our last extremity; but let us beware of their false lights with which they would run our vessel of State ashore. I allude here to the men who are elected by spoils in the regular parties, and to the men who, during a Presidential campaign, will stump it for one candidate to laud and extol another. The woman who, in Solomon's judgment, insisted on dividing the child, was not the true mother. Let the people who are in a habit of reading their Bible, remember this striking instance of the wisdom of Solomon.

The persecution of Gen'l Foote, by Col. Thomas H. Benton, before the Grand Jury of this District, terminated, as every reasonable man expected, in that body ignoring the case. The Senate committee continues its sessions at the pressing instances of Col. Benton, but without progressing an inch. Meanwhile Col. Benton has pretty well succeeded in directing public attention to Mr. Foote's pistol, and away from the turbulent manner in which himself approached Mr. Foote in the Senate and which made the latter, in common with half the spectators, believe that Col. Benton intended to commit an assault upon him. This swearing one's life against a man, and that man so feeble in health as Gen'l Foote, and the man swearing so stout a man as Col. Benton, is, after all, not entirely [illegible].

Gen'l Twiggs arrived here yesterday from Florida, without any of the Seminole Indians which have won for that State, such an envious [illegible]. They have been graciously permitted to remain another year in the Peninsula, in order that Senator Yulee may ask for another appropriation for them next year, and in the mean time, he does not think proper to dissolve the Union. X.

From the Indian Nation.—We are glad to learn that the Indians, in their territory west of Arkansas, are improving and progressing in enlightenment. The Tahlequah (Cherokee) Advocate says there are in that town five stores, three taverns, two wagonmaker shops, one recently put up, two black-smith shops, one tailor shop, and one saddle shop; and notwithstanding the hardness of the times, business appears to be in a healthy condition.

The same paper says that their friends and neighbors, the Creeks, are also advancing rapidly, and pay especial attention to the cause of education. They have lately built several school houses.

The California fever still prevails to a great extent in the nation.

☞ Commander Geo. C. Read has been appointed Governor of the Philadelphia Naval Asylum, in place of Commander Jacob Jones, relieved.

Commander Ruche was relieved, on Thursday, at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, by Commander Ingraham—the term of service of the former having expired.

☞ We are glad to see our friend George Wilkins Kendall, of the Picayune, once more amongst us. He looks as hearty as usual, and is the same cheerful, pleasant, chatty and excellent fellow that we have ever found. He is, we understand, hard at work getting out his history of Mexico and the late Mexican war.

☞ A proposition has been made in New York to employ some of the inmates of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum as telegraph operators. There are said to be many highly accomplished and industrious young men in the institution, admirably fitted for this service, and the deprivation of the power of speech will prove no obstacle to their successful performance of their duties. They are remarkable for their industry, perseverance and attention to business.

Washington Gossip.—The correspondent of the Charleston Courier says:

Mr. Clay is evidently failing in vigor and health, and many of his friends fear that he cannot long continue to discharge his laborious duties.

The five hour sittings of the Senate, the tedious discussions, the hot weather, the no[illegible] frequent personal collisions, prolonged anxiety as to the condition of the country, and the weight of years, have well nigh borne him down.

He saw evidences yesterday of an intention to delay final action on the adjustment bill.—Mr. Benton, Mr. Berrien, and others, have numerous amendments to offer, all of which will require discussion. Mr. Clay made an earnest and rather despairing appeal, and not unmingled with reproaches, to the opponents of the measure, in behalf of an early decision upon the bill. He desired that the country might know its fate. It was the understanding that all the amendments, excepting the one filling the blank in the Texan proposition, should be disposed of to-day. But instead of that, not even the pending amendment, giving jurisdiction to the Supreme Court, in the dispute between Texas and New Mexico, will probably be disposed of. Mr. Benton is under a sort of pledge to embarrass the bill as much as he can; and he has, hitherto, remarked that the friends of the bill, by their own disagreement, sufficiently embarrassed the measure, without his aid. It was intended to take the final vote on the passage of the bill next Thursday. But this is now out of the question, particularly as several set speeches are yet to be made.

In case the bill should ultimately pass, it will be necessary for Texas to decide upon the offer made to her; and if she refuses it, a serious difficulty will arise between her and the General Government, as to the territory in dispute. The President claims possession of the territory of New Mexico, under the treaty, for the United States; and this possession, he says, must be retained until the dispute be settled by some competent authority. Texas, according to Gen. Rusk, will not submit to the decree of any authority on this subject. If the United States have taken possession of the territory claimed by Texas, they have, he says, taken it fraudulently, and Texas will not submit unless compelled by force. She will never, he says, suffer herself to be dragged to a federal tribunal for an adjudication of a title which is clear and indisputable.

