Get in the 'frame

The mainframe: it's more than a big black box. You don't have to be trapped in a server room to appreciate the awesome power of System z[®] hardware and muscular middleware like IBM[®] CICS[®]; together we make a difference which is visible all around you. We keep the wheels turning in 23 countries and 75 different industries around the globe - from making sure that the world's largest banks stay up and running, to keeping university students in the loop through their mobile phones. The mainframe is everywhere, and it's here to stay. We don't need to tell you that having System z and CICS skills makes you a valuable asset to any employer - and the world. Whether you want to know about what's now and next on CICS and System z, brush up on your general knowledge, get hands on with the tech, or just meet some cool fellow 'framers, come along and see us in Las Vegas at Impact 2014.
