NEW-ORLEANS.
MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 16, 1845.

DEATH OF GENERAL JACKSON.

The painful intelligence was received yesterday in our city, through private letters, of the death of Ex-President General ANDREW JACKSON. He expired according to our information, between six and seven o'clock on the evening of the 8th inst., after a long and lingering illness which he bore with the stoicism of a philosopher, and which, while gradually sapping his physical energies, spared the faculties of his intellect to the latest hour of existence. This event though long expected, still appeared to strike the citizens with the force of sudden and unlooked for calamity. Groups assembled at every corner, and upon every saddened countenance could be traced the tolling of mortality. The friends of the old soldier, and their name is Legion, mourned his children at the loss of a parent. His enemies, political foes, buried their hostility in the tomb of the dead veteran, and remembered him only as the gallant General, the victor on the plains of Chalmette and the Saviour of New Orleans.

A preliminary meeting was called at 2 o'clock, at the St. Louis Hall Room, with a view to the adoption of fitting demonstrations of respect for the memory of the deceased. The Hon. EDGAR MONTEGUT, was called to the Chair, and was assisted by the Honorable Recorders of the Three Municipalities. In consequence of its being the Sabbath, the meeting, after organisation, adjourned to this evening.

GEN. JACKSON'S DEATH.

MEETING AT THE ST. LOUIS EXCHANGE.—At a preliminary meeting held on the 15th inst, at half past two o'clock, at the St. Louis Exchange—which meeting was convoked upon the reception of the news of the death of ANDREW JACKSON, the champion of American liberties—on motion,

CHAS. L. DUROCHER, Esq., was called to the chair, stating in a few appropriate expressions requested the meeting to come to order.

The Hon. EDGAR MONTEGUT, Mayor of the City, was by acclamation appointed President, as were Gen. J. B. Plauche, Messrs. Joseph Genois, Joshua Baldwin, G. W. Lewis—the respective Recorders of the different municipalities—and Col. H. D. Peire, appointed Vice Presidents.

Secretaries—J W Zacharie and Alex. Dimitry, Esqs.

Whereupon, Col. J. Winthrop, being called upon by the meeting, in a few heartfelt expressions stated the object of its convening, and submitted the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved, That the Governor of the State, the Mayor of this city, the Recorders of the three municipalities, the members of the General Council, the members of the several Municipal Councils and such citizens as may unite with them, form a committee to take such steps as they may deem proper, upon the announcement of the demise of ANDREW JACKSON.

Resolved, That said committee be respectfully requested to make a report of their proceedings to a meeting of their fellow citizens to be held to-morrow evening (this evening) in the Rotunda of the St Louis Exchange, at half past 7 o'clock.

Resolved, that the Mayor be respectfully requested to call special sessions of the several Councils on to-morrow morning [Monday] morning at 10 o'clock.

Resolved, That the commanding officers of the different artillery corps be respectfully requested to continue guns firing during the balance of this day and to-morrow.

JAMES W. ZACHARIE, } Secretaries.
ALEX'R. DIMITRY, }

June 15th, 1845.

By virtue of the above resolutions, the Governor of the State, the Mayor of New Orleans, the Recorders of the three municipalities, the members of the General Council, the members of the councils of the several municipalities are requested to meet this morning at ten o'clock, in the council room of Municipality No One, in order to carry into effect the object contemplated by the above resolutions.

E. MONTEGUT, President.

☞ The locofoco papers have recently got up a general whine over the assumed rigorous treatment of THOMAS W. DORR. They have represented the fellow-hero, as the victim of a most merciless and unmitigated persecution, which has broken his health, and bowed him down with sorrow and infirmities. On the strength of these assertions, they have attempted to inspire an universal sympathy for the afflicted Ian painter, and have indulged in the most peeling and mawkish sentimentality at his deplorable fate. We fancied at the time that the locofocos were drawing upon their imaginations at the expense of truth, for the purpose of arousing a morbid sympathy for the supposed sufferings of a fellow convicted of Treason, treated with a leniency beyond his desert, and who is only not at perfect and unmolested liberty, on account of his own absurd and incurable mulishness of character. Our impressions are fully corroborated by the statements of several gentlemen of Rhode Island papers, and of sundry gentlemen who have visited the captive within a few days, and enjoyed ample opportunities of enquiring into his health.

One of the letters, written to a northern paper, states that that the statements in regard to Dorr's health are unqualifedly false. On the very day they were published, says the writer, we saw Dorr and he was at work. His appearance is as good as when he entered prison and the warden informed me that his health was as good as at any time since the commitment. He walks freely without any cane. He is, and has been for years, troubled with rheumatism, or more properly speaking gout, and in consequence of this has a standing excuse, for sickness, so that he works only when he chooses. His cell is described as large, dry and clean and well ventilated. It is neatly and comfortably furnished. His situation is far better than that of any prisoner in any other prison in the country, and should his health be poor, he can leave at any moment he may please.

