Integrate UC into your processes and apps and leverage your existing environment

The IBM Lotus® Sametime® software communications and collaboration platform provides people a unified user experience across a broad set of real-time collaboration s. These capabilities can be extended with from IBM Business Partners or your own content ications. You can also embed these Sametime ies through your desktop or Web application. eans that people switch context less often and can collaborate more efficiently and effectively—using the best methods for the task at hand.
