

IBM LotusLive™ Connections

Connecting Has Never Been So Simple

Fast-paced, global markets require that businesses have access to the right information and the right people at the right time – with each interaction giving you a chance to do something better, more efficiently, and more productively.

Sharing information to make smarter business decisions and develop new ideas is no longer a luxury. Communication and collaboration with people inside and outside your company are essential to your success.

Built for business, LotusLive Connections allows you to work smarter, bringing your business network together with essential online collaboration tools easily, in one place that you can access from any place with a Web browser. LotusLive Connections lets your company rapidly integrate emerging technologies without the high risk and costs typically involved. It is quick and easy to deploy, making it a smart choice for companies of all sizes.

An integrated suite of Web collaboration and business networking services, LotusLive Connections features file sharing, business instant messaging, activity management, networking and more.

The power of LotusLive Connections is the security-rich, seamless integration between services. It allows you to share and edit information and manage activities easily with one person or a large community of colleagues inside and outside of your company. Connect with anyone in our expanding business network to build your contacts and drive new business opportunities.

LotusLive Connections delivers the tools:

- Become more productive focusing on growth and innovation rather than infrastructure
- Manage your contacts and connections - the people you do business with
- Enable the extended enterprise easily and affordably
- Rapidly integrate emerging technologies without the high risk and cost
- Collaborate quickly and easily beyond the firewall

Online Services ensure easy access:

- Affordable and accessible
- Low upfront capital investment
- Predictable expenses via monthly & annual subscriptions
- No IT staff required for infrastructure & maintenance

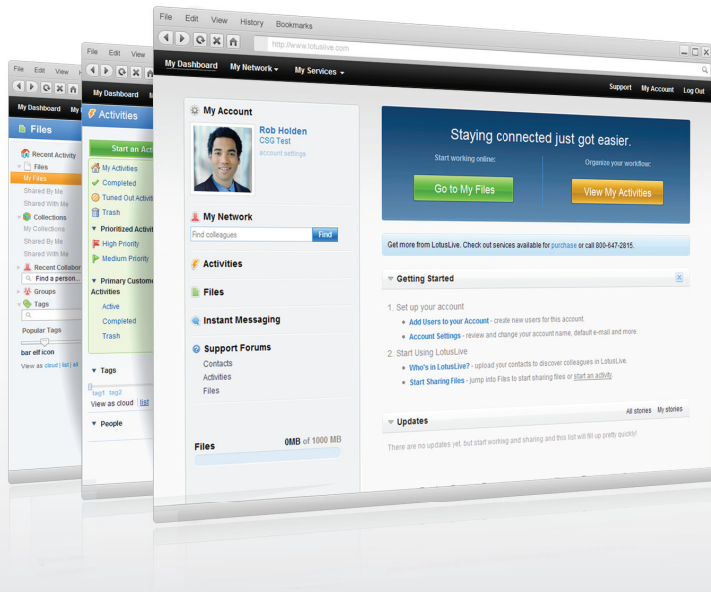

IBM makes the difference:

- IBM Security-rich network
- Credentials-based access and file management
- Built for business, not for advertising. The service is designed to protect your identity, not exploit it.
