TENNESSEE POLITICS.

We have more than once adverted to the mode of conducting a political canvass in the Western States, such as Kentucky, Tennessee and Indiana. The candidates for office on both sides traverse their districts, visiting every election precinct, not unfrequently in company, with a perseverance and industry scarcely credible, and address the sovereigns at every plausible opportunity. The consequence is, that the people become thoroughly informed in respect to the question at issue, and are enabled to cast their votes conscientiously and advisedly.

This mode of electioneering, however, with all its advantages, is subject to one or two unpleasant drawbacks. Independently of the enormous amount of personal labor and exertion, the fatigue and expense attendant upon a canvass of several months through an extensive district, the various candidates, when they come into the very bite of the contest, and become excited amid the controversy, are somewhat apt to concede political into personal animosity, and to substitute the argumentum ad hominem for the milder applications of sound logic and undeniable facts. A circumstance of this kind occurred a few days since in one of the Congressional districts of Tennessee, which is at present the scene of a heated contest. We allude to the Memphis district. Mr. SCRUGGS, (whig,) and Mr. STANTON, (loco,) are the respective candidates for Congress in that aforesaid district. It seems that Mr. SCRUGGS had thought proved an over-match for his opponent in all the ordinary weapons of a political fight, and that STANTON called to the quick by repeated overthrows, determined at length to employ missiles of a very extraordinary and unusual character. The parties met recently at Ripley—in Shelby county, we believe—and there Mr. STANTON proceeded, in utter disregard of the conventional courtesies of the canvass, to load his adversaries with invective and abuse. Mr. SCRUGGS replied, Mr. STANTON rejoined, and finally attempted to inflict a kick upon the person of SCRUGGS. But the latter showed him no mean game even at this extra-political mode of warfare, for, from all accounts, the would-be kicker got a very severe thrashing. STANTON, says a correspondent of the Memphis Enquirer, became satisfied that he could make as little at that game as he does discussing politics; for subsequently he became unusually polite to STANTON.

While on the subject of Tennessee politics, we will state the impression of the whigs of that State in regard to the struggle between FOSTER and the loco candidate for Governor. Though both parties seem pretty sanguine, we have rarely known the whigs in better spirits. The Nashville Whig, in reply to a sneering article from the Union challenging the editor to make known his opinion of the result, says: "We have pleasure in complying with the wish of our neighbor, and have, therefore, to say to him that recent and reliable information received from various parts of the State, induces us to believe that Mr FOSTER will be elected by a majority of from three to five thousand; and what is more interesting and important to our neighbor, that the whigs will have a majority on joint ballot." So mote it be.

THE RIVERS.—The St. Louis papers of the 26th June, state that the Mississippi at that point was still rising, but very slowly. It was just some inches below the city direction, and about ten feet below the highest rise of last year.

Accounts from the Missouri state that the Kansas and Little Platte rivers were very high and still rising. The bottom lands along the Missouri are entirely overflown, and great damage has been sustained. The Illinois river was exceedingly low from Peru to Hennepin. A sudden and heavy rise had taken place in the Ohio, from Cincinnati all the way down. There was eight feet water in the channel at the last accounts.

The weather at St. Louis had been excessively inclement, with constant successions of rain, and quite cool for the season.

ARKANSAS RIVER.

We learn by the steamboat Swallow, which arrived yesterday from Fort Smith, which she left on the 20th ult., that nearly one half of the cotton crops on the banks of the river is supposed to be destroyed by the overflow. The river was still rising rapidly.

THE ARKANSAS RIVER.—The Little Rock Gazette of the 23d ult. says: "The June rise has come at last with a vengeance; for we have now some twenty feet of water in the channel, and from present indications, we are like to have too bountiful a supply, threatening an overflow of its banks."

FROM CAMPEACHY.

By the arrival of the schooner Atrevida, Capt. SABREZ, from Campeachy, we have intelligence from that port to the 24th ult. The only news of interest is the rumor about the 11th June, General Martinez, Colonel Montero and Col. Bruno, placed themselves at the head of the garrison of Tabasco, and raised an insurrection against the present government—the object being to establish the Confederation. It appears to have put a partial affair, as Capt. Sanches reports the people remained quiet, and took little shaking of tumult.

ATTEMPT TO KILL.—On Friday night last, says the Mobile Herald of Sunday, somewhere in the vicinity of Lawrence and Dauphin streets, a man by the name of Lawson Rivière, committed an assault with a knife upon the person of a Mr. Kirkbride, a carpenter, cutting him across the neck and face very severely. The affray was caused, as we learn, by some abusive language used by Kirkbride towards the wife of Riviere. Marshal Walker arrested and committed Riviere to the Guard House, where he now is.