This nails the inventions of locofocoism completely to the counter. We suppose the Dorrites will next trump up an account of the demise of the incarcerated martyr, and ascribe it to the public torture he has undergone, and prescribe to the democracy of the nation a scrape on the left arm for thirty days.

SOMETHING NEW IN THIEVING.—Under this head the Mobile Register narrates a singular incident.—On Sunday morning, the 8th inst., a box marked "John Bennett, Louisville, Ky.," was deposited on the wharf boat of Messrs. A. B. Shaw & Co., to be shipped by the first boat. It was left by a free black who was very particular in directing it to be handled with care. An hour or two after, a gentleman happened to represent, when a voice from the interior was heard to call out "open the door." Much consternation followed, and the spectators thought his Satanic Majesty had taken temporary lodgings in the inside of the box. After due deliberation Mr. Shaw, the owner of the boat, ripped off the row with a butcher's cleaver, when out jumped a strapping negro fellow nearly dead with suffocation and stunning like the escape pipe of a steamboat. He was greatly exhausted, but was revived by the fresh air and the application of stimulants, when he gave the following account of his singular incarceration:

"It appears that he belongs to Mr. John Lewis of Germantown, and has been hired here in town. He states that the scheme which had well nigh cost him his life, was concocted some months ago by John Bennett, a free black rascal, well known to many of our citizens.—The intention was to ship him, in the manner attempted, to Cincinnati, from whence he was to be conveyed by the Abolitionists to Canada. In the box was a quantity of moss, a number of plates, and a few dozen water crackers. Air holes were bored in the end of the box. They forgot, however, to put in a supply of water. He states that he would inevitably have died in a very short time, if the bed not been extricated, and his condition when taken out of the box confirms the opinion."

Bennett has since been arrested.

☞ A youth, named John Homan, at the risk of his life, during the recent fire in Zanesville, saved the court house from destruction. The act is spoken of as of no mean heroism. The commissioners of Muskingum county, in their late session, passed a vote of thanks to the lad of the value of five dollars, with suitable inscription, to be prepared, and then presented to him in the name of the county. They then proceeded, with all which is one of the richest in Ohio, to vote him the sum of five hundred dollars in money!

A MURDER.—Saturday's Mobile Herald says: A letter dated the 12th inst., was received here yesterday from the twenty-one mile bluff, in the upper part of this county, stating that Robt. B. Brimer, a laboring man of estimable character, was killed by Daniel L. Johnston. The difficulty which led to this murder originated in a dispute about a dog. Johnston threatened the life of Brimer, and carried it into execution by shooting him on the night of the 10th. He died almost instantaneously. Johnston had fled, and was still at large at the latest accounts.

THE FIRE AT QUEBEC.—The total loss by this fire, says an Eastern paper, has been computed with the utmost nicety possible, and found to be between one million and a half of pounds!—or, in dollars, from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000. The loss of life cannot be estimated. About forty victims have thus far been exhumed.

☞ Thanks to the officers of the Highlander, for late St. Louis papers.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

CRIMINAL COURT.—His Honor Judge Cushing, on Saturday, delivered his written opinion in the case of L. C. Hornsby. It will be recollected that Hornsby was indicted for the murder of D. H. Twogood, tried and found guilty of manslaughter. After having received his sentence, the case was carried up to the Court of Errors and Appeals, who set aside the judgment of the lower Court, on the ground that during the progress of the trial, the Jury had been allowed to separate and return to their homes. Hornsby should be tried de novo. The Attorney General recognizing that the finding by the Jury of a verdict of manslaughter was a virtual acquittal of Hornsby of the crime of murder, entered a nolle prosequi upon the previous indictment and framed a bill for manslaughter against Hornsby, which was sanctioned by the Grand Jury. The accused through his counsel, at this stage of the proceedings then entered a plea of autre fois acquit—that the revision by the Court of Errors and Appeals of the sentence of the lower Court, was a virtual acquittal of the prisoner; and also, introducing the plea that according to the Constitution of the United States no one could be a second time placed in jeopardy of life or limb. The opinion of the Court, which was very elaborate and occupied three quarters of an hour in the delivery, was replete with legal authorities and maxims, drawn from the brightest ornaments of the Bench, both in this country and in England.

The decision of the Court was, that the plea of autre fois acquit, be overruled and set aside, and that the accused be tried anew under the indictment now pending against him for manslaughter.

The following sentences were then passed by the Court:—

Joseph Welsh, found guilty of assault and battery, 24 hours imprisonment.

Bernard McHuy, for assault and battery, forty-eight hours imprisonment.

Denis McAfee, for assault and battery, twelve hours imprisonment.

Thomas Conner, for larceny, one month's imprisonment.

