NOTICE.—To those who are desirous to preserve their health. The admirable remedy for all the diseases [illegible] the stomach, by J. B. Montagne, has produced, under critical circumstances, during the late malady, [illegible] satisfactory results; and all persons who have made use of it during that period, are now in excellent health.—[illegible] proved a speedy remedy against those cramps in the stomach, difficult respirations, and weakness of the stomach, for which the apothecaries have prescribed various remedies, which are hardly ever effectual. It may be taken morning as bitters, directly before breakfast; it will facilitate digestion, and is agreeable to the taste.
The proofs which have already been given of its efficacy, not only in this city, but among the slaves on the plantation of Charles Derbigny, as well as the workmen employed on the canal of Mr. Camille Zeringue, are sufficient to establish its merits.
It would be very easy for the planters to make this composition, without recourse to any druggist or apothecary. Those who desire it may learn from the author the ingredients of the receipt, either by subscription or for a reasonable compensation; and they may rest assured that the secret will remain inviolable. They, of course, are expected to preserve it. J. B. MONTAGNE.
N. B. A subscription list is deposited at Hewlett's Exchange, where the remedy can be tested. dec 17

NOTICE.

A LACOUTURE, Confectioner, and distiller, has the honor of informing his friends and the public that he has opened a superb establishment at No. 91, Levee street, between Bienville and Custom-house streets. The care with which he has taken in the selection of the articles to form his establishment, the advantages of its situation, the acquisition of several additional slaves, the correspondence which he established during his recent voyage to France and Havana, will combine to insure a regular and [illegible] supply from a broad of whatever articles are not manufactured at home. He will furnish country merchants, masters of vessels with complete supplies, and will [illegible] every possible care to fill every order that may be sent to him. He will always keep a general assortment of the following articles: cordials of all kinds in cases and in demijohns, wines of every quality, an assortment of syrups, sugar plumbs, fine and common, Havana confectionary, fruits preserved in brandy, pastry all kinds, bonbons, fine and chrystalized; candies, lemon, [illegible] &c. &c. NEW ORLEANS OMNIBUSES.

TWO New Carriages, one called The Cotton Plant, and the other The Tobacco Plant, have taken the place of the former Omnibusses. These Carriages were built last summer, by the Messrs. Carters of Newark, who have the greatest experience in the construction of Omnibusses, (most of those running in New-York having been made by them) and for ease, safety and elegance, are superior to any before in use, uniting all the improvements the makers experience have collected.
They will ply daily at the following stated hours, between the Levee Steam Cotton Press, and Canal street, head of Chartres street, (passing the Rail Road and Exchange Coffee House) with four horses, under the management of careful Drivers—the fare is put at the low price of twelve and a half cents, which affords every one an opportunity of benefiting by them.—Every reliance may be placed on the continuance of the Line and the punctuality of starting; it will give a communication between the Lower Faubourg and Canal street, every half hour in the day, and it is confidently hoped that so great a public convenience will meet with merited support.

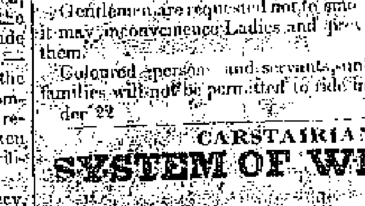
CARSTAIRIAN
SYSTEM OF WRITING.



MR. DOLBEAR, Professor of Penmanship, has returned to New Orleans, & will re-open his writing establishment in this city on this day 29th inst. at No. 48 Canal street, in the rooms over Miss Carroll's Book Store, where Ladies and Gentlemen are respectfully invited to call and examine specimens of the rapid improvement of persons from eight to upwards of fifty years of age.
New classes will commence every week during the winter and spring. A separate apartment for Ladies.
Persons visiting the city for a few days only, can receive a full course of lessons. Ladies are instructed in a neat, rapid and fashionable style of writing, by a method which obviates entirely the fatigue of writing; and Gentlemen in a style bold and rapid. Hours of attendance for Ladies, one class from 10 to 11 1-2 A.M., another from 1 to 2 1-2 P.M. The remainder of the day and evening until 10 P.M. will be devoted to the instruction of Gentlemen.
Mr. D. expects his brother, from their establishment at the North this week, when they will be prepared to give private lessons and execute all kinds of ornamental writing in a superior style &c.

CERTIFICATES.
From his Excellency Governor Roman.
I have examined with attention the system of writing taught by Mr. Dolbear, and it is with pleasure that I can certify to its superiority over any other method [illegible] with which I am acquainted. [illegible] A. B. ROMAN.

BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL, FOR YOUNG LADIES, CONDUCTED BY
MDE & MLLE GARNET;
Mr. Laufranc's house, Royal st. corner of St. Philip st.
TERMS.

THE course of studies lasts ten months from the first of November till the first of September every year.
The establishment, this year, opens on the 24th of December.
A general examination, followed by a public distribution of prizes, closes the course of studies and the establishment is shut up from the first of September to the first of November, a period during which the prevailing diseases induce most of the parents to retire to the country.
The course of studies comprises the complete and simultaneous teaching of the French and English languages and literature, writing, arithmetic, geography, chronology, history, astronomy, and the different sorts of needlework, lace making, tapestry, and fancy works.

Boarders for the course of studies of ten months,	$300
Day Boarders, do.	200
Day Scholars, do.	100
Washing and mending of the linen	29

USEFUL ARTS.

Harp, per quarter,	30
Piano, do.	30
Italian singing, do.	30
Drawing,	20
Dancing,	[illegible]

Bedstead, bedding, complete are found by the establishment, for which the pupils have to pay once for all 5
Each pupil is to bring twelve towels, a silver spoon, fork and goblet, a dessert knife and a sufficient suit of clothes and linen.
School books and writing books are also found by the establishment, and paid for separately.
Payments to be made every three months and in advance. No deduction for the holidays or absence.
Madame Granet will make it a rule to avoid extra bills as much as possible, and will charge nothing but what she has actually laid out.
In opening such an establishment, Madame Granet is well aware that she can, as yet, have no claim to the confidence of the inhabitants of New Orleans; being totally a stranger in the city, she must entirely depend upon the kind recommendation of those persons of whom she is known, and among whom she is proud to mention the names of
His Excellency, A. B. Roman, Governor of Louisiana.
Mr. and Mrs. Mazureau,
Mr. and Mrs. Holland,
Mr. and Mrs. West,
Mr. and Mrs. Pilie,
Mr. and Mrs. Boyer,
Messrs. J. F. Canonge, Edmond Forstall, Wm. Nott, Theodore Nicolet, J. Garnier, Quertier & Boutin.
Madame Granet has been a long time at the head of a similar institution in Paris, and having since passed seven years in London, she has acquired a complete knowledge of the systems of education in both countries.
Madame Granet is assisted by her two daughters, the eldest of whom, a pupil of the best masters in France and England, teaches the Piano, singing and drawing.
French and English literature will be taught by competent professors who have successfully practiced in London and in Paris.
A physician will be attached to the establishment.
Religion, the foundation of every good education, will be carefully attended to. One day in the week will be consecrated to religious instruction by a proper person, and the pupils will be taken to church every Sunday, when the weather permits it.
Madame Granet engages to devote herself entirely to the care and superintendance of her establishment; to consider her pupils as her own children, to give them food both substantial and wholesome, a solid and moral education. In a word, she will never lose sight of her laborious but most honorable undertaking, and will endeavor to deserve in every way the confidence and esteem of parents.