STEAMBOAT BURST.—We learn, says the St. Louis New Era of the 23d ult., from the officers of the steamboat Deer, which arrived here on Saturday, that the steamer Lancet was totally destroyed by a fire at about 5 o'clock on the morning of the 18th inst., while lying at the shore opposite Scuttlestown bar, on the Ohio. The U. left here about two weeks since for Cincinnati, but on account of the low stage of water she was compelled to discharge her freight and passengers upon reaching the point at which she was burnt, and lie up. Nothing, we learn, was saved; the officers, who were on board, had barely time to escape; it is not known how the fire originated.

DREADFUL ATTEMPT AT MURDER AND ARSON.—The Pittsburgh papers relate a fearful account of an attempt to commit murder and arson. Some men were concealed in the stable of a Mr. Day, for the purpose of firing it, and were disturbed by his nephew, who heard them whispering. One of the men rushed at him with a knife, cutting through his coat, vest and shirt, on the left side, in the region of the heart. The cut in the garments was about five and a half inches in length, but fortunately the skin was only scratched. As the blow was given one man rushed out of the back door of the stable, and the one who had used the knife followed immediately. Both made their escape. In the morning a pile of shavings and other combustibles were found gathered up, and also a bunch of matches, with the ends burned off, showing that the intention was to set the premises on fire.

☞ On Sunday last says the Bayou Sara Ledger, a quarrel took place between two negro fellows belonging to Mr. Baines of this parish, in which one had received a wound with a knife, of which he died on Wednesday.

THE CEREMONIES in honor of the memory of General Jackson in New York promise to be one of the greatest, and most imposing spectacles ever witnessed. The programme fills nearly two solid columns of the largest papers. The Governor of the State and ex-President Van Buren had arrived in order to assist in the solemnity.

MINISTER TO ENGLAND.—Amid the general expression of satisfaction by the press at the Hon. Louis McLane's appointment as Minister to England, that selectable print, the U. S. Journal, alone grumbles and hopes the nomination will be rejected by the Senate. The "Young Democracy" want all the honors and profits of executive patronage.

THE CROPS.—The Baton Rouge Gazette says—The drought for some time past has dried up the corn and sugar-cane. However, last week some parts of this parish were visited with showers highly beneficial to those in the favored range. On some plantations one-half received repeated showers while the other half is withering for want of the same benefit.

NAVAL.—The U. S. schr. Flirt, bound to Chagres, left Norfolk on the afternoon of the 23d ult.

☞ Hon. Edward Crane has been appointed Judge of the Supreme Court of Arkansas, in place of Judge [illegible], resigned.

☞ Our thanks are due the officers of the new and elegant steamer Missouri, for a tin of late St. Louis papers.

☞ The wheat crop in Missouri has been greatly injured by the late heavy rains, and it is feared will be totally destroyed, unless a change in the weather takes place.

BURNING.—Mrs. Caroline Poring, of Bloomington, Illinois, drowned herself a few days ago in a large circular, in the absence of all the other members of her family, while laboring under partial mental derangement.

☞ Messrs. Sunnard and Johnson, the sub proprietors of the Louisiana Chronicle, announce as their candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, Gen Wm Owings and Gen. Edward Sparrow, subject of course to the decision of a Whig Convention.

FIRE AT DONALDSONVILLE.—Capt. Thomasson of the steamer Victress, reports that on the night of the 20th inst., a fire broke out in the Donaldsonville Hotel, which with the adjoining building, together with Harp's Hotel, and 6 or 8 other buildings.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday evening, about 7 o'clock, a young man 20 years of age, son of Walter Fleming, residing a short distance north of Liberty church, was killed instantaneously. He was riding on the top of a load of wood and chanced to drop one of his spurs. In the effort to recover it, (the horses were attending a steep path) he was precipitated between the horses and wagon. He was instantly kicked by the frightened wheel geared ever his neck, and died in a few minutes.—St Louis Republic, 24th ult.

NEW YORK, June 23d, 1845.

LATE FROM NEW GRENADA.—The brig Choiseul arrived yesterday with advices from Carthagena to the 5th inst. All was quiet in New Grenada, and the revolutionary war was said to be making great improvements in the interior of Quito. The mission of Congress was called to the quick by repeated overthrows, determined at length to employ missiles of a very extraordinary and unusual character. The parties met recently at Ripley—in Shelby county, we believe—and there Mr. STANTON proceeded, in utter disregard of the conventional courtesies of the canvass, to load his adversaries with invective and abuse. ARKANSAS RIVER.