This being the case, there either will be conflict between Texas and the United States or an offer to "buy our peace" must be made and accepted.

It has been supposed that, in the absence of Mr. Borland, Mr. Phelps and Mr. Bradbury—opponents of the bill—it would have a majority of four or five. Neither of the above Senators paired off. The friends of the bill will not lose a vote by absence. If Mr. Dickinson should not be here, Mr. Seward will not vote—having paired off with him. But many, who are counted for the bill, are lukewarm in its support, and will make no effort to get the question.

The Northern towns and cities are moving in favor of a settlement of the question. The "Era"—the anti slavery organ here—deprecates the movement, rears its influence, and attributes it to persons interested in procuring the passage of tariff and internal improvement projects.

Holden's Dollar Magazine.—We are indebted to the publishers, Hotchkiss & Co., for the July number of this cheap and excellent Magazine.

☞ A somewhat exciting and ludicrous scene occurred a few days ago at Ellicott's Mills, Md. It seems that Mr. Clay was to pass through the town, on his way to Colonel Carroll's country seat, in Howard District. As soon as this was known, the citizens of Ellicott's Mills made arrangements to give him an enthusiastic welcome; but when the rail cars arrived Mr. Clay was not there. It appears that Robt. H. Hare, Esq., had met Mr. Clay at the Relay House, and informed him of the preparations, and managed to carry him off in a private carriage. When the facts became known, an indignation meeting of the citizens of Ellicott's Mills was called and the following pungent preamble and resolutions were adopted, nem. con:

Whereas, the citizens of Ellicott's Mills and its vicinity, without distinction of party, had assembled for the purpose of welcoming the Hon. Henry Clay; and whereas, it was known that an organized reception would be in opposition to his wishes, and whereas, in a meeting to make preparations to receive him, a motion was made to appoint a committee to visit the Relay House, and accompany Mr. Clay to Ellicott's Mills, (which was known to be not in accordance with Mr. Clay's wishes,) the motion was not, for this reason, sustained.

Actuated by some motive, Robert H. Hare secretly, meanly, and surreptitiously, exerted his influence to prevent a large concourse of citizens (many of whom had come from a distance) from paying their respects to the illustrious pacificator; therefore, be it unanimously resolved by this meeting,

That Mr. Hare has been guilty of most unwarrantable impertinence and officiousness, and is entitled to all the contempt that his petty conduct deserves.

The Compromise.—We subjoin the resolutions adopted at the great meeting in Monument Square, Baltimore, on the 22d ult. They were passed unanimously:

Whereas, a spirit of dissension and discord has invaded the halls of Congress, which has not only disturbed the public councils and retards indispensable legislation, but which, if not seasonably appeased, threatens to bring about an alienation of those fraternal regards which alone can keep united this hitherto prosperous and happy confederacy,

And whereas, with a view to reconcile conflicting opinions, a committee of distinguished statesmen, selected irrespectively of party, have reported to the Senate of the United States a bill commonly known as the Compromise or Adjustment bill, which whilst it maintains the exclusive views of neither of the parties into which that august body is now unhappily divided, in a just spirit of patriotic forbearance and concession yielded something to each;

And whereas, said bill, by the moderation and liberality of its provisions has commended itself to the almost undivided approbation of this community; and it is deemed proper in a crisis so imminent, that Congress should not remain ignorant of this state of public opinion;

Therefore, be it resolved, That in the judgment of this meeting the immediate passage of the bill referred to is imperatively demanded by every consideration of patriotic prudence. That its prompt adoption will go far to reconcile existing difficulties, which, if suffered much longer to prevail, it may well be apprehended will fester into a fearful acrimony, endangering the peace, if not the union, of these States.

And be it further resolved, That whilst indisposed to question the motives of those who have felt it incumbent on them in the discharge of their public duties, to throw obstacles in the way of the proposed adjustment, this meeting cannot withhold from the sagacious and patriotic statesmen, by whom it has been sustained, the expression of its most cordial and grateful approbation.

And be it further resolved, That the officers of this meeting be authorized to transmit to each of the Senators and Representatives of Maryland, in Congress, a copy of these resolutions, with a request that they may be laid before their respective branches of the Federal Legislature.

