MICHAUX FRECKLE WASH. This remedy for freckles is a discovery of Dr Charles Michaux, of Lambourg, formerly professor of anatomy at Liege, in Flanders, and is believed to be one of the best antidotes ever discovered for removing freckles and other blemishes of the skin—as also tetter eruptions, morphew, &c. In using it, nothing further is necessary than to bathe the skin affected, night and morning, and wiping it dry with a towel; if it slightly inflames the skin, it may suffice to use it but once in 24 hours. ASPHALTUM OR GUM SESSEL.—The subscriber, agent for the New York Asphaltum Company of SESSEL, ASPHALTUM, has the honor to inform proprietors and contractors, that he can, for the future, in conformity with his contract, and on requisition, engaged him with the above mentioned Gum Asphaltum, in any quantity, at the rate of 50 per 100 lbs, with all necessary instructions.

This Asphaltum (already well known here) is a natural substance, which resists so strongly the action of the air, cold, fire and water, yet is impenetrable by them, and instead of being injured by them, it becomes impenetrable; it can be procured in any quantity, and is in general use for roofs, floors, cisterns, vaults, kitchens, stables, pavements, to resist the corrosion of horses, the tracks, flooring of bridges, &c. These samples, the specimens in the Exposition at Boston, &c.

Is a valuable natural cement admirably adapted to cementing wood, adhesive to joining stones, marbles, and all other materials, supposed to the action of water. Its preparation is extremely simple and within the capability of every one. Since it only requires to melting it in a kettle, and adding to it a little tallow, it is to be regretted that the Asphaltum, when brought to market many years, was quite at hand, and beyond the reach of the common people. Stronger and more durable than any other cement, it is a corrugated substance, which resists the action of the air, and is unimpaired in the slightest degree, and other substances much more subject to perishable than pitch.

In France the government has caused to be covered with Asphaltum all subterranean vaults, cellars and other places, which are subject to dampness and filtration, which is much more subject to perishable than pitch.

Its preparation is extremely simple and within the capability of every one. Since it only requires to melting it in a kettle, and adding to it a little tallow, it is to be regretted that the Asphaltum, when brought to market many years, was quite at hand, and beyond the reach of the common people. Stronger and more durable than any other cement, it is a corrugated substance, which resists the action of the air, and is unimpaired in the slightest degree, and other substances much more subject to perishable than pitch.

In France the government has caused to be covered with Asphaltum all subterranean vaults, cellars and other places, which are subject to dampness and filtration, which is much more subject to perishable than pitch.

Further particulars enquire of Mr. Gum and Sessel, Exchange Alley, between St Louis and Conti streets, or to M GRENIER TETU.