Joseph Switzer, for assault and battery, (case compromised with prosecutor) one hour imprisonment.

Edward Rivarus, for striking a white person, six months imprisonment and costs of Court.

FATAL AFFRAY.—About nine o'clock on Saturday night, an affray, in which four persons were engaged, took place in Philippa street, between Union and Perdido streets, during which a young man named Robert Crowell, a clerk in the employ of Mr Cammack, received a stab with a knife, in the right side, inflicted, as is alleged, by Charles P. Sweetzer, a clerk in the employ of Mr Blanchard, which caused his death in a short time afterwards. Sweetzer and a person named Charles Pond, who accompanied him and was engaged in the affray, made their escape, but were arrested at 11 o'clock the same night by some of the officers of the Second Municipality police, and lodged in prison. The body of Crowell was conveyed to the police prison and the Coroner was sent for, but he being absent from home, Judge Alexander Walker was called in and held an inquest upon the body, when it appeared on examination that the knife had penetrated through the right side of the liver and also cut one of the large blood vessels ranging along the spine. Evidence was given by a witness named Alexander Scott, who was engaged in the affray, from which it appeared that he and the deceased were in conversation with a young woman named Rosaline Campbell, in a house adjoining the Eclipse Stables, when Crowell was called out by Sweetzer, with whom it appeared he had had a personal difficulty. Scott further stated that he and Crowell went into the street when the latter was instantly attacked by Sweetzer, and Pond also raised a cane to strike him, which he (Scott) seeing, he clinched Pond and the affray became general. Some persons parted Scott and Pond and as they were doing so Crowell cried out, "gentlemen, I am dead gone." On turning to look at him, Scott found he was stabbed, and says he died in less than fifteen minutes afterwards. This evidence is corroborated by Rosaline Campbell. The jury returned a verdict in accordance with the testimony and the facts. Sweetzer and Pond will probably be brought before Recorder Baldwin this morning.

☞ Charles Coats, arrested on a charge of stealing a horse belonging to Mr. Augusta Delachaise, has been remanded by Recorder Genois for further examination.

☞ Louis, f. m. c., arrested on a charge of stealing some trinkets from a woman in Madison street, has been committed by Recorder Genois, for trial before the Criminal Court.

☞ The New York papers generally agree that Collector Van Ness will shortly be removed. He will probably be succeeded by Cornelius W. Lawrence.

☞ One John Largy was arrested a few days ago in St. Louis, in virtue of a requisition from the Governor of Massachusetts. He is accused of swindling to the amount of $12,000.

O. K.—The Treasurer and Auditor General of Pennsylvania have issued a Circular, announcing their determination to bring suits against all defaulters and their sureties in the different counties, unless their indebted ness to the State shall be discharged before the 15th of July ensuing.

THE MCNULTY CASE.—The suit of the United States against Caleb McNulty, late Clerk of the House of Representatives, was commenced before the Washington Circuit Court on the 6th. A demurrer to the indictment was filed in the Criminal Court, denying its sufficiency. The case will be continued every morning at 9 o'clock, until disposed of.

☞ It is said that Mr. Murall, the author of the successful comedy of "Fashion" is shortly to appear at the Park Theatre, in the character of Pauline, in the Lady of Lyons.

☞ The Scotch giant and giantess had a quarrel and a fight at Galena. The giantess got whipped, and the giant, at the approach of a peace officer, fled to parts unknown. We should like to see any two Scotch or Irish giants undertake to whip our Kentucky giantess. Louisville Journal.

NEW WORKS.—We are indebted to J. B. STEEL, No 14 Camp street, for "Mrs. Caudle's Lectures," with humorous engravings; "Journal of a Vicar," The Wampum Night and other Tales from the German of Henrich Zschokke; Part 3, No. 1 of Thiers' great History of the Consulate and Empire under Napoleon; "The Dossary Portraits" from Punch, with six humorous engravings.

These works are from Cary & Hart, Philadelphia.

NEW HAMPSHIRE LEGISLATURE.—The Legislature of New Hampshire assembled at Concord on Wednesday the 4th inst. Henry Hibbard was chosen Speaker of the House, and Asa P. Cate, President of the Senate Locofocos of course.

THE NEW OPERA OF "LEONORA" is said to have met with but moderate success at Philadelphia. The music is stated to be noisy and to lack lightness and brilliancy.

PHILADELPHIA DUEL.—The New York Herald says that in the late duel near Philadelphia Schott was not wounded, the ball of his antagonist having passed through his clothing, without touching the skin.

ROBERT AND ATTEMPT AT MURDER.—We learn, says the National Intelligencer of the 7th, that a gentleman who is now staying at the United States Hotel' was knocked down and robbed of his pocket-book, containing $2600, on the morning previous, about 1 o'clock, not far from the Glass House. The gentleman was on his way from the Observatory when he was assaulted and robbed. One of the villains fired a pistol at him the ball of which glanced off his forehead. This daring and successful robbery has caused, as may be naturally supposed, great excitement in the metropolis.

