Extract from the Journal of the House, of the 3d Feb 1835.

Resolved by the House of Representatives of the state of Louisiana, that the administration of the government of the state, by the late governor, A. B. Roman, has been marked by wisdom, firmness, and a judicious and unwearied zeal for the public service; that in the execution of the laws, he has exhibited fidelity, and in the numerous and important appointments it has fallen to his lot to make, he has maintained impartiality, and a single regard to the true interests of the state; and that he retires with the full and entire approbation of this House for his official conduct, and with their personal esteem and regard.

Resolved, That the Speaker of this House transmit to the late Governor Roman a copy of these resolutions.

The Bank Bill.

Before the termination of the present week, we shall learn the final decision of the Governor in regard to this important measure. The constitutional period assigned in such cases has nearly expired, and he can no longer withhold from the people his ultimate determination. In respect to the opinion of Governor White, surmise is utterly at a loss. The Whigs hope much from the known identity of his political opinions with those of that party, and more from the incessant wailing and lamentation, the prayers and petitions, the denunciations and deprecations they have perseveringly kept up ever since the concurrence of the two Legislative branches in the report of the committee of conference. They believe that the Governor will not be insensible to these clamors of their party, who although constituting a minority, amply compensate by their zeal and brawling for their numerical deficiency. The menaces too of the bank clique, the swaggering boasts of those puissant institutions that in the event of the bill becoming a law, they will refuse obedience to its provisions and throw themselves upon the justice and affection of the people—all this, it is supposed will not fail to affect our chief magistrate unfavorably towards the bill, and induce him, if he can possibly encompass his resolution with a show of reason, to exercise the privilege of his veto.

The Democrats, on the contrary, think that though Gov. White be a Whig, he is at least entitled to the merit of being an honest and consistent public functionary. They cannot forget the language employed by him in his late message to the Legislature; wherein all Whig as he is, he was compelled by the irresistible testimony of his reason to acknowledge that great abuses existed in the banking system, and that the application of Legislative authority was indispensably necessary ... may not in every respect be acceptable to the Governor—that his views on some points may differ from those which have given origin to certain sections, we are not disposed to deny—but we do maintain that as a whole the object of the bank being to remedy existing evils in the banking system of Louisiana, accords altogether with the general tenor of his observations on the subject in the message of Governor White. We cannot for one moment believe, that he will, in deference to the vociferous declamation of the partisans of the banking system, virtually repudiate and disclaim the cardinal principles expressed by him on the occasion alluded to. Even if his sentiments were entirely in favor of the present system—it to be erroneous and weak enough to credit to the most strict extent the partial exposition of the advocate for the suspension of specie payments, how moral hardihood must be greater than we have hitherto imagined, to enable him to exert his prerogative on the present question.

But supposing, for the sake of argument, that Governor White persists in nullifying the bank bill, and that a majority of two-thirds of the members in both houses cannot be obtained, what will be the consequence? Why that the good people of Louisiana will still continue subjected to the caprices of the banks. These institutions, being no longer in dread of legislative interposition, and sustained by the unpromising support of the Chief Magistrate, will lord it over the State with power and influence still more extensive than those which they now exert. As for the redemption of their issues, 'twill be a mere abstraction, a chimera, an auspicious moment that will be indefinitely postponed, and the bank-ridden community will once more be under the sovereign control of institutions in reality bankrupt, but possessing in default of active legislation, as much authority as if they continued in compliance with all the provisions of their charters. The whole tribe of stock jobbers, gamblers and leeches that gorge and fatten on the pecuniary distresses of the public, will flourish in unrestricted prosperity, and we will be compelled patiently to await the possible unanimity of another legislature before we can hope for relief from the accumulation of evils that now infest the community. This is a consummation most devoutly to be avoided, and we therefore earnestly hope, that our Chief Magistrate whom, whatever diversity of political sentiment may exist between us, we respect and esteem as an uncorruptible and honest functionary, will pause before perpetrating an act that will be fruitful in the worst possible consequences.

Candidate for Congress.

