PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

AT the sollicitation of several families, Mr Pedarré intends to establish an Academy; with the help of skilful masters he is confident that his pupils will advance rapidly. The professor's method is too well known to require publication. It is sufficient for us that the enlightened public of this city understand that Mr Pedarré's pupils always proceed from the known to the unknown. The persons who desire to see this last proposition fully explained, are requested to give a call after the first October 1834 to the Mr Pedarré's residence in Toulouse street, No 99, between Royal and Bourbon streets.

The branches of tuition, are the French, English, Latin and Greek languages, Mathematicks, Geography and History. The school will end at five o'clock p m, in the winter and six in the summer. oct 1
