NEW ORLEANS OMNIBUSES.

TWO New Carriages, one called 'The Cotton Plant' and the other 'The Tobacco Plant,' have taken the place of the former Omnibuses. These Carriages were built last summer by the Messrs. Carters of Newark, who have the greatest experience in the construction of Omnibuses, most of those running in New York having been made by them; and for ease, safety and elegance, are superior to any before in the country, all the improvements the maker's experience have called for.

They will ply daily, the following stated hours, between the Levee, Steam Boat Office, and Canal street, head of Charles street, (passing the Rail Road and Exchange Coffee House,) with four horses, under the management of Carters Drivers—the fare is put at the low price of twelve and a half cents, which affords every one an opportunity of patronizing them.—Every reliance may be placed on the continuance of the Line and the punctuality of starting; it will give a communication between the Lower Faubourgs and Canal street, every half hour in the day, and it is confidently hoped that so great a public convenience will meet with merited support.

[illegible] AIRIANA SYSTEM OF WRITING

[illegible] DOLBEAR [illegible] of Penmanship [illegible] returned to New Orleans, and will re-open his writing establishment in the [illegible] No. 42 Canal street, in the rooms occupied by Miss Carroll's Book Store, where Ladies and Gentlemen are respectfully invited to call and examine specimens of the rapid improvement of persons from eight to upwards of fifty years of age.

Mr. Dolbear's classes will commence every morning during the winter and spring. A separate apartment for Ladies.

Persons visiting the city for a few days only, may receive a full course of lessons. Ladies are instructed in small, rapid and fashionable style of writing, by a method which obviates, entirely, the fatigue of writing. Gentlemen in a bold style, but equally rapid. Hours of attendance for Ladies and Misses from 9 to 11 1-2 A. M. and another from 1 to 3 1-2 P. M. The remainder of the day and evening until 10 P. M. will be devoted to the instruction of Gentlemen.

Mr. D. expects his brothers from their establishment at the North, this week, when they will be prepared to give private lessons and executed kinds of ornamental writing in a superior style, &c.

CERTIFICATES.

From his Excellency Governor Roman.

I have examined, with attention, the system of writing taught by Mr. Dolbear, and it is with pleasure that I concur in ascribing to its superiority over any other method with which I am acquainted. Mr. Dolbear having given private lessons in my family, I consider it but justice to add, that I believe him a man worthy of public patronage, on account of his correctness and mildness of his character, as well as of the rapid improvement of those who received his lessons.

A. B. ROMAN.

New Orleans, July 2d, 1832.

On the invitation of Mr. Dolbear, Teacher of Penmanship, in our city, upon the Carstairian system, we have carefully examined specimens of the writings of his pupils, who have ranged from 5 to 50 years, written through an entire course of instruction; and after having done so, we are with the highest satisfaction, that we can testify to the rapid if not unparalleled progress which they have made.

From the specimens seen, and the examination of the system made, we cannot withhold the expression of a concurrent opinion, that the system is greatly superior to any heretofore taught, if not to write legibly, elegantly, rapidly, and [illegible] an accomplishment, useful or desirable in [illegible] upon the principles of this system that is to acquire it, we therefore anxiously solicit of the public a liberal patronage [illegible] an Instructor, whose qualifications are the highest [illegible] and whose labors promise to be eminently useful to [illegible] other communities.