Governor White, we perceive, has in compliance with the request of a large number of the opposition, consented to serve as representative in Congress, in the event of his election. The whigs have exhibited much discrimination in their choice—they could scarcely have selected an individual better calculated on account of personal popularity, for a successful canvass, and more capable, by his zeal and talents of subserving the purposes of the party to which he is attached. The democrats will find in Edward D. White no contemptible opponent—thoroughly known and very generally esteemed, he will probably command the unanimous suffrages of the opposition. The democrats of Louisiana must pull together, if they hope to beat him; personal predilections in favor of any particular candidate must be discarded, and our party must resolve to sustain with undivided energies, the individual who has been put forward as their candidate. That individual is JOHN SLIDELL, and despite the sneers of some of our contemporaries, who counsel all other aspirants to "hang up their fiddles," if he receive the cordial and simultaneous support of every Louisianian calling himself a democrat, we may yet look with confidence to the adequate representation of our party in the halls of the national Congress. If we falter and hang aloof during the contest, or fritter our strength on several claimants we shall of course be defeated. Like the bundle of rods in the fable, the democracy of this state cannot be broken while it is bound together by the ties of common principles. We are feeble when separated, but when united, indestructible.

We perceive with surprise the name of Mr. R M. CARTER appended to the address presented by the whigs to Governor White, soliciting him to become a candidate for Congress. We are convinced that the name of Mr. Carter has been affixed to the document without his sanction. We know him to be too sterling a democrat—we have heard him too often advocate and expound the principles of democracy at public meetings, to believe him guilty of such apostacy to ... and we await impatiently his public disclaimer of this virtual amalgamation with the whig party.

FALLING OF A PART OF THE RIGHT BANK OF THE MISSISSIPPI.

A circumstance of considerable importance occasioned some alarm, yesterday, among our citizens. About twelve o'clock, a report spread in town that a large portion of Mossy Point, on the right bank of the river, in front of St. Louis street, had been carried away by the current, and that several houses had been crushed in its fall. This rumor was well calculated to excite consternation, and a crowd of persons immediately embarked on board the ferry boats to visit the scene of disaster. We mingled with the hundreds who thronged to the spot, and can therefore give a correct account of this singular event.

From information received by us it appeared that about half an arpent of earth had already fallen ... it were located a small cabin, a stable and a number of ... work-shops situated on the edge of the Levee. The earth still continued falling and it was feared would extend much further. The loss experienced by the owners is considerable, and what is more unfortunate, a large number of industrious and humble individuals have been deprived in an instant of the means of gaining their daily bread. The residents in the neighborhood, apprehensive of a similar calamity, quitted their houses immediately, and removed their furniture and moveables to places of greater safety.

We were unable to learn whether any one had perished by this unforeseen accident. It is presumed however that the loss of property has been unattended with the destruction of life. Happily the fall took place at an hour (12 o'clock,) when the laborers had quitted their occupation to go to dinner, and it is therefore probable that no one was on the spot at the moment of its occurrence.

An event of this nature should certainly arouse the attention of our legislature, and induce it to adopt without delay whatever measures may be needed to give solidity and firmness to the point in question—the whole of this part of the levee will ultimately disappear and perhaps the lives and existence of numbers may be implicated, if a proper system of operations be not applied. It is not likely that under present circumstances the Legislature will attach much importance to the disaster which has happened, yet we think that necessity demands the appointment of a Committee of Enquiry, to investigate the cause of the evil, and attempt to prevent its recurrence. The suggestion we offer with a view to the interests of all, and we trust it will merit the attention of this body.

The Commercial Library.

A tardy act of justice has at length been rendered to this valuable institution, and legislative munificence, so long delayed, has been finally extended to it. We are sincerely pleased that the annual appropriation of $1000 for five years has been awarded to this useful establishment. The directors will now have an opportunity of measurably enlarging the resources of the library and of obtaining many standard and necessary works which their limited means did not previously permit them to do. To Mr. Hoa this institution is indebted for the speedy passage of the bill—indeed this able senator has been conspicuous during the present session in advocating every measure by which the standing of Louisiana was to be elevated either in a literary or a commercial point of view. Many of his efforts, we regret to add, have been unattended with success, yet he is not the less entitled to the encomiums of every friend to the interests of the state.

COURT OF IMPEACHMENT.

The Senate determined yesterday to hold its sittings as the High Court of Impeachment of the State, in the Arcade Ball Room. The affair will commence on Tuesday next.

☞ The communication signed RUSTICUS, in our paper of to-day, offers powerful reasons why the Governor should not veto the Bank Bill—reasons deduced from an investigation of the last message of that functionary. We received this communication after the Editorial on the same subject had been set up—otherwise it would have precluded the necessity of any original remarks.

