THE OBLIGATIONS OF CITIZENS IN A FREE GOVERNMENT.

Among the means of self-culture, so liberally spread before the people of a free land, there are perhaps none less appreciated as such than the relations and duties which each man owes to the State. Indeed, it is not uncommon to see good men shrinking from all political action, from the very motive of preserving their characters from the contamination which they conceive to be inevitably involved in taking part in public affairs. The violence of party spirit, and the fraud and corruption to which it leads, induce them to think they can best subserve their personal improvement by quietly laying down the responsibilities and duties which rest upon them as citizens. If they were right in this conjecture, if personal self-culture really required the sacrifice of solemn obligations to others, we should even then despise the selfish spirit that would seek to benefit ourselves at the expense of a private duty, but this is not the case. No such perilous choice exists, save in imagination. The welfare of every individual is wrapped up in the welfare of the public, and will only be promoted in proportion to his brave and unreserved acceptance of every responsibility, and fulfillment of every duty that falls to his lot.

Aside from this, however, the political obligations which are binding upon every citizen of a free Government have in their observance a direct and important influence for good upon his personal character. If he discharge them faithfully, he must be prepared to discuss great subjects, to decide important interests, to determine measures affecting not only himself and his generation but also prosperity. He must consider the resources of his country and her foreign policy, must cultivate an earnest desire for her prosperity, and a still greater anxiety for her integrity. Can his sedulously inform himself on topics so momentous without enlarging his mind and strengthening his judgment, or can he cherish such a spirit of patriotism without elevating his moral nature? Every impartial and thoughtful person will see at once that he cannot. The public questions continually arising and appealing as they do to his reason and intelligence for decision, necessarily expand his intellect, and raise his thoughts above merely selfish interests, thus giving him a breadth of view, and a force of character that can never distinguish the subjects of a people under a despotic Government. If these are not the natural results upon the minds and hearts of those who do take an active part in the politics of their country, it is not the fault of the subject itself, but of the state that is brought into it. It is because honesty is laid aside and is replaced by fraud and party spirit. It is undoubtedly right that every citizen should support that side in politics which in his conscience he believes to contain the best principles for the country's good. But if, when he does this, he merges his own judgment and moral sense in the party he has espoused; if he upholds them in all things, and at all hazards, regardless of his own responsibility to support only what is true and right; if he yields to the blind fury which inspires hatred of every one who differs in opinion and resistance to every measure that an opposing party can suggest—then, indeed, he degrades politics and corrupts his own nature. Whenever a party becomes dearer than principle; whenever victory is more precious than truth, the moral independence receives its death-blow and political life is robbed of all its significance. The vindictive spirit that inspires so many to impugn the motives and to bring the most unfounded charges against the leaders of any opposing party; the selfish artifice to obtain power and station; the frauds and bribes used to corrupt men and obtain their support, are all utterly opposed to all justice and goodness that we cannot wonder that those who believe such things should hold themselves aloof and shrink from politics. But the mistake they make is in confounding the subject itself, which is weighty, with the spirit so often brought into it. Duties and responsibilities ought not to be thus shirked, and they cannot be without detriment to him who avoids them.

It is the duty of every citizen to obtain a clear understanding of the questions which agitate the community and the principles which underlie them: to judge impartially of the characters and actions of those whom he aids to put into authority. It is only in this way that he can exert an influence for good on the welfare of the country.

GERMAN-AMERICAN SCHOOL FESTIVAL.—On our French side, to-day, will be found the programme of the German-American School Festival, which is to take place on next Sunday and Monday at the Fair Grounds. This programme includes a great variety of amusements peculiar to our German fellow-citizens and which they enjoy with so much zest; also, a number of races to be run under the auspices of the Fire Department of New Orleans.

Louisiana Intelligence.

LAFOURCHE PARISH.—The Thibodaux Sentinel contains these items:

In Memoriam.—On the 13th inst., at his residence, 18 miles below Thibodaux, surrounded by his family and friends, Evariste Lespine has gently and quietly passed away from this life earth, at the Patriarchal age of 72 years.

On the 11th inst., at his residence in Assumption, died Colonel Celestin Dalferes, long a resident of this parish, and one of our old time steamboatmen. He commanded several boats in the Lafourche and Bayou Teche, well-remembered steamers Mary Foley and C. D. Jr.

We does not remember some trip that he has made on one of those excellent steamers with the genial, large-hearted, hospitable Celestin Dalferes as Captain. May the sods of the valley rest lightly over all that is mortal of this noble and estimable gentleman.

ST. LANDRY PARISH.—The Opelousas Courier of the 16th inst. contains these items:

Cotton Crop of St. Landry.—We may say that the cotton raisers of our parish are now actively engaged in cotton picking. It is true that some fields are somewhat backward, but as a general thing cotton is being picked rapidly.

The caterpillars have done and continue to do considerable damage to the crop, for after having eaten the leaves they attack the young and tender bolls and soon kill them; but are unable, however, to eat them.

