E86   IMS Web-Access Application Considerations
Ken Blackman

The Web has enabled new business processing and has opened access to your IMS systems. This presentation reviews the technology that can be used to build Web applications and what are the considerations when IMS is integrated into the solution. It provides an overview of Web technology and then focuses on specific examples on how your IMS application systems can participate in a Web-based solution. This topic also discusses the impact on your existing IMS application workload.
