Sixth District,	EDWARD SPARROW.

NEW-ORLEANS:
FRIDAY MORNING JULY 19, 1844.

THE LEGISLATURE AND CONVENTION.

Now that the battle is over and the smoke cleared away, we are enabled to present a detailed statement of the results. With respect to the political opinions of all the members elected, we will known, and easily classified; but of those chosen as delegates to the Convention, several are yet in doubt, some were not run on party grounds, and consequently the result cannot be arrived at with perfect accuracy, and can scarcely be considered a fair test of the political sentiments of a majority of the State.

SENATE.

The following members were elected this year to the Senate.

	WHIG.	LOCOFOCO.
Plaquemine St. Bernard,		M. White
St Charles and St John	Felix Garcia	Levadoux
St James and Ascension	D. F. Kenner
Lafourche, co. St Helena, Livingston, St. Tammany & Washington	Allen
Ouachita, Caldwell, &c	Daniel Edwards (gain)
Opelousas co. Rapides co.	Moran ev Jaques Dupré	Hermanson

The SENATE consists of 17 members. Last year they stood, 10 locofocos, 7 whigs. This year the whigs gained a Senator, so that parties are divided, 9 locofocos, 8 whigs. The election of Mr. Monroe to Congress, causes a vacancy in the county of Attakapas, so that the Senate now stands 8 whigs, 8 locofocos, with every prospect of the election of a whig in Attakapas, giving us a majority in that body for the first time in many years.

* Mr. SCOTT cannot be considered a locofoco having been run as a conservative against Farrar, radical.

† Conservative.

We believe this statement to be freer from errors than any yet offered. We have taken great pains in making it up, and obtained positive information in regard to several members, such, for instance, as Messrs. Burton and Brumfield. It is seen that parties are so nearly divided as possible in the Convention. The radicals, properly speaking, will not number more than 25. The Convention, generally, is composed of men of high intelligence, undoubted patriotism and mature experience, and the people may expect at their hands, reform not destruction—the correction of imperfect abuses and error, not the overthrow of our institutions.

LIBERAL BEQUESTS.—James Cox, Esq., for forty years Cashier of the Bank of Baltimore, died a few days ago. He has, by his will, made the following liberal bequests, besides leaving a large amount to his family connections:—

To the Baltimore Female Orphan Asylum,	$2,000
American Bible Society,	1,000
Baltimore Manual Labor School,	2,000
Board of Foreign Missions, (Presbyterian)	1,000
Maryland Sunday School Union,	500
Presbyterian Board of Education,	500

REPRIEVED.—The United States District Attorney in St. Louis received official information on the 11th instant, of a reprieve having been granted to John McDonald and Jacob Brown, convicted of the Clarris murder, and the sentence commuted on the 19th inst.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

☞ Coroner Davis yesterday, held an inquest upon the body of a man named Marcus Dunn, who fell suddenly dead at the corner of Philippe street and Triton Walk, from a coup de soleil. Verdict accordingly.

CRIMINAL COURT.—The Grand Jury yesterday, found true bills of indictment against John Burden, for larceny, and John Vaughan, f. m. c., for remaining in the State in contravention to law. Vaughan was arraigned before the Judge, and wished to enter a plea of guilty, but in consequence of having been previously convicted of a similar charge, the Court instructed him to withdraw the plea of guilty and enter one of not guilty, as the penalty under the law if convicted, is imprisonment for life.

Vincent Clark was brought into Court, in virtue of a writ of habeas corpus, wherein it is set forth that he had been illegally imprisoned by order of Recorder Genous, in the Workhouse of Municipality No. One, and praying that the Court would order his release from custody. It will be recollected that Clark, who was in the Parish Prison on a charge of having in his possession a large amount of counterfeit money, was discharged from custody on Tuesday last, by order of the Attorney General, in consequence of certain disclosures made to that functionary by him, and was again arrested on the same evening by Capt. Youenes, as a dangerous and suspicious character, and upon being brought before Recorder Genous, was sentenced, in default of finding a voucher for his future good behavior, in the sum of $2,000, to 30 days confinement in the Workhouse. The case was argued by the District Attorney and J. G. Sewer, Esqr. in favor of the prisoner, and E. A. Cannon, Esq., on the part of the municipal authorities.

The Court decided that the contract between the functionaries of that Court and the prisoner had been fulfilled as soon as the prisoner had been discharged from custody—that the Recorder had the power to cause the prisoner to be arrested as a dangerous character and was authorized by law, in case he could not find security for his good behavior, to commit him to the Workhouse for 30 days, under the vagrant law, it being the first offence; that he had evinced the commitment and found it to be correct—and the Court did not feel itself willing or authorized to constitute itself as a Court of Appeals from the acts and decisions of the various Recorder's Courts in the city, the prisoner had a right to demand a trial by jury, and if the charge of vagrancy was not established, he would undoubtedly be released from custody.