SENATE OF LOUISIANA.
MR JOHNSON, President.
Sitting of 28th Feb, 1838.

Mr Penn, in the name of the Judicial Committee, to whom had been referred the Petition of the Notaries of New Orleans, introduced a bill to that effect.

Mr Winn observed that he was a member of this committee and did not approve the section of the actual bill. He desired from the Senator of St Tammany that he should report that the bill was the work of the majority of the committee.

Mr Penn established this fact as called for by the Senator from Rapides.

Mr Hoa submitted to the Senate a communication of Mr James H Caldwell, in which he proposed the Arcade Ball Room to the committee appointed to choose a spot for the sittings of the Court of Impeachment.

After some unimportant discussion the Senate adopted a resolution proposed by Mr Winn to consult with Mr Caldwell on the conditions in said resolution.

The Senate afterwards received a second communication from Mr Caldwell informing them that he accepted the above mentioned conditions.

The Senate then decided that the place offered by Mr Caldwell should be accepted.

Several bills from the House of Representatives were read three times and passed, among others,

1st. The bill relating to roads in front of the property of residents in the Parishes of Plaquemines and St Bernard.

2d. The bill to abolish the 15th section of the bill creating Carroll Parish.

3d. The bill incorporating the Mandeville and Burlington Railroad Company and for other objects.

4th. The bill to incorporate the Pine Grove College in Caldwell Parish and for other objects.

On motion of Mr Olivier the Senate proceeded to the 3d reading of the bill to divorce ... Elizabeth Mills, wife of Mr Youngblood.

The object of this bill was to dissolve the marriage existing between Mrs ... Youngblood. It was composed of two parts; 1st, ... establishing certain charges against Mr B ... of his wife, and 2d a clause declaring the divorce ...

Mr Deragus said he was obliged to vote against this bill. Read the preamble, said the honorable member ... the third section, and pass the law, and you ... honor the husband—you constitute yourselves ... of justice, and you admit the existence of certain facts which have only come to your knowledge by ... documents—the authenticity of which is ... Has the Legislature such a right? Can it ... on ex parte judgments. He flattered himself the Senate would not adopt such a mode of proceeding.

Mr Olivier observed that the facts ... acknowledged and which had come to the knowledge ... sufficient to induce ... of Mrs ... Nevertheless ... light on the subject ... time for further ... the necessary ...

Messrs Penn, Lebeau and Winn were likewise opposed to the passage of the bill for similar reasons to those alleged by the Senator from ...

The question, by yeas and nays being taken on the final passage of the bill,

Messrs Armant, Bessie, Hoa, Olivier and Scott voted in the affirmative.

Messrs Bossier, Dubigny, Ducros, Garcia, Lebeau, Penn and Winn, in the negative.

The bill was consequently lost.

The Senate proceeded to the second reading of the bill relating to ... of Madame ... White ... the setting of sugar kettles.

This bill was adopted with an amendment proposed by Mr Winn, that the sum ... should not exceed $5000.

The special order of the day was the discussion of the bill relating to the geological survey of the state.

The first section proposed to place $5000 at the disposal of the Governor for this enterprise and to authorize him to appoint a person capable of performing the work.

Mr Penn proposed to amend the section, by saying "one or several persons"—adopted.

Mr Winn said it was utterly opposed to the bill because he thought that in the present embarrassed state of the Public Finances, there was no necessity for the adoption of such a measure. The Senator was aware that the greater part of the public lands in Louisiana belonged to the General Government—he would therefore prefer waiting for the decision of Congress on that subject, and if those lands were transferred, as was hoped, to the state, it would then be time to make the survey now in question. What ... might be the fate of the bill, he ... proposed to amend the section by mentioning that the ... of the officer to make the survey should be submitted for the approval of the Senate ... establish ... This amendment was likewise adopted.

The question being for the adoption of the 1st section, and the ayes and nays being demanded,

Messrs Bossier, Dubigny, Ducros, Hoa and Penn, voted in the affirmative, and Messrs Armant, Bossier, Garcia, Lebeau, Scott and Winn in the negative.

The President voted in the minority, but the question was nevertheless lost.

Mr Penn said that as the most important section of the bill was lost, the subject should be laid indefinitely on the table—adopted.

