CITY INTELLIGENCE.

Turned up again.—Pierre L. Isel, the notorious guest cashier has turned up again after laying quiet for some time. It appears that he was impossible for him to keep quiet and he left the Depot Saturday for the purpose of giving the old joke a final kick. Saturday night he was arrested by Officer Kerrigan and Mr Baker on St. Charles street. Vic Kerrigan and M Walker were also arrested by the police charged with being accomplices in the highway robbery committed on Mr Baker.

The Steamboat Burned.—Capt M. Cohn and Officer Freeman arrested a man named Wm Brown, who they had reason to think had in some way been connected with the burning of the steamboat Hindoo, and had in the case of the late lamented Capt Leathe, been instrumental in bringing to justice the incendiary who fired the steamboat Mexico.

Joe Emerson himself.—Yesterday, taken from the hands of the Provost Marshal, Joe Emerson, who was a slave belonging to Mr Charles Hunt, a resident of Lake Providence, Louisiana, was recaptured in the Lake Providence district and brought down to New Orleans. Joe Emerson is a very intelligent negro, and has been a very valuable slave to his master, who has been a sufferer by his loss. Joe Emerson himself, we understand, was a slave of the Confederate Government, and was employed in the Engineer Department, and was with the Confederate Army at the battle of Shiloh. He was taken prisoner at Island No. 10, and was sent to Fort Pickens, from which place he escaped, and was recaptured in Louisiana. He was taken to Fort Jackson, and from there