THE KNICKERBOCKER.—We are under obligations to Mr. MORGAN, of the Literary Depot, Exchange Place, for the May number of this lively and entertaining periodical. The original articles in this number are very interesting. We notice in particular the pe per called a sketch of Mirabeau B. Lamar. The literary notices are as usual, eminently judicious, and the editor's table piquant and amusing.

AN EXCITING OCCURRENCE took place at Savannah on the evening of the 8th instant. Captain PALIO, of the United States Revenue Cutter Crawford, was assailed, soon after coming on shore, by a number of British sailors, who grossly insulted him and pursued him with clubs for the purpose of attacking him. After repeatedly warning them to desist, Captain P. drew a Colt's revolving pistol and shot the ringlea der in the head, the wound not being mortal. This had the effect of dispersing the scoundrels, but Lorrell, the wounded man continuing his abuse of the captain, was arrested, together with an accomplice, and imprisoned. It appears that Captain P. had flogged a boy named Mercer, for attempted desertion. This boy was declared to be a British subject, and by the English sailors, who in their exasperation, were led to these scenes of violence.

☞ The Sicilian frigate Urania made a real fonc; pas on the U. S. ship Cyane, on Tuesday. She mastered near American ar, United States, at half past one, quietly hoisted the our ense. This was done, and lowered a salute of twenty mortifying guns to the Cyane, as a mark of respect, and a very insinuating note to the Commander of the frigate, and he to the Commander of the Cyane, to the effect that the master of the Urania felt sorry that he had the misfortune to be the carelessness, as he was between reasons for in morning merrily flogged; his crime of having mutiny stand up and answer the Olive and the center Hamilton. N. Y. Courier & Enq.

We copy the following extraordinary narrative from the Louisville Journal of the 6th inst.

CHANGE OF INTERESTS.—A gentleman from down the river has given us a narrative very extraordinary in its character. It appears that Louis Napoleon, of the United States army, is one of highly respectable family, and has been living for a short time past at a hotel in Saloon, Kentucky, with a young woman he called his wife, and to whom he claimed to have been married a few months ago in Tennessee. A few nights since, the Mrs. Napoleon died, and she was supposed to be delivered of a child.—Lieut. B——, in the dead of night, went down to the landlord and asked that the servants might furnish him with a dead child. The landlord objected to the proposed proceeding as improper and extraordinary, and enquired why the burial should not be deferred until morning. Lieut. B——, answered that the child had been born dead, and that his wife was unwilling to have it remain in her room. The landlord hesitated, but was peremptory, and Lieut. B——, as he hurriedly left, stated that he would call and take the dead body. Other child, carried out, and thrown into the river. The landlord next morning, it was ascertained that the child had been born alive, and that the idea of its having been stillborn was a mere fiction. The Lieut. B——, in the interim, was arrested for infanticide and held to bail in the sum of three thousand dollars. Not being able to find the first to find bail, he was sent to prison. Bail, however, was subsequently given, and he is now at large.

We state the circumstances as they were stated to us, withholding only the name of the accused, where relatives reside in this city. If the statement proves to be incorrect, we shall avail ourselves of the earliest opportunity of correcting it.

THE FOOT OF MAN.—Dr. Jedediah Farmer, gives this brief summary of the native countries of the most familiar plants:—

The potatoes is a native of South America, and is cultivated wild in Chili, Peru, and Mexico. In its native state, the root is small and bitter. The first mention made of it by European writers was in 1582. It is now spread over the world. Wheat and Rye originated in Tartary and Siberia, where they are still indigenous. The Indian corn is a native of the country where the oat is found wild in its Abyssinia, and the rice may be considered a native. Maize, or Indian Corn, is a native of Mexico, and was unknown to Europe until after the discovery of Columbus. It is believed from one to a number of South Sea Island, particularly Otaheite. Tea is found a native no where except in China and Japan, from which country the world is supplied. The cocoa nut is a native of most equatorial countries, and it is one of the most valuable trees in food, clothing and shelter we are acquainted with. Coffee is a native of Arabia Felix, but is now spread into both the East and West Indies. The best coffee brought from Mocha, in Arabia, whence about fourteen millions of pounds are annually exported. St. Domingo furnishes from thirty to seventy millions of pounds yearly. The apple is native of Europe, and is found in its crab apple, which is found native in the most parts of the world. The pear is derived from Persia, where it still grows in a native state, small, bitter and with poisonous juice. The peach is a native of Persia, and is largely cultivated in Europe. The fig is derived from Persia, where it still grows in a native state, small, bitter and with poisonous juice. Tobacco is a native of Mexico and is largely cultivated in Europe. The plum