The Steamer Griffith. The Lost and Saved.—A letter giving a description of the burning of the steamer Griffith, concludes as follows:

"No. [illegible] 23 women, 17 men, 25 children, were buried on the lake shore near where the sad disaster happened. One hundred and forty one have been found of the dead. Of the living, I have not been able to ascertain—probably about 30. It is believed that many more bodies will be recovered. As many as are [illegible] will report.

The heart sickens at a description of this melancholy event. Old age, ripe manhood, blooming youth and smiling infancy, are partakers of this sad catastrophe."

The Crop.—The Concordia Intelligencer says:

The prospect of the cotton crop in Concordia and Tensas Parishes, or rather in those portions that have not been injured by the water, is in no way flattering. The cut worm, we were told yesterday by an experienced planter in the lower part of our Parish, has made its appearance and has already done and is doing much damage.

The abundance of wet weather of late, has covered the cotton and corn fields with grass, and entirely prevented ploughing. Those whose long experience in cultivating cotton and whose opinion is entitled to much respect, state, that under the most favorable auspices, picking must commence at least, one month later than usual, and will require a season and fall in all respects similar to 1829 to insure two-thirds of a crop.

The water is receding in the swamp. A large number of places which have been partly, or entirely covered are now out of water, and ready for the "seed."

Deaths by Lightning.—On Tuesday last, 25th ult., on Major James Surget's Palo Alto plantation one mile above Vidalia, the lightning struck a tree, under which the negroes belonging to said place, had assembled to escape a sudden shower. Three were killed instantly, and nine more severely stunned by the electric shock, all of whom are recovering.

New Planet.—The Tempo, of Naples, publishes a letter from M. Leopold Del Re, Director of the Observatory at Naples, announcing that the celebrated astronomer, Don Annabale Gasparis, late discoverer of the Igea Borbonica, has discovered a new telescope planet, being the ninth between Mars and Jupiter. It is a star of the ninth magnitude, and is at present in opposition with the sun.

The Northern Mail came through yesterday with the latest dates.

☞ The Nashville papers of the 21st, officially announce the cholera to be in that city. Five deaths were reported. On the 21st, up to 3 P. M., five new cases had occurred.

Handling Molten Lead and Iron.—The Boston Traveller says experiments similar to those recently made in France, by which molten lead and iron are handled with entire impunity, the hands and arms being boldly immersed in the boiling liquids, have been tried with equal success at the scientific school, Cambridge. A fortuitous circumstance discovered that the apparently wonderful results were nothing but the simple effect of what is called the spheroidal condition of water or moisture. The theory of the thing is, that when the metal has attained a high degree of heat, it changes the moisture on the hand, or even the tongue, into globules or spheroidal forms, which prevent the immediate contact of the iron with the skin. The experiments are to be repeated before the Natural History Society of Boston soon. If so, they will be duly reported.

☞ The schr. Madonna, Captain McNeil, arrived yesterday in five days from Tampa Bay, with twenty-six of the Spanish soldiers who joined Gen. Lopez, at Cardenas.

Norfolk Affairs, &c.—We find the following items of intelligence in the Portsmouth Pilot, of Friday, the 21st ult.:

The master, mate and crew of the prize slaver Excellent, sent to Norfolk by the United States ship John Adams, were on Thursday committed to jail to await a trial for piracy at the November term.

Passed Midshipman Hall was knocked down by a slung shot on Wednesday in Norfolk, by a party of drunken sailors.

The steam frigate Saranac steamed up to the Navy Yard on Friday morning, for repairs, which are to be done at the Gosport Iron Works.

The beautiful sloop-of-war St. Mary's was towed up to the yard at the same time by the U. S. steamer Engineer, Capt. Olmstead.

The mutineers brought home in the sloop-of-war St. Mary's, on a charge of burning the whale ship Massachusetts, were examined on Thursday, and remanded till next Tuesday for a further hearing. One of them—Owen Cunningham—was discharged, but detained as a witness.

Commodore Geisinger and his Secretary, Mr. Schley, late of the East India squadron, left here on Wednesday afternoon for their homes in Maryland.