We learn by the steamboat Swallow, which arrived yesterday from Fort Smith, which she left on the 20th ult., that nearly one half of the cotton crops on the banks of the river is supposed to be destroyed by the overflow. The river was still rising rapidly.

THE ARKANSAS RIVER.—The Little Rock Gazette of the 23d ult. says: "The June rise has come at last with a vengeance; for we have now some twenty feet of water in the channel, and from present indications, we are like to have too bountiful a supply, threatening an overflow of its banks."

FROM CAMPEACHY.

By the arrival of the schooner Atrevida, Capt. SABREZ, from Campeachy, we have intelligence from that port to the 24th ult. The only news of interest is the rumor about the 11th June, General Martinez, Colonel Montero and Col. Bruno, placed themselves at the head of the garrison of Tabasco, and raised an insurrection against the present government—the object being to establish the Confederation. It appears to have put a partial affair, as Capt. Sanches reports the people remained quiet, and took little shaking of tumult.

ATTEMPT TO KILL.—On Friday night last, says the Mobile Herald of Sunday, somewhere in the vicinity of Lawrence and Dauphin streets, a man by the name of Lawson Rivière, committed an assault with a knife upon the person of a Mr. Kirkbride, a carpenter, cutting him across the neck and face very severely. The affray was caused, as we learn, by some abusive language used by Kirkbride towards the wife of Riviere. Marshal Walker arrested and committed Riviere to the Guard House, where he now is.

STEAMBOAT BURST.—We learn, says the St. Louis New Era of the 23d ult., from the officers of the steamboat Deer, which arrived here on Saturday, that the steamer Lancet was totally destroyed by a fire at about 5 o'clock on the morning of the 18th inst., while lying at the shore opposite Scuttlestown bar, on the Ohio. The L. left here about two weeks since for Cincinnati, but on account of the low stage of water she was compelled to discharge her freight and passengers upon reaching the point at which she was burnt, and lie up. Nothing, we learn, was saved; the officers, who were on board, had barely time to escape; it is not known how the fire originated.

DREADFUL ATTEMPT AT MURDER AND ARSON.—The Pittsburgh papers relate a fearful account of an attempt to commit murder and arson. Some men were concealed in the stable of a Mr. Day, for the purpose of firing it, and were disturbed by his nephew, who heard them whispering. One of the men rushed at him with a knife, cutting through his coat, vest and shirt, on the left side, in the region of the heart. The cut in the garments was about five and a half inches in length, but fortunately the skin was only scratched. As the blow was given one man rushed out of the back door of the stable, and the one who had used the knife followed immediately. Both made their escape. In the morning a pile of shavings and other combustibles were found gathered up, and also a bunch of matches, with the ends burned off, showing that the intention was to set the premises on fire.

☞ On Sunday last says the Bayou Sara Ledger, a quarrel took place between two negro fellows belonging to Mr. Baines of this parish, in which one had received a wound with a knife, of which he died on Wednesday.

THE CEREMONIES in honor of the memory of General Jackson in New York promise to be one of the greatest, and most imposing spectacles ever witnessed. The programme fills nearly two solid columns of the largest papers. The Governor of the State and ex-President Van Buren had arrived in order to assist in the solemnity.

MINISTER TO ENGLAND.—Amid the general expression of satisfaction by the press at the Hon. Louis McLane's appointment as Minister to England, that selectable print, the U. S. Journal, alone grumbles and hopes the nomination will be rejected by the Senate. The "Young Democracy" want all the honors and profits of executive patronage.

THE CROPS.—The Baton Rouge Gazette says—The drought for some time past has dried up the corn and sugar-cane. However, last week some parts of this parish were visited with showers highly beneficial to those in the favored range. On some plantations one-half received repeated showers while the other half is withering for want of the same benefit.

☞ The following lines by Halleck, are appropriate to the present day as to that in which they were written:—

"Thousands silence and a sadness
Hang the office-seekers now,
Thousands strange eyes that look the madness,
Of changing up a row."

Gen. Hogan's Conjecture of Bedlam.

THE TRIAL of Harry Daniel for the murder of Olin R. Thompson, in other public papers of the 26th inst., it is thought Daniel will be acquitted, though from all accounts, it seems to have been a case of cold-blooded and premeditated assassination.

☞ A meeting of the Whigs of the Parish of Jefferson will be held on Saturday, the 5th inst., at 8 o'clock, P.