The Court refused to grant the prayer of the petitioner, and ordered him back to prison.

THE PHILADELPHIA RIOTS.

All was quiet at the latest dates from Philadelphia—We subjoin from the United States Gazette and North American various items which serve to show the condition of the city up to the morning of the 10th inst.

From the Philadelphia North American July 10.

There was no disorder during yesterday, but it is quiet to be not from healthy peace, that greater order which denotes a contented and well regulated community.

Various rumors were afloat through the day, generally of a very absurd nature, and not worth repetition in Southwark the excitement of the public mind was very great. It was reported that quiet preparations were going on to resist any attempt to execute the law, understood to be still in the possession of the insurgents St. Philip's Church continued in the undisturbed possession of the military, placed in it by the authorities of the district. The interest seemed to have been almost wholly transferred from the Church to the military, and the question whether the first fire upon the mob was justified.

On this point we have already expressed our views. We believe it not for the law to argue against them. Whoever mingles with a riotous assemblage identifies himself under certain circumstances, with it. These circumstances exist, when it is requisite for public peace that the rioters, who are called upon to disperse, if they disregard the warning. Penalties for the duty may be, the government of every State owes to the bulk of the people, to the public tranquillity and existence of legitimate authority, to maintain the supremacy of law at all hazards.

The insurgents have been employed during the day in preparing ammunition; and have set real pieces of artillery as well as small arms secreted in various places in readiness for the attack upon the military. A considerable change in public sentiment has however taken place, and it is believed that the mass of the concerning as the citizens become better informed of the facts connected with this unfortunate affair.

An incident on Sunday night.—The circumstances of the capture of one of the cannon from the mob on Sunday night has already been noticed, but not with that particularity which the gallantry of the troop performing the service deserves. The most severe fire from the artillery of the insurgents was at Cornman and Third streets. The Washington Cavalry of Holmesburg was ordered to capture the piece. They rode in the direction, and when approaching the spot were fired upon. First Lieut. Richard Wagner was wounded in the thigh. Sword protcuses, and he was forced to leave the ranks, and move a little separated from them he was fired upon, a volley of muskets being apparently directed particularly at him. A ball passed through his hand and two spent balls struck his body. His horse received sixteen wounds at the same moment.

Finding himself a mark, Lieut. Wagner again fell in with the troop, and they had proceeded a little distance when the horse stumbled and left over a rope stretched across the street. Private Loudon was so badly hurt, and about the same time private Williams was wounded in the hand by a bullet. The troop, however, charged up to the cannon a mouth, and at the instant an attempt was made to drag the piece, but missed fire. The mob then dispersed and the troop took possession of the gun. Their conduct was in all respects excellent, and the troop never was well tested under trying circumstances. We tell the tale as it was told to us.

[From the U. S. Gazette.]

COUNTY BOARD—The County Board, yesterday, appropriated THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS towards defraying the expenditure by the Sheriff, arising out of the riot in Southwark.

Inquest—The Coroner, on Monday and yesterday, held inquests on the bodies of the following persons, who were killed by the shots fired on Sunday night, in Southwark, viz:

James Dougherty, Henry S. Troutman, William Crozier, John Cook, Gerhard Eberes, Isaac Freed, James Linenhiger.

The jurors rendered verdicts that they came to their death by gun shots, inflicted by the troops under the command of General Cadwalader, on the night of the 7th instant.

BIT or seven companies from distant points were in the city actually engaged in military duties.

THE WAY THEY DO IT.—The Nashville Union has been boasting of two changes to Locofocoism in Tennessee. The names of the persons are given as Orville Bradley and W. A. Lindsay, both of East Tennessee. The Knoxville Post thus disposes of these men:

How long will the Locofocos continue to boast over the change of Orville Bradley? He deserted the Whig party three years ago, and continues one of the two Van men in the Eastern Tennessee, (the other resided in Murfreesborough, and was a candidate for Congress in 1843), being an ultra nullifier he is of course in favor of Col. Polk for the Presidency.

The other individual (Mr. Lindsay) was for Van Buren in 1840, and for James K. Polk in 1843. He never gave a Whig vote in his life."

The Locofoco papers, generally, are making a great noise at what they call desertions from the Whigs, by several persons in Pittsburg. They forget to tell the people that these so-called deserters are abolitionists, men who never belonged to the Whig party in fact, and now declare their determination to vote for Binney, the abolition candidate for President. How much does Mr. Polk gain by this?