A Crash.—About half past two o'clock, yesterday afternoon, a small two story brick stable situated on the corner of Morgan street and an alley, between Fifth and Sixth streets, fell. Mr. James Gray and three laborers were in the building at the time. Mr. Gray and two of the men were slightly injured, whilst the other, a man named Bryan McClosky, was badly, though not fatally, bruised. Had the walls of the building fallen inwardly, it would have undoubtedly crushed them all beneath them. It was owned by Mr. Mathew Carr, who was having a cellar dug underneath it. The support giving way caused by the excavation, was the cause of the crash.—St. Louis Reveille 22nd.

Falstaff.—Mr. Giles, at the close of his lecture upon Falstaff, eloquently "points a moral" by the following picture of the last days of the fat, funny, and sack-loving old knight:

"What a mournful condition of humanity is presented to us in the debasement of talent to the appetites! Behold it in the picture set before us in Falstaff. Look at that gray-headed, gray-bearded old man, lolling, bloated on the dregs of life; the desires insatiate as strength declines; the senses gross, while a brilliant imagination flows in radiance over them, as the sun upon a morass; abilities which might have exalted empires, devoted to the cooking of a capon, or the merits of a sack posset; eloquence and wit lavished upon blackguards; law, honor, courage, chastity, made a jest. Laugh, it is true, you must; but when you have laughed, turn back and think; and after thinking, you will admit that tragedy itself has not any thing more sad."

A Puzzle.—We met with the annexed enigma in the N. Y. Express. Can any body solve it? After breaking our editorial head over it for half an hour, we gave it up:

I'm the stoutest of voices in orchestra heard,
And yet in an orchestra never have been;
I'm a bird of bright plumage, but less like a bird
Nothing in nature ever was seen.
Touching earth I expire, in water I die,
In air I lose breath, yet can swim and can fly;
Darkness destroys me, and light is my death;
You can't keep me alive without stopping my breath
If my name can't be guessed by a boy or a man,
By a girl or a woman it certainly can.

Great Hail Storm and Freshet.—The thunder storm, yesterday afternoon, was very severe in many localities, and particularly disastrous in the vicinity of Walpole, N. H. During the rain, the streams at that place rose with frightful rapidity, and washed away the embankment of the Cheshire Railroad at three different points.

A large factory and two barns were blown over by the wind, which, for a short time, blew a hurricane. Several cattle were killed, and many were swept a distance of half a mile. Hailstones fell as thick as rain for a few minutes, and the windows of every house in town were broken. A gentleman who was at Walpole yesterday informs us that many of the hailstones were at least an inch and a quarter in diameter. About two bushels were swept together on the piazza of one house.—Boston Times.

Murder and Suicide.—It is rarely we have been called upon to record a more terrible transaction than that which occurred in this city on Saturday night last. A man named Samuel Carlisle, living about three miles from Evansville, on an excellent farm, returned from town to his home on Saturday evening about 9 o'clock, in an intoxicated condition, and with a jug of whiskey. He made his wife arise, and a young man sleeping in an adjoining room, and commenced a quarrel. Finally, after ordering the young man to bed again he took down his rifle and fired at his wife, the bullet grazing her shoulder. He then struck her several blows on the head with the butt of the gun, mashing in her skull. She died almost instantly. The young man entered the apartment, but fearing for his own life, fled to a neighbor's for assistance. On his return with others, Carlisle was seated on the edge of a bed, dead. He had pulled off one boot, placed the muzzle of the gun to his mouth, and with his toe discharged it—the ball breaking out several of the teeth, and entered his brain. Liquor was the sole cause of this horrible affair, as Carlisle was in good circumstances, owning a fine farm and owing nobody. An inquest was held over the bodies yesterday morning. We are indebted to Dr. Wilcox for these particulars.—Evansville, Ia., Journal.

Horrible Discovery.—A barrel closely headed and corked was brought was caught in the Ohio, a short distance from the mouth of Green river, last Friday, upon opening which the body of a man most horribly mutilated, was found within. The head, arms and legs had been cut from the body and were in the barrel. A inquest was held over the remains by Coroner Hallock, but as they were entirely naked and considerably decayed, they could not be identified. Appearances placed the fact that he had been foully murdered, beyond doubt, and we understand the jury of inquest returned a verdict accordingly.—Ibid.

