ADVERTISEMENTS.

VARIETIES THEATRE.—The Ellie Wren Neef Hill combination are playing first-class plays to what, we are sorry to say, are second and third-rate houses. We do not see why this should be. While the lady-director herself is an actress of admirable talent, she is succeeded in ensembling around her a company, many of whose members are well-known to our playgoers. Some of them, indeed—Messrs. Curran, Gilbey and Bowes—for instance, have passed through the dust and shake of last winter's season, and have not failed to come out thereof with the reputation of having some "premium merits." The fact is, the new combination deserve larger houses; and we trust that they will get them.

To-night will be presented the exciting drama of "Lucretia Borgia" with Mrs. Ellie Wren Hoskin as Lucretia, Mr. E. B. Dalton as Don Alphonse, and Mr. J. F. Noyes as Gennaro. The force of "A Rise in the Dark" will conclude the performances.

The bloodied drama of the "Jewess" is announced for to-morrow evening. This play is intensely interesting, and has always been popular. In the hands of this company, we should judge that it will be well brought out.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Great bills are presented at to-day's Matinée, and the performance at night. The bills follow the Mobile plan. Mr. Albie Albie, will have the chance of conferring a real favor upon her by crowding the "Academy" at the Matinée. Albie will take her benefit, and the ladies and children should do their best to make it a running one. At night a grand programme and immense fun.

THE MERRY WIVES OF THE THEATRE.—On Monday evening, the new troupe, engaged by our friends, Messrs. Spaulding & Bidwell, will inaugurate the Summer season by appearing in the standard play of "Love's Sacrifice." We have been favored with a glance at the cast; and we find that the characters of Mathes Mercure and Margaret Shawe will be, respectively, in the hands of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Bates. We believe themselves to be equally artistic in common with those who attended the dramatic representation in Richmond in 1863-64, under what, after all, was the capable and energetic management of that queer genius, E. D'Orsay Ogden. We shall be glad to see Mr. and Mrs. Bates (the latter, by the way, being a sister of the talented Ellie Wren Neefness) on the stage again.

Looking further over the list, we see the name of the lively and piquant Comedienne, Miss Martha Wren, who it will be remembered raised so many hearty laughs at the "Academy" last summer. The old "St. Charles" favorites Mr. F. B. Williams and Mr. Jas. Reich and the popular young comedian, Mr. Harry Wren, are also engaged, and are cast for Love's "Sacrifice." The company appears to be a large one, and embraces, besides the artists mentioned above, the names of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Tunnicliff, Miss Hennessy, Miss Emma Forrest and Messrs. Coulfield, Manly and Sandford, and Mr. Fred. Wren. We have heard something, too, of Dolly Davenport's inimitable sketch in the "Academy" Troupe; but "Dolly" is smiling over the laurels of the Attaché for his health, and there is no saying when he will return.

This is a fair—a very fair showing, indeed. We have every reason therefore to anticipate a brilliant season at the "Academy."

Mobile and Blue Commodored Steeds.

The Mobile Times undertakes to expose the ridiculous pulling under which the trade of that city is directly and indirectly taxed so heavily that much of it is diverted to rival cities. The Times says:

We are now preparing, with the assistance of some of our leading merchants, a comparative list of the amount of the annual sales of the North and West, and we will establish that three thousand pounds of bacon are transported a distance of 1,000 miles, from St. Louis to Mobile, at a cost of $12, when the same quantity from Mobile to Enterprise, one hundred and twenty miles, costs $20.

We know not where the fault lies—but that such a difference exists, is an undeniable fact.

To-day, three rivals are in the field, competing for business. Behind the valuable lands of the Alabama valley which nature intended should have no outlet but our port.

Memphis, over a thousand miles from the sea, our railroad and cotton is the most valuable part of what should be our foreign exports.

New Orleans, accessible through Grant's Pass to the navigable cities of the interior, receives half of our cotton and Pensacola through the Pollard road and the projected one to Texas, will draw to itself most of the produce of our Eastern counties.

To cap the climax, a tax on green mules is suggested, which, driven away from Mobile, would make, for the interior, a quicker market than Selma, or the interior in another market and Alabama, Mississippi and West Tennessee, which should be natural tributaries to our shores, are stimulated to seek in the far West.