On motion of Mr Winn according certain privileges to ... was made the order of the day for Friday next.

The Senate adjourned till to-morrow at 10 A. M.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.
Wednesday, February 28, 1838.

Mr Lawson offered a resolution that the committee on banks be instructed to report immediately.

Mr Sparks asked leave of absence for O. P. Jackson one of the city Judges for two months, commencing on the 1st July next.

Mr Brashear, from the committee on the Charity Hospital, made a report and presented a bill.

Mr Canon from the committee on the petition of sundry inhabitants of New Orleans, introduced a bill to incorporate Independence Fire Company No 11.

Mr Rogers gave notice that he will introduce a bill to incorporate the Firemen's Insurance Company of New Orleans.

Mr Sparks moved the reconsideration of the bill, indefinitely postponed yesterday, for the better organization of the militia, and that the same be made the special order of the day for Friday next. Mr Sparks said that he was assured that unless a bill of this nature be passed, the session of ... some would decline, and perhaps be utterly disorganized. To prevent such a deplorable catastrophe, Mr S. moved that the bill be made the special order of the day for Friday next; and the motion was adopted.

Mr Brashear offered a resolution requiring the attorney general to lay before the General Assembly at the next session a list of forfeited recognizances in the criminal courts of the state with the names and amount, in order that the same may be appropriated to the use of the Charity Hospital.

Mr Benig moved that the house take into consideration the bill to prolong the charter of the Roman Catholic congregation of St Joseph in the parish of Lafourche Interior, and it was read section by section and passed.

The house took into consideration the report of the committee of the whole on the bill remunerating Jacob Kelly and D H Twogood for slaves executed in pursuance of law. The said report was adopted.

On motion of Mr Slidell a new section was added to the bill and thus amended the bill passed. The title on motion of Mr Lewis was changed to "An act to repeal the third section of the act approved 22d February 1814, entitled an act to repeal all laws or provisions of laws prescribing the manner of remunerating the owners of slaves sentenced to death or killed while runaway, and for the ... of ... persons therein named."

The house took up the bill to amend the act organizing the City Court, and passed the same.

The house then took ... and passed the bill to incorporate the Magee Female Seminary.

The house passed the bill authorising the governor to subscribe for 1000 copies of E John's edition of the Civil Code.

The house adjourned till to-morrow.

"COMMUNICATED."

An important question now agitates the public mind. Will the Governor sanction the Bank bill, or will he oppose to it the prerogatives of his veto? Conjecture is busy in the solution of this question, and the mass of the people are still in suspense. All those who have employed the Banks as an immense lever in elevating them to fortune through intrigue and monopoly, are using every effort to destroy a law, which will at once dry up the polluted sources of their audacious ambition, and clandestine management; while those citizens who are strangers to the secret favors which certain banks have lavished upon a limited number of favorites await with calmness the gubernatorial decision. An entire people opposed to a handful of individuals, and can the Governor hesitate?

What then is this bill which has received the unanimous approval of the Senate, and the sanction of a great majority of the House of Representatives. Is it really the MONSTER which interested persons attempt to paint it? What are its provisions? What does it enact? It forgets the PARTS, but it makes publicity which will let the future throw light upon the obscurity which envelopes the deliberation of the bank directors—it calls for a just and equal apportionment of discount—an entire exposure making known abuses, by the simple exposition of the acts of every Board of Directors ... representative power, on the part of the State—a distribution of bank capital to each and every citizen presenting satisfactory guarantees to those very directors—a proportion of specie sufficiently large to secure to the citizens the payment of the bank notes now in circulation—such are the measures to assure—what? The redemption in specie of the bank notes now in circulation. And can the Governor HESITATE? It is impossible, particularly when his MESSAGE to the two Houses of the Legislature at the commencement of the present session can be consulted by every one.

Let us examine some of the opinions contained in that document, and let every citizen compare them honestly, calmly and dispassionately with the bill, and he will be convinced that THE GOVERNOR cannot place his VETO on the Bank Bill without renouncing the principles he has HIMSELF maintained.