The Execution of the Cardenas Prisoners.—The Boston Traveller of the 21st inst., learns from Capt. Wesnell of the ship Sophia Walker, from Matanzas, the following particulars of the execution of the five prisoners taken at Cardenas. Capt. Wesnell witnessed the execution, and gives the following facts: These five men had no definite idea of the expedition upon which they were bound until they arrived at Cardenas. Then, as they say, they consulted together, and fearing to remain on board of the steamer, went on shore, and visited the American consul imploring his protection as Americans. The consul asked them who they were, and when they replied that they came in the Creole, said that he could do nothing for them. They then went to a hotel and took dinner, were afterwards met in the street by an American gentleman, who advised them to get on board an American vessel with all haste, or they would soon be captured by the Spaniards. They were on their way to the sea shore for that purpose, when they were captured and put to prison. In a few days, guarded by a company of Spanish troops, they were taken to Matanzas, where they arrived at 4 o. m. one day, were placed in the castle prison, and at 7 o'clock the next morning, were marched out and shot near the walls, receiving the balls of a whole company, which riddled their bodies in every direction. The boy of seventeen, who has been heretofore described as among them, was a native of Cincinnati. He wrote a letter, which was given in safe keeping to the collector, who is an honorable man, and will see to it that it is safely delivered to the friends of the unfortunate youth. It does not appear whether these men were tried by court martial, or were shot by orders of the Captain General.

City Intelligence.

Mayor and Recorder's Court.—The Jury term of this Court commenced yesterday in the First Municipality. Present, Mayor Crossman, Recorder Genois and Aldermen [illegible]. Four Jurors out of thirty six summoned answered to their names. The Jury was discharged until the first Monday in August and the case of [illegible] was postponed to that day, after an ineffectual effort to change the venue to the Second Municipality on the ground that a prejudice existed in the minds of the Judges against the Accused.

Police Items.—We are now in the midst of summer, and police items of course are becoming scant and of little interest. Most of the previous rascals who float about town in winter have wended their way northward in pursuit of their customary avocations, to return again during the busy season and ply their trade with renewed vigor.

Stealing a Gun.—A man named [illegible] was charged yesterday with having entered the premises of H. Hyser during his absence, and stolen a gun and a uniform. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused.

Stealing Paper.—John Reiley was lodged in prison yesterday on the charge of having stolen thirteen reams of wrapping paper from the store of Mr. Llado in Conde street. The accused has not yet been examined.

Assault and Battery.—Manuel Garcia, a colored man, was charged yesterday before Recorder Genois with having assaulted T. Dominique. A warrant was issued.

Marguerite was accused of having struck Aristide Bajotte without any provocation.

First District Court.—Judge Lucas.—The Court was occupied yesterday, with civil cases. The criminal docket will be taken up to-morrow.

Stealing Watches.—T. Dickinson was brought before Recorder Caldwell yesterday, on the charge of having stolen two watches from G. L. Waterman and M. Pattison. The examination was deferred until Friday.

Municipal Sale.—The Mayor disposed at public auction yesterday, of the contract for plastering the Municipal Hall of the First Municipality, and other repairs, to P. Shields, for the sum of $3,950.

Committed.—R. Giles, was committed yesterday by Recorder Caldwell, for trial, before the First District Court, on the charge of having stolen three watches from the premises of Mary McKay, on New Levee street, on the 14th ult.

Stealing Clothing.—James Dougherty was brought up yesterday before Recorder Caldwell on the charge of having stolen a quantity of clothing from the room of W. C. Quirk, in Camp street. The evidence went to establish the accusation, and he was committed for trial before the First District Court.

Larceny.—Charles Dowell and Andrew Melville, were arrested yesterday in the Second Municipality, on the charge of having broken open the armoir of Mrs. McLaughlin, and stolen $1.35, together with a pistol and a chain. The examination was postponed.

Stealing a Pencil.—Ann Phillips, a colored woman, was arrested yesterday in the First Municipality, on the charge of having stolen a gold pencil case from Mrs. Blanc. The accused is in prison awaiting an examination.

Coroner's Inquest.—The Coroner held an inquest yesterday on the body of a man named Billy Fisherman, who was found dead in a skiff opposite the Third Municipality. Verdict, "died from exposure."

The Markets.

Monday Evening, July 1, 1850.

The accounts by the Niagara advising a decline in the Liverpool Cotton market of ⅛a¼d., induced buyers to claim a reduction to-day. Holders, however, refused to accede, and the sales which amounted to 1,500 bales were at former prices.

In Sugar and Molasses, some small transactions were effected at full rates.

The Flour market is very dull. St. Louis was sold to-day at $5 40@$5 50, and Ohio can be bought at $5@$5 25. Corn is rather flat, with sales of 2,500 sacks, at 75@80c ₩ bushel.
