Offers customization of the electronic forms to meet your specific needs

Enables you to take advantage of the benefits of dynamic electronic forms

The many benefits of electronic forms are now even easier to add to your organization. With PrePAC Plus, a library of commonly used electronic forms in Advanced Function Printing* (AFP*) format, you can replace your existing preprinted forms quickly and simply.

PrePAC Plus, part of the ServicePAC family of AFP offerings, includes cross-industry forms such as federal and state tax forms, as well as industry-specific forms such as those for hospitals and companies using the Mapics business software.

If you are currently using these forms in preprinted format, you may realize significant benefits by utilizing PrePAC Plus along with AFP technology.

Benefits of Electronic Forms

The printed document is your organization's principal communication with your clients. Decreasing the cost of this communication and, more importantly, increasing the effectiveness can provide you with a significant edge.

Electronic forms can:

- Reduce your cost. Plain paper is far less costly than preprinted forms.
- Reduce your storage and inventory management costs.
- Eliminate the costs of obsolete forms or, even better, change your forms more frequently so that your business documents are more timely and effective.
- Decrease operator time. Managing preprinted forms takes far more time and intervention than using plain paper with electronic forms.
- Provide design and control flexibility. Change your electronic forms as often as you like. With the capabilities of AFP, you can change your forms on the fly, such as modifying the message and content of your forms based on application data.

How PrePAC Plus Works

PrePAC Plus forms have been designed and produced by the IBM Application Solutions Group. Once you have reviewed the electronic form samples and determined that they meet your requirements, contact the IBM ASG. The selected forms will be pulled from the archive, compiled in your system format, proof printed, packaged and shipped to you. Your package will include a comprehensive set of instructions.

Normally, if you are replacing a pre-printed form with an identical electronic one, implementation is easy.

Customizing PrePAC Plus Forms

In some cases, PrePAC Plus forms will not match your application needs. For example, there are many versions of certain federal tax forms. You may