Certain portions of the parish have no doubt suffered more severely than others, but in no section will there be a full crop. There has appear to be a fall posted in the matter are credited that the crop will be reduced by two-thirds, which will give eight to ten thousand bales instead of 25 or 30,000.

It is an easier matter to estimate the yield of the corn, which will hardly amount to more than half a crop.

A bitter disappointment is each case. We are pained to learn that Judge John R. King, now at the Allegheny Springs, in Virginia, is very ill, and that no hopes are entertained of his recovery.

This sad news reached here last Thursday, and surprised every body, as those in correspondences with him were unapprised of his illness.

A Riot.—We are informed yesterday that a riot occurred a few days ago at Evergreen, Avoyelles Parish, growing out of the fact that a white man was whipped to death by a negro, and that the negro was killed by the brother of the victim. As our informant left Evergreen the excitement had subsided, we do not know what other acts of violence may have followed.

STREET RAILROADS.—The law of street railway cars was well stated by a Mississippi Judge, who, in a case before him on complaint of a passenger, who had been ejected from a car, said that if a person appeared to attend intoxicated, or he manner in such as to lead the conductor to suppose he is disorderly, and he uses a violent, loud, profane and indecent language, and does not stop upon remonstrance, it is the right and the duty of the conductor to stop the car, tell him to leave, and if he does not, to put him out. If such is not the law here, it should be. We have seen recently cases that came within the ruling of the Mississippi judge.—Public Ledger.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

London, Sept. 19.—The hop crop is small, being the third of the amount of an average crop.

The Morning Advertiser contains an editorial imputing the blame for the Communist outrages to the American, says the result of the recent battle will be the driving of foreigners from the country.

The Advertiser also says England will not join the United States because she was not consulted before the Rodgers expedition set into Corean waters.

The cholera is increasing at Konigsberg, the rate of deaths has advanced from 50 to 70 and even 80 per cent.

George Alexander Hamilton, permanent Secretary of the Treasury under the Derby Government, is dead.

The postal money order system between the United States and England commences on the 1st prox.

London, Sept. 19.—The foreign workmen are leaving Newcastle. The magistrates there have dismissed several summons brought by masters against employes who left their work unfinished.

London, Sept. 19.—The Prussian fleet escorting the Grand Duke Alexis to the United States, and now in English waters, will proceed to Falmouth for coal and necessary repairs instead of remaining at Plymouth for that purpose.

The Times has a special dispatch from Versailles apparently intimating that Manteuffel's action during the recess of the assembly will alarm the Germans, and not any peculiar principle of the Republic, has led to enforced here. Utah belongs to the United States, and those who obey its laws must and shall be protected in their rights; and those who do not must answer to the law of justice; and those men of influence who in process diligently trample on the laws themselves, cannot be allowed for others to do so should be the first to feel the firm grip of the law rather than the feeble one of the law. Let the United Gentlemen, it is your duty and mine to enforce the laws. Let us do so without fear, affection, prejudice, or hope of reward.

Little Rock, Sept. 19.—A few days ago the Sheriff of Sebastian county reported that the Ku-Klux had organized to defeat the civil officers could not enforce the law. This report was received and published, and the citizens of that county held a meeting appointed a committee of ten Republicans to confer with local leaders where the outrages were reported, and ascertain the truth. The committee examined a number of witnesses, nearly all Republicans, and report not a single case was found where the Ku-Klux figured. A few disturbances had occurred and were generally traced to the militia.

WEATHER REPORT.

PROBABILITIES.

The barometer will probably again fall in Northwest and an area of high barometer will move from Wisconsin eastward, followed by low pressure and threatening weather. The brisk winds on Lake Michigan will probably extend to Lake Huron and Erie to-night, and the conditions remain favorable for rain on Wednesday in the South Atlantic and Gulf States. Partially cloudy and clearing weather in the Middle and Eastern States, with light rain on the coasts in the morning.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The area of low barometer which crossed Monday afternoon on Lake Michigan, after moving eastward to Lake Ontario, has to-day extended over New England, and the barometer has fallen quite rapidly on the middle Atlantic coast. It is also quite low in the Southern and Gulf States, and has risen during the day from Lake Erie northward west. Threatening weather has prevailed from New England to the Gulf to-day; rain has been reported only at few northern stations. The clearing weather of last night on the upper lakes is again followed by cloudy and threatening weather. Fresh southwesterly winds are reported from New York to Virginia and brisk northerly winds from Missouri to upper Michigan.

MISCELLANEOUS INTELLIGENCE.

New York, Sept. 19.—The committee of seventy has just had a meeting and adopted resolutions sustaining Mr. Green. The latter has issued a card in which he says on the bonds and stocks of the corporation falling due on November 1st, will be paid by the City Chamberlain in the new certificates on that day, and that the transfer books will be closed Wednesday.

A letter from Richard O'Gorman to Mayor Hall, says in relation to the action of the latter, concerning the matter of the Controller's office, he should be governed more by consideration of expediency and sound policy, than by those of merely strictly legal or legal power. He cannot advise Mayor Hall to take any step that may lead to complicated litigation, or even hits to treat Connolly as Controller. If he does not think he is entitled to fill the office de jure, treat him as Controller de facto. This course he thinks will prevent financial difficulties, and the continuance of that reckless, incidentally of insecurity, which a prolonged legal controversy would intensify.

