OFFICIAL.

[illegible]

It is to consist of four rows of cypress or pine piles 12 inches square, driven from 18 to 15 feet into the bottom of the Lake, which is composed of mud and [illegible]

This planking or platform rises on the inside of the breakwater to about 4 feet above the low water level of the lake, and descends towards the outside to about 4 feet below the mean level, thus presenting an inclined surface on which the waves will break.

The two middle rows will be connected together longitudinally by string pieces, 12 in. x 12 in. effectively bolted to them, and supporting the inclined upper piece just spoken of, which will itself be braced to the two outer rows (3d and 4th) by a horizontal cross piece, 12 in. x 12 in., bolted on to them immediately below the low water level. The space between the outer rows will be executed as follows: After driving down the outside pile a certain distance, the inclined cross piece is attached to it by a screw bolt and is then driven down to its proper depth, the head being cut off level with the cross piece; the other piles are then driven down and the caps and longitudinal pieces bolted on to them also. The fastenings to the middle pile can be easily effected, as their depth below the low water level will only be from 12 to 24 inches. The four-inch planks under water will be spiked and treenailed to the inclined cross piece by means of a tube and follower, the holes and mortices being prepared before placing them in position.

Quantity of materials for the construction of the breakwater:

500 cypress or pine piles, 12 in. x 12 in., from 25 to 33 feet long.
7,600 running feet of cross and longitudinal pieces, 12 in. x 12 in.
22,000 running feet of planking, 4 in. x 12 in.
1,125 screw bolts, (galvanized iron,) from 1 in. to 1¼ in. diameter and about 28 in. long.
2,500 spikes.
3,500 treenails of locust.

It is supposed that the work can be carried on at the rate of 200 days in the year without interruption from the weather, after making a fair allowance for other casualties and Sundays. It will be required to be completed in six months from the date of the contract.

Proposals will be received at the Engineer Department, Washington, until the thirtieth day of March, 1853, for the execution of the work, under one or the other of the following propositions:

1st. To furnish and deliver at the site of the breakwater or about the Pontchartrain railroad depot (as the superintending engineer shall direct) all the piles the cross and longitudinal pieces, and the planking needed for the construction.

2d. To construct said breakwater at so much per running foot of its length, the contractors furnishing everything else but the piles, the cross and longitudinal pieces, and the planking.

3d. To furnish all the materials, &c. required, and to construct the whole breakwater at so much per running foot of its length; in other words to embrace the other two propositions in one.

The right of rejecting all the offers which may be made is reserved.

The Engineer Department is to exercise the necessary supervision, through its agents, to secure the due progress of the work and its faithful performance and to reserve to itself the right of annulling the contract at any time, should the holders of it fail to fulfil its conditions.

No advances of money will be made by the Engineer's Department under any circumstances whatever.

Payments proportionate to the amount of work done will be made monthly on the certificate of the local agent that due diligence has been used to prosecute the work; that no interruption to its daily progress has occurred save that incident to Sundays, bad weather, epidemical diseases, or unavoidable derangement of machinery, but due to radical defects in construction or quality of material. The quantity paid for must have been taken from a section completely finished as required.

Twenty per cent. will be reserved from all payments due. The accruing sums to be finally paid to the contractors on the completion of the work, or to be forfeited to the United States in case of failure of the same.

All proposals must be accompanied by testimonials of high character as to the competency of the proposer to execute the work offered for; the reliability of the sureties must also be manifested. The envelopes should be endorsed "Proposals for the construction of a breakwater in Lake Pontchartrain."

G. HOYER'S INSTITUTION,
No. 148 Conti Street, between Dauphine and Burgundy.

MR. G. BOYER, founder of this establishment, the object in New Orleans, avails himself of this opportunity to make a new appeal to the confidence of parents. This institution is conducted in a large mansion, occupying a fine central position, being well ventilated, and in other respects perfectly salubrious. The range of studies which engage the attention of the pupils, extends over all the branches of learning, which are necessary to a useful, polite and finished education; from primary instruction, to the more abstruse subjects which are especially the province of a collegiate course. The elementary studies are attended to with more than ordinary care, considering the decisive influence which they exercise over the other branches of instruction. Discipline, which must not be separated from academic study, nor from a good education, is conducted with sedulity. It is calculated according to the age and character of the students, and intended to give them an accurate idea of duty and good behavior.