The governor, after having established a contrast between the former prosperity of the country, and the state of unprecedented embarrassment and distress into which it has been plunged, all the pursuits of industry having been paralyzed, and worse than all the rest, society being exposed to the curse of a circulation utterly unregulated and unsound, declares to the legislature that the eyes of the inhabitants of the state are turned with anxiety to their deliberations. After deploring the inactivity of the extra-session of Congress, the governor makes an appeal to the authorities of the state; he demonstrates how individual transactions depend more or less on bank issues and circulation, and PROVES that the suspension of specie payments by them ... the banks, constitutes the CAUSE why the notes of individuals and corporations, issued without the sanction or authority of law, have become almost the only medium through which the ordinary daily local exchanges are effected. The governor calls upon ... with in the name of their duties and the country, to a just remedy capable of curing so great an evil—he speaks of a CONTROL inherent in the supreme power of a state over institutions deriving their existence directly from the exercise of its creative will, and declares that "the charters of most of the banks contain the expressed condition of forfeiture for their failure during a fixed period, to redeem their notes in gold and silver, and perhaps, the same principle, may upon examination be found to apply to those in which the forfeiture is not expressly declared, as institutions created by law and enjoying exclusive privileges under the act of their creation, can only exist by complying with the conditions on which their privileges were extended." The Governor afterwards examines the progress of public opinion, and recommends the legislature not to rush into extremes either on one side of the other. It on the one hand, he does not wish, on account of the important consequences to the public interest, that all the penalties incurred by the banks should be inflicted upon them, on the other hand, he repels the idea of a SANCTIONING a SUSPENSION and observes "under an unqualified sanction of the suspension, and a free resumption of the line of unrestrained bank issues, some momentary relief might indeed be afforded but it would be a DECEPTIVE effect, tending directly to bring back an of the ... disorder, and to cure ... unmanageable and difficult of CURE. Too great an augmentation of irredeemable paper will be followed by a corresponding depreciation of its value and tend to POSTPONE to the same ... ERA of a return to specie payments." And he also after trying to prove the necessity of banks "To search out and eradicate ABUSES, to remedy defects, and obviate possible the recurrence of similar evils, a WHAT the PEOPLE have a right to require at the hands of their public functionaries!!! One more quotation from this message. He says "The sense of mankind seems to call for greater publicity in banking operations OCCULT measures in matters of public concern are not in accordance with the sentiments of the age. It is through the banks that CURRENCY is affected, it can scarcely be doubted, that it is a more important ... were regularly made known to each other, and to the COMMUNITY, the currency would be much less exposed to SUDDEN and VIOLENT Fluctuations. The public confidence would be more steadfast, and the interests of ALL, both of the banks and of the PEOPLE, be ... served by the publicity."

Now let our citizens decide upon the conduct to be pursued by the Governor. To pretend that he can hesitate is to pronounce an infamous calumny. In decreeing the legislature, the Governor ... of conduct—he has traced ... GOVERNOR will now be consistent with HIMSELF.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE
FOR SALE WITHOUT RESERVE:
BY DOMINGON & SAMORY.

WILL be sold, at the City Exchange, St Louis street, on Saturday, the 31 March, at noon, that

VERY VALUABLE PROPERTY,

Fronting the river, on the line between the second Municipality and the City of Lafayette, known by the name of the "TRIANGLE."

Said property is divided into thirteen lots, situated between New Levee, Tchoupitoulas and Nuns streets and the Public Road above; and twelve lots between New Levee street and the river; and will be sold separately, according to the plan drawn by Mr Sirgi, and exhibited at said Exchange.

Terms—One-fourth payable in sixty days, and the balance in five equal instalments of four, eight, twelve, twenty-four and thirty months, in notes endorsed to the satisfaction of the vendor, and mortgage on the property sold until final payment.

The terms of sale to be complied with within five days after the adjudication, or the sale (at the option of the vendor) to be null.

The above mentioned sale will be unreserved; but in case the whole of the lots should not be sold, the vendor reserves to himself immediately after adjudication, the right of declaring whether the sale shall be valid or not; and if declared not valid the said property will then be immediately put up in one lot.

It is believed that few better opportunities of making profitable investments will occur, than that which is now presented. The great public spirit evinced by the Second Municipality, and the rapid improvements now making in every quarter of the upper part of the city, through the enterprise and exertions of its wise and efficient administration, will cause a steady increase in the value of property, and especially in the value of such as is situated like the present immediately on the river, and possessing the best landing in the four corporations.

No error can be committed in the purchase of such property, sold without reserve, at the present unfavorable moment; but on the contrary, every such acquisition must be highly advantageous to the purchaser. feb 26