Richard O'Gorman, Mayor Hall's counsel, writes another letter to Mayor Hall, saying, in reply to the demand of Judge Barnard and others, in which he claims that the public failing to remunerate him have left him in the lurch, and that the expenses of some of the bills, have accrued by the committee, and paid out of the city fund. It seems to him that the committee take effective action in the matter, and the expenses, if sufficient evidence of fraud can be found, will be paid out of the fund. He asks for fraud to be proven. Mayor Hall responds substantially, hoping for support in the discharge of his duties, and he will perform his duty regardless of the consequences of outside duty, and of the consequences of outside duty.

New York, Sept. 19.—The Evening Post says: It is said Mr. Barnard left town with a view from the city for several days was not consented by the Mayor so to do appointment of Mr. Hillman, and that he has not favored violent steps in connection with Mr. Green. It appears generally, on the rumors, that some connected several of the party leaders, and all agreed there was no necessity for dismissing Green.

Sunday accordingly has written a letter, as rumor claims, to be drawn to all the citizens of Orleans, and that to accept the resignation of Commissioner Wheeler, McCullagh, it appears, that he should authorize the chief of Connolly to appoint Gen. Connolly, and the Commissioner has taken leave in the office, and that the people of the Government go on as usual. It is said that Connolly accepts the service and recognizes Green as Acting Comptroller.

A committee of the Tweed Council Association called on Tweed this evening and tendered him of their entire confidence in his integrity, and offer assistance in their continued support.

Tweed expressed himself willing to invite the most searching investigation of all his public acts.

New York, Sept. 19.—Theodore Wallstedt, the celebrated tenor, made his American debut at the Stadt Theatre last night.

The races at Fleetwood Park yesterday were won by Lady Beatrice and Monarch. A man named Thomas Andrie is said to be under arrest, charged with complicity in the death of the victim from the Coroner's inquest.

New York, Sept. 19.—Arrived: Merrimac, Rio de Janeiro, China, Saxonia, Magnolia and Georgia.

Cincinnati, Sept. 19.—The President was received by the military, police and Fire Department this morning. At noon he was introduced on Change, spoke briefly, expressing gratification at the manner of the reception from the people, and all the more because it was from the people of a great nation, and not from those of a divided country.

Charleston, Sept. 19.—One fever death in the last 48 hours.

The Board of Health, after a thorough examination of the sanitary condition of the city, publish the following statement: Cases of yellow fever, which show the city to be in a remarkably healthy condition, even when compared to years when no yellow fever existed. The number of cases of yellow fever in spite of treatment does not exceed an average of twenty a week, and the number of persons sick from other causes is astonishingly low.

San Francisco, Sept. 19.—A great fire is raging in Virginia City, Nevada, and has already extended an eighth of a mile.

Memphis, Sept. 19.—A special to the Daily Press says Gov. Brown is improving to-day, and strong hopes are entertained for his recovery.

San Francisco, Sept. 19.—Adolphus Cohen, the astrologer, and Dr. Knapp, charged with abortion, were discharged on a nolle prosequi, the Attorney General recording the evidence of the decease, because Cohen gave she did not believe herself dying.

Baltimore, Sept. 19.—The tri-annual Conclave of Grand Encampment of Knight Templars commenced here to-day. The conclave took place in the Masonic Temple. The special of warrant was read by John H. Hopkins, G. C. of Md. and A. G. M. of Md., and was responded to by Sir Knight Wm. Sewall Gardner, G. C. of the Grand Encampment of the United States. The entire city is decorated with Masonic emblems.

Lowell, Mass., Sept. 19.—The small-pox still continues and to-day are mentioned fatal cases. A temporary hospital has been erected. A red flag by day and a red lighted by night is used to designate the infected place.

Baltimore, Sept. 19.—President Grant has accepted an invitation to visit the Cantrell County, M. D., Agricultural fair on October 4.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 19.—The Grand Jury for the Third District were empaneled this morning. All polygamists were excused, and the Mormon journals are very bitter on the United States law officers in the Territory. Chief Justice McKean, in his address to the Grand Jury said: "You are summoned not to try criminal cases, but to say what criminal cases shall be tried for trial. In the discharge of this duty you will be governed by the same principles of law which govern Grand Juries in Maine and Montana, in Georgia and Arizona. The principles of law are everywhere applicable throughout the Republic."

The crimes of bigamy, arson, larceny, bigamy, adultery and not, in Utah, are not unknown throughout the Christian dominion. If bigamy is peculiar in the situation in Utah is in the peculiar conduct in some men here and not any peculiar principle of law. Utah belongs to the United States, and those who obey its laws must and shall be protected in their rights; and those who do not must answer to the law of justice; and those men of influence who in process diligently trample on the laws themselves, cannot be allowed for others to do so should be the first to feel the firm grip of the law rather than the feeble one of the law.