DAY AND BOARDING SCHOOL,

Under the Direction of
MADAME CHARFAUX,
At the corner of Bayou and Claiborne streets.

THIS SEMINARY, whose existence dates some six years back, has met with a success that proves how well all can judge the capacity of those who have charge of it.

Determined to merit the confidence of parents, Madame Charpaux will spare no pains to raise her Seminary to equal the best institutions of that kind in New Orleans, and in addition to those she has employed the ablest teachers.

Great attention will be paid to the improvement of Scholars in the English language. For that purpose, American ladies of acknowledged capacity, as teachers, will constantly reside at the Seminary.

The English, French and Spanish languages, geography, arithmetic, and in short, all the branches of a polite education, will be taught in this Seminary.

A regard should be paid to the foundation of all sound education. It will be carefully attended to by Madam Charpaux, who will conduct to church and preliminary catechisms, all her young ladies who may have their first communion to make.

Music having become a most desirable branch of the education of young ladies, Mad. Charpaux, for that purpose, has secured the services of an artist of the Orleans Theatre, who will devote all his time to teaching music. All the Scholars, whether they register lessons with practice exercise, by means of the tunes of the Piano, the study of the notes will precede the instrumental studies, when Mr. Charpaux will put the pupils through the exercise of the regular keys and notes, and this will be attended with no extra charge.

In order to excite emulation among the Pupils, and improve their singing, on the morning of the last Saturday in every month, there will be a musical exhibition, to which the parents are invited.

Madame Charpaux, in order to complete the education of her Scholars, has engaged a lady who will be taught all the several sewing and fancy branches of needle work.

During the summer, the classes will open at 8 o'clock, and close at 3. Re-opens at 4 and close at 6 o'clock, P. M. In winter, they will open at 8½, and close at 3. Re-open at 4, and close at 5½ o'clock, P. M.

ST. LOUIS INSTITUTION.
DIRECTED BY
Madame E. Deron,
No. 145 St. Louis street, between Dauphine and Burgundy streets, New Orleans.
SCHOLASTIC YEAR 1851-1852.

THIS Institution which for the last twelve years, has followed a constant career of progress and prosperity, has renewed its usual course of studies since the first September.

Madame Deron, formerly a pupil and professor of the "Maison Royale of St. Denis," and a graduate of the University of France, has endeavored to profit by the experience which she has acquired in the United States, to place her Institution in the first rank of educational establishments in America.

Madame Deron, exclusively devoted to her pupils, applies herself not only to the cultivation of the mind, but also to the formation of the heart. Her care may be remarked [illegible]

[illegible]

MUSIC.

The study of Music is the object of particular care. Madame Lavillebeuvre, an artist of the higher order is attached to the institution as Professor of the Piano and Harp. A course of Vocal Music by one of the best Professors of the city.

As a means of emulation, the institution has adopted monthly musical examinations at which parents are invited to be present.

A Professor of Dancing is attached to the establishment.

YOUNG LADIES' ACADEMY.

MADAME PARENT has removed her institution to Customhouse st., between Royal and Bourbon, No. 88, the house heretofore occupied by M'me. Granet, and is ready to receive boarders, half boarders, and day scholars. There is a very large yard, together with a garden for the young ladies to amuse themselves. The apartments are vast and well aired. There is every advantage and inducement offered to parents, as to the moral and intellectual cultivation of the minds of their daughters. The best Professors are employed. Every branch of a solid and refined education is taught, in both languages; also, accomplishments such as drawing, Painting, Embroidery, &c.

MADAME PARENT would inform the public that she has made permanent engagements with Professors Le Besque and Aucmouty, late (principals of the Franklin High School.) It would be superfluous to add anything respecting the very distinguished talents of these gentlemen, who are already so long known to the community at large. The former has charge of the French language and French literature; the latter, the supervision of the higher English classes and natural sciences.

The Musical department is under the direction of three of the most competent and acknowledged talents in the city.

Professor Allston has the special charge of the Mathematical branches.

Mr. Gentbrel has been engaged as a Teacher of Vocal Music.

For terms apply at the institution. Parents are permitted to visit this institution on Sundays.

Once a week, (Saturday,) between 12 and 1 o'clock, the young ladies assemble in the parlor, in order to acquire those polite and graceful manners so necessary to young persons when they enter society.
