

CUSTOMER SUPPORT PLAN

Prepared for :

This document communicates IBM technical support available to you, the procedures for obtaining support, and information on contacting IBM.

You will find information on IBM e-support, hardware and software reporting procedures, escalation processes (including a chart defining severity levels), team members' roles and responsibilities, as well as information available by phone.

Overview of IBM Support Structure

From IBM's very largest customer to the individual consumer, the Web (<http://ibm.com/support>) is key to enabling e-relationships any time, day or night. Below is a bird's-eye view of IBM's customer support structure:

*"IBM ... continues to leverage its strengths as the most recognized brand in IT and as the company that can offer the greatest depth and breadth of service to customers.

IBM -- and only IBM -- can offer service, support and integration capabilities to almost any enterprise almost anywhere in the world, and those capabilities are an even more important competitive differentiator in difficult economic times."

Don't overlook Redbooks!

IBM Redbooks are "how-to" guides to technical information, and Redbooks Online! is THE web source for finding complete information on IBM solutions and offerings. View and download complete books. Find the Redbook you want one of two ways: 1) do a quick keyword search for a hit list of IBM Redbooks, Redpieces, and Redpapers or 2) browse through preselected categories. See <http://www.redbooks.ibm.com>

Ordering Redbooks and Other Publications

Many publications are available free online. You may view or download these titles without having to place them in a shopping cart and without providing any information about yourself.

To order hard copy publications for a fee, however, you will be asked to provide your name, address, e-mail address, and credit card information. This information allows your IBM Publications Center search results to display prices in your local currency. If available in stock, your order will be dispatched within 8-14 days by surface delivery, without additional cost.

Residencies

IBM Redbooks are developed through a unique program -- the Residency -- that teams IBM technical professionals with IBM Business Partners, customers, and IBM product development staff. These residents are chosen through competitive nomination, and develop an IBM Redbook while working at one of the IBM International Technical Support Organization (ITSO) centers for two to eight weeks.

This intensive residency is where small teams explore and document (via a Redbook) a product's implementation, integration, and operations -- applying leading-edge information technology to customer needs. If you are interested in participating in a residency, see IBM Redbook home -- <http://www.redbooks.ibm.com>

Support for Hardware, Software, and "Don't Know"

If you don't find what you need with e-Support, call IBM Service (1-800-IBM-SERV) for hardware support.

Your first call will connect you to your IBM® Remote Technical Support Center Representative. This Representative will help diagnose your hardware problem and, if not resolved, will create a plan to resolve it, including recommending parts (if appropriate) to the IBM System Services Representative (SSR) responsible for supporting your IBM hardware. You can reach Hardware Support at 1-800-IBM-SERV. The Service Delivery Manager or Duty Manager can assist you with any service issues.

*It's easier than ever to engage IBM hardware and software support -- just call one handy number: 1-800-IBM-SERV (1-800-426-7378)

Your stop for Software Support is SupportLine . . . when you need specialized expertise- on-demand . . . 1-800-IBM-SERV

To be eligible for voice support on most software offerings, you must have either a SupportLine or Passport/Advantage contract. Offered by IBM Global Services, SupportLine gives you access to answers from highly-trained IBM technical support specialists who can be your one source for remote software support. We cover most IBM operating systems, as well as the most popular multivendor platforms, including Microsoft® Windows®, Linux, and Linux Clusters. Plus, you can get usage and configuration assistance for selected hardware products. And our customized options make it easy for you to choose what you want covered and the level of support you need. See details at <http://www.ibm.com/services/its/us/mus62d1.html>

Problem Resolution Using Severity Codes

The severity codes below determine how IBM escalates problems. Report a severity code when placing the initial service request call.

Severity 1— CRISIS

- ◆ The system (or a major application or component) goes down, critically impacting a customer's ability to do acceptable business.
- ◆ No bypass alternatives are available.
- ◆ Severity 1 requires total commitment of equipment and personnel by the customer and vendors to resolve the problem. The respective management groups are responsible for assigning personnel.

Severity 2 — MAJOR

- ◆ A problem that causes a severe operational impact.
- ◆ Bypassing the problem is possible but not feasible.
- ◆ Severity 2 requires that the failing component be made available for repair.

Severity 3 — MINOR

- ◆ Any problem causing restricted function or minor impact on performance.
- ◆ Bypassing the problem is both possible / feasible.
- ◆ Deferred maintenance may be acceptable.

Severity 4 — BYPASSED

- ◆ A circumvented problem.
- ◆ The problem's impact is non-critical and does not affect operation.
- ◆ Deferred maintenance is acceptable.

IBM Customer Support Plan -- Support for Hardware, Software, and "Don't Know"

You can take advantage of both telephone and electronic access to IBM services specialists who can address a wide variety of questions and concerns, including:

- ◆ Usage and installation
- ◆ Product compatibility and interoperability
- ◆ Interpretation of product documentation
- ◆ Diagnostic information review to help isolate the cause of a problem
- ◆ Configuration samples
- ◆ IBM and multivendor database searches
- ◆ Planning information for software fixes
- ◆ Assistance with problem source identification and problem resolution

How SupportLine Works (on standard offerings)

Step 1: One of your designated callers encounters an installation or operational problem on eligible software and places a toll-free call to IBM SupportLine (during normal business hours, Mon. - Fri., excluding holidays).