EVEN NEW HAMPSHIRE is waking up. Think of 6,000 Whigs assembling at Manchester on the 4th instant and being addressed by the best orators of the Granite State. Let her make one vigorous effort to shake off the shackles of Locofocoism. Now is the appointed time. If New Hampshire cannot drop locofocoism now, it will cling to her half a century longer.

We trust that no locofoco is too crabbed to laugh at this advertisement from the Southport (Wisconsin Territory) American:—

REWARD!!—"Fugitive from Justice!

Escaped from the custody of the Locofoco Party, by whom he was held, prisoner, to await the Vetoes, at which the Whigs of the Union were preparing to visit upon him, a little fat Dutchman, known by the name of Martin Van Buren, alias Little Magician, alias Fox of Kinderhook, alias Sage of Lindenwold, alias Slippery Elm. He had on when he escaped, a free trade coat, and small clothes, an anti annexation cloak, and a hat sadly battered by service in the campaign of '40. A liberal reward will be paid for his return to the keeping of said Locofoco party, or to Thos. Hart Benton, High Sheriff of 'Old Hickory,' where "justice" can be administered upon his head. As strong suspicions are indulged that he has been Polked off by foul play, a further liberal reward will be paid for the discovery and apprehension of the aiders and abettors in the nefarious transaction.

THE SAME OLD COON.

LOG CABIN,—Idee of May.

A NEW SAFETY BARE LOCK.—We feel warranted in saying that a perfect security against burglars has at last been attained, by the production of a new Changeable Combination Lock, recently patented by our ingenious townsman, Mr. H. C. Jones, and Mr. Wm. Hall, of Boston. We had the pleasure of seeing it taken to pieces yesterday under circumstances which warrant the belief that it cannot be picked or opened with any other key whatever, that ingenuity can contrive, but the one that has locked it. It is believed to be in some material particulars an improvement upon any lock that has yet been offered to the public in Europe or America, and the various securities it affords to the owner seems to place it beyond the fear of a robbery. We may add, that it is so constructed, that the owner may so change the parts as to place it beyond the knowledge or skill of the maker himself, and hence the name—Changeable Lock.

Be entirely confident of its entire safety are the patentees, that Mr. Jones offers a reward of $500 to any one who will open it without the use of the key which has locked it, even after being permitted to take it apart and making a thorough examination of its construction; and to enjoy to make the offer still more liberal, the person who will undertake to win the reward is allowed a fortnight to experiment upon it.—Newark Advertiser.

PRIZE SONG.

The Boston Clay Club No. 1, lately offered a premium of $50 for the best whig song to the tune of the "The Brave Old Oak." The premium was awarded for the following spirited, graphic lines, from the pen of ex-Judge Bacon, of Berkshire—[illegible] a vigorous set on of the old revolutionary democratic whig stock of that quarter:

THE OLD ASHLAND TREE.

BY EZEKIEL BACON.

TUNE—"The Brave Old Oak."

A song of the Rage, the brave old Sage,
We have known and honored long,
While fame and renown have encircled his crown,
With garlands enduring and strong.
There was fear in his frown, when his eye looked down
On the hosts who assailed his sway,
And he rose in his might, mid the storms of the night,
And held the fair ship safe at bay.

Let us sing of the Sage, the brave old Sage,
Who stands in his glory alone!
And still stands he, as he stands oak tree,
When Linden would sighing are gone.

Over the years of his youth, whose honor and truth
As his star ascended the sky,
It still will be bright! We see round the horizon gleams,
A corona the clear light from on high.
We will sing to the day, when he moved on his way,
With Patriots and Sages of Yore,
Now gone to their rest in the land of the blest,
And he stands in the world alone.

Still we sing—time wears—the Ashland sage,
Yet standing unscathed and safe.
And long may it last, the sign-post to Boston true,
When the time our foes at gaze!

As the cedar's strong hold, he struck his root firm
When mounted the station of war;
When for—on was rife, the world rent with strife,
And invasion came from afar,
The barrows of Lee held Britons at bay,
With Marion afloat on the wave,
Not more for the right—nor more in sight,
And burden of toil fortune's to bear.

Then a song for the Sage, the time-honored Sage,
Yet towering in fame and renown;
There long shall he stand—the pride of the land,
Bulwarking as ever he shone

PITTSFIELD, May 29, 1844.

☞ One of the Mexican war steamers was taken up on the Sectional dock at New York, on the 8th instant. Her bottom says the correspondent of the North American, presenting the appearance of an oyster bed, a mass of them moved with grass some seven inches long, covering the material of her bottom entirely. The cost of repairing the two steamers is estimated at $150,000.

☞ We are indebted to Monnas, of the Literary Depot, Exchange Place, for the July number of Graham's Magazine. It is splendidly embellished, and contains the usual variety of original matter.
