Art. 2. This company shall consist of eighteen men and an officer commanding, and be subject to the immediate orders of the mayor.

Art. 5. The men composing it shall be armed with a sabre, and a pair of pistols, which they shall carry in their belts, and shall furnish themselves with horses and shall be bound also to provide their keeping; and the said horses must always be in good conditions for service.

Art. 6. The commanding officer as well as the men composing the guard shall repair to the guard-house designated by the mayor, every evening at 8 o'clock precisely; at that hour the said officer shall cause three patroles consisting of three men each to march off; one to patrol the square of the city, an other the faubourg St. Mary, and the third the faubourg Marigny; these three patroles are not to return to the guard-house until half an hour after midnight; at that hour three other patroles of three men each shall be marched off to relieve the patroles returning to the guard house, and shall perform the same services in the square of the city, the faubourg St. Mary and the faubourg Marigny as the others. In the course of their patroles the said horse-guards shall have the same powers and attributes as are allowed to the foot guards of the city. At day-break the said patroles are to return to their guard-house.

Art. 7. The officer commanding, must every day at the opening of the mayor's office make to him an exact report of the patroles for the night, and shall receive such orders as the mayor shall think proper to give him.

Art. 8. In case of the sickness of any man of the said guard, he must find another man, at his own expense, to replace him, and in case of the sickness of any horse, an other horse must be furnished at the expense of his owner.

Art. 9. The men composing said guard shall be appointed by the mayor; and the officier by the mayor and City Council.

Art. 10. In case of negligence in their duties the said men shall upon the report of their commanding officer be dismissed by the mayor, if he thinks the circumstances of the case require it, and which is left entirely to his discretion.

Art. 11. The duty of the officer commanding shall be to repair, exactly every evening to the guard-house designated by the mayor, to ascertain that the men repair thither at the precise hour, to march off the patroles, confide the command of them to one of the three men of each, whom he shall judge most fit for that purpose; to visit himself, once every night, the city and faubourgs to assure himself that the duties of the patroles are well performed and finally to maintain the necessary order and discipline in the said guard.

Art. 12. The allowances to the commanding officer are and remain fixed at $—those of each man of said guard at that of $—payable at the expiration of each month.

Art. 13. In case of the sickness of the officer commanding the mayor is and remains authorized to appoint one for replacing him, also shall during his time of service be intitled to the same allowances as the officer originally appointed and be bound to perform the same duties.

Art. 14. The mayor is and remains charged to attend to the faithful execution of the dispositions of this ordinance, and in case of negligence on the part of the officer commanding, the mayor is authorized to make a report of it to the Council who shall report, in that respect, according to the circumstances which shall be submitted to them.

Art. 15. The said guard shall enter upon its duties on the 1st. of November next, and shall remain in actual service until the — of May 1830, at which epoch the mayor is to reduce and discharge it.

☞ A respectable Mercantile House of this city has had the politeness to loan us a file of the Censor of Vera Cruz up to the 9th ult. inclusive; the last Mexican dates are of the 3d. These papers contain many interesting articles. We content ourselves, for the present, to give a summary only.

In a proclamation of the 22d of Sept. which breathes the purest patriotism, the President addresses to the army, its officers and to the people generally, felicitations on the happy result of the campaign against the invading army, and felicitates himself that during his presidency the Spaniards have received a lesson that must oblige them forever to renounce all ideas of the reconquest of Mexico—he terminates by stating that the recent discomfiture of the Spaniards will probably cause foreign nations to recognise the Independance of Mexico. A consequence that would seem probable even with Spain herself, were she governed by a man who understood her real interests.

The Legislature of the State of Vera-Cruz had voted thanks to Gen. Santa-Anna for his firm and efficient conduct at Tamaulipas. By a Decree of Sept. 21st the President of Mexico ordered the formation of an Establishment under the name of National Hospital for Invalids where will be received all such soldiers as are disabled, from wounds received in the service, from further serving their country. An unoccupied convent has been selected for that purpose; funds are provided for its support, and one vestibule is reserved for the deposit of the arms of all generals killed in battle, and also for the preservations of all trophies taken from the enemy. It will be perceived that President Guerrero has made the most satisfactory use of the high power entrusted to him and must ever be entitled to the gratitude of the Mexican people for the many improvements he has already perfected and is continually projecting.

According to an article in the Correo de la Federacion (a journal published in Mexico) it appears that the President will shortly convene Congress for the express intention of resigning the dictatorial power entrusted with him, the safety of the state no longer requiring the exercise of it. Such wise conduct claims for him the greatest praise.

We would remark that the gazette above alluded to, being the property of Senor Lorenzo de Zavala, minister of finance, and always reporting with fidelity the opinions of Government, the article we have mentioned is very deserving of belief.

THE UNITED STATES AND SWEDEN.—The particulars of the correspondence between the Swedish Charge des Affaires, and our Secretary of State, on the subject of the condemnation of the vessel cut out of the harbor of St. Bartholomew, we are now inclined to think were erroneously stated in the N. York letter, of which we some days ago published an extract. We hear that the Representative of Sweden is far from entertaining any feeling on the subject, and that the affair is not likely to be the subject of misunderstanding between the two governments. We learn, from a source that we confide in, that Baron Stackelberg did protest against the decision of Judge Brackenridge in the case, and especially against the language of his decree towards the Swedish authorities; and that his protest was properly and respectfully received.—[Nat.
