IBM Network Printer Supplies

IBM® Network Printer supplies are engineered specifically to complement IBM's line of monochrome laser printers for the office, providing a complete set of laser printing solutions for small, medium and large workgroups.

Protect Your Investment

IBM printer supplies and the IBM Network Printers produce superior image quality and reliable performance at a competitive price. We design and manufacture a full line of printing supplies to meet high-quality standards, thereby optimizing the performance of your printers and delivering exceptional print quality.

To achieve the optimal performance from your IBM Network Printer, use genuine IBM toner cartridges, fuser and photoconductor supplies.

Superior Products

IBM Network Printer supplies are manufactured within stringent quality control standards. As a result, they provide consistent, superior print quality and are easy to use.

IBM printer supplies, combined with IBM Network Printer hardware, deliver richer looking documents with remarkable images. This produces excellent contrast and clean pages: whiter whites and blacker blacks. The crisp, clear and sharp documents offer high quality at an affordable price.

Small Planet—Large Concern™

IBM is committed to supporting environmentally conscious initiatives, such as a program to recycle and remanufacture network printer supplies. Customer participation in this program assists IBM in optimizing the resources of our planet by recycling used IBM supply items. We have established a collection mechanism for used network printer cartridges to promote refurbishing, reuse or recycling. The IBM supply item packaging includes postage-paid return labels.

Yields

Average yields are based on a print coverage of 5%. These yields are not a warranty or guarantee of minimum life, but are provided to assist in supplies management. Many factors, such as print coverage per page, paper type and size, printer settings, and other environmental conditions, can affect supply life.

Commitment to Quality

When you purchase IBM-branded printer supplies, you purchase IBM's commitment to excellence. Our supplies are under warranty specifically for defects in materials and workmanship at the time of shipment and installation. Supplies that do not meet warranty terms can be returned to the purchase location for replacement.