CHARGES DEFICIENT IN MERCHANDISE.—The Mobile Register of the 10th says: We are permitted to publish the following extract from letter received by the other partner of a wholesale and retail dry goods firm at Columbus, Miss., to Messrs. Strauss & Dyson, of this city:

"The rains and cold weather continue, and we regret to inform you that we are difficulted; there can be no doubt or mistake upon this subject. The crop is defective, and what will be produced will be very small, and of inferior quality. Thousands of acres are already gone beyond the hope of redemption. If seed could be had, which is many miles in the south of the country, it will be the middle of May or later before it could be planted. With the decided prospect of a very limited crop, and the gloomy prospect of every of little more to be largely in debt, we are writing to give you a timely intimation, and not for effect, as you are aware we deal very little in cotton.

A IMPORTANT NEGOTIATION.—Washington, May 3.—It is stated that a negotiation or consideration, of the most considerable importance with the Mexican Minister here, which involves the question, to certain leading American capitalists, of the entire pecuniary and material Colonization for colonization purposes, and to secure the development of the mineral wealth of that territory. The Maximilian Government, in return, for an interest in the proceeds of the enterprise, but it is understood that the negotiation will be conducted by the parties, who have assumed and agreed to advance $1,000,000, in cash, and that this will be of important service to the Liberal cause.

The names of the following gentlemen appear in the newspapers as holding the privileges in proof for the parties: Jacob P. Leslie, Benjamin Ogden, Alexander Wilkins, William G. Hawkins, William R. Traynor, S. L. M. Barlow, Hilary Herbert and Edward S. Sheldard.

RED RIVER.—The Shreveport News of the 5th says:

We have taken the city in on the rise again. The river has risen about 3 feet since Friday, and shows fair to come on apace of the heavy rains the past few nights.

The severest rain and hail storm we ever saw fell here on yesterday morning between day and sunrise. Quite a heavy hail fell, and much injury has been caused by the wind. We depend, the crops also are severely injured.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

Theatrical.—Out of curiosity for the first time this season we stepped in last evening at the Olympic which the indefatigable management and versatile actress Mrs. Charley Howard has replaced for the Summer season. We found the arrangements well adapted for the warm weather, and the performances correspondingly refreshing, particularly when participated in by Mrs. H. herself as the accomplished charmer. We cannot really forget how unsparingly she used to delight the habitués of the Variétés before the war. By the way, we will do Miss Carlotta Stacy, who appears in the what we might term the memorabilia of the Olympic, the favor to announce that she takes her benefit this evening.

Steamboats Burned.—The St. Louis packet Maria Denning, caught fire last before 11 o'clock, last night, on the other side of the river, opposite the foot of Carondelet street, and was entirely consumed. The Maria Denning was a very old craft, and if we mistake not the Adams also.

MONETARY AND FINANCIAL.

FRIDAY EVENING, May 11, 1866.

The commercial world is quiet, with a material advance in several articles of Western Produce, and a much more active movement in our leading staple, the day's business reaching 5000 bales, and the total sales more than the sales of the first three days of the week. The effect of this movement was apparent in an increased activity in Gold Exchange, which, as we will see from the details below, rated at very high figures, the decided advantage of the shipper. The market was also strengthened by encouraging intelligence from Liverpool, and particularly with regard to the probable effect of the late disastrous crevasses, and by the falling off in the receipts.

The Gold market opened with increased activity at 129¼, and after subsequently ranging as high as 129¾, closed at 129¼ bid, 129¾ asked, leaving, in fact, a little more than 1 per cent. in gold, or 2 per cent. in currency, for the week. The sales amounted to $5000, $8000, $10,000 and $15,000 at 129¼; $20,000, $40000 at 129¾; $2500, $5000 and $7000 at 130; $14,000 at 130¼, and $15,000 at 130½. In Silver we noticed sales of $1300 in American at 129 and 129¼. Dealers pay 117 to 118 for the small amounts offered at their counters, and sell at 120. A lot of 800 Mexican dollars sold at 1 per cent premium for gold. There is a good demand for Sterling Exchange, and the rates have ruled firmer, with sales at 109¼ to 109¾ for Bankers' bills, and 109¾ to 110 for Commercial. The supply of Sterling is rather more liberal, and, under the influence of the accounts from New York, drawers realized full rates, the sales of Sterling including £5,000 and £6,000 at a premium of good clear at 109¾, £9,000 and two additional sums at 110; £6,000 A 1 to first class at 140, 141 and 141½, mostly at 140 for A 1; and a miscellaneous amount at 140½ and 141. Francs are rather weaker, the sales including 6,000 francs, and 12,000 francs, at 5 francs 20 centimes, and 5 francs 20 centimes, and 5 francs 20 centimes, and
