

Maxwell Systems, Inc.

Maxwell Solutions Suite

Business Challenge

Construction and property management businesses need reliable, fully integrated software solutions that they can depend on to manage those businesses efficiently and profitably. And those customers need a proven industry leader that will support them with training, implementation support and specialized knowledge in the construction and property management industries.

Solution Description

Maxwell Systems provides a family of construction and property management solutions to suit any size organization. The solutions include:

Integrated Construction:

Maxwell Systems Integrated Construction Solution provides contractors the ability to see a day's profit potential at a glance, identify and prevent potential financial losses, spot discrepancies and errors, and manage projects with accurate information in real time. With end-to-end visibility of every project, executives can hone business strategy, improve control of cash flow, and keep financials in the black with accurate ROI.

Construction Business Management:

Only when the accounting infrastructure ties together every aspect of a construction project can contractors discover the benefits of an integrated, industry-specific accounting solution. The suite includes American Construction for general contractors; Management Suite for subcontracting, specialty trades and service; and StreetSmarts for heavy construction.

Quest Estimating:

QuestMX is the right solution for residential, commercial, subcontracting, specialty, heavy/highway, underground utilities and sitework estimating. Quest Earthwork was designed with general sitework contractors in mind.

Colonial:

Colonial™ is a comprehensive solution for property managers and developers and helps them achieve operational efficiencies, cost reductions, and increased profits. Colonial handles four key areas: property, construction, financial, and forecasting and budget management.

Value Proposition

Maxwell Systems, Inc. helps thousands of construction and property management businesses nationwide operate more efficiently and more profitably.