Step 2: The call is directed to the IBM technical support specialist with the expertise to resolve the problem. Maximum response time is two hours, but more than 90% of calls are answered live.

Step 3: IBM identifies remotely whether the cause is due to a custom configuration, a defect in the software, an interoperability issue, or other operational problem.

Step 4: IBM answers questions and provides planning information for software fixes.

Step 5: Your caller contacts IBM again on this problem, and/or adds another. He or she has unlimited access to support on covered software.

For storage hardware support on the following products, call the numbers below:

Brocade: 1-800-IBM SERV (2109 SAN Fibre Channel Switch)

The Works ... the full range of Support and Services from IBM Global Services (IGS)

We recognize that you need support that goes beyond resolving hardware problems. To succeed, your e-business needs support that offers solution optimization, maximum availability, proactive care, and access to experts. IBM service and support does all that -- including quick response throughout your systems' life cycle. Visit <http://www.ibm.com/services/fullservice.html>

For IBM eServers and Storage -- the Technical Support Advantage helps you keep your business up and running for years

For more than 25 years IBM has been a leader and innovator in electronic technical support and in designing products for serviceability. The Technical Support Advantage is a comprehensive set of resources (tools and technologies in four key areas) all focused on helping you learn about, choose, implement, and use the right IBM @server solution for your IT infrastructure needs. Visit <http://www-1.ibm.com/servers/eserver/techsupport.html> Each key area gives you powerful reasons for buying and using IBM @server systems:

- ◆ Configuring tools and technologies -- for creating, installing, and managing your infrastructure day to day
- ◆ Optimizing tools and technologies -- to help maximize resource utilization and high availability
- ◆ Healing tools and technologies -- for seeking help, locating and applying problem fixes and diagnosing unusual situations or problems
- ◆ Protecting tools and technologies -- to help avoid intrusions and provide security to an infrastructure

The Technical Support Advantage helps you gain competitive advantage and allows for extendibility as you grow, whether you have a small or large IT shop. It helps provide for things like supportability, serviceability, reliability, availability, trust -- peace of mind.

Use this site -- <http://www-1.ibm.com/servers/eserver/techsupport.html> -- as your starting point. You'll find tools and resources that streamline the technical planning and support for your servers -- from planning to education, installation, maintenance, and everything in between.

You've made a big investment in IT technologies, and your software is the fuel that drives your hardware engines. To protect that investment and meet your business goals, you need reliable, high-quality software support.

IBM gives you access to a wide array of services for hardware and software products that address a variety of IT issues. Our services are designed to be flexible, making it easy for you to choose the support you need. And, if our standard offerings don't address your specific needs, we can customize a solution that will.

Operational Support Services for Software

In addition to SupportLine (see "Hardware, Software, and "Don't Know" section of the Customer Support Plan for more information), IBM Global Services also offers the following software services:

- ◆ Account Advocate
- ◆ Advanced Support
- ◆ Consult Line
- ◆ Direct Support
- ◆ End-user Support
- ◆ On-site Technical Advocate
- ◆ On-site Technical Assistant

Visit <http://www-1.ibm.com/services/its/us/swsupport.html#operational> for details.

SupportLine enhancements:

- ◆ SupportLine now offers just two procurement options:
 - ◆ User-selected "Support Groups," which provide support for from one to several collections of products, usually centered around operating systems.
 - ◆ "Enterprise Support," which covers all designated products across the enterprise.
- ◆ Some support groups now contain both selected hardware and software products.
- ◆ Any of your IS technical support personnel may contact IBM for support, eliminating the need for named callers.
- ◆ Support procurement is simplified with fewer SupportLine procurement options and elimination of product groups.

Customer Support Operations (CSO) Overview for the US

Customers who purchase through a Business Partner must contact their Business Partner for administrative services.

- ✓ Are you a commercial customer (i.e., not an individual consumer), a state, local, or US federal customer? an IBM Business Partner?
- ✓ Do you ever have questions about an invoice from IBM or want to check on the status of an order?
- ✓ Do you have other administrative questions about your account and inventory?

Customer Support Operations (CSO) provides the following types of non-technical support:

- ◆ Order entry and order management for hardware, software, and publications
- ◆ Scheduling and delivery coordination
- ◆ Contract management for IBM maintenance, services, purchases, and software licensing
- ◆ Inventory record keeping
- ◆ Billing and invoicing reconciliation and customization
- ◆ Collection and reconciliation of accounts receivable

Customer Support Online (CSOL) can help you understand and clarify many non-technical queries you may have involving:

- ◆ Invoices and payments -- including billing options, payment methods, and terms, plus dispute resolution
- ◆ Tracking of hardware and software type/model/serial numbers
- ◆ Administrative support for maintenance and service contracts, including billing
- ◆ Order information status
- ◆ SW order management, contract management, inventory management, billing, disputes, and expiration/renewal management
