

This block contains a dense listing of property tax records for New Orleans, Louisiana, from 1862 to 1892. The records are organized by year and include details such as lot number, address, tax amount, and property description. The descriptions often mention specific buildings or landmarks, such as 'The Hotel New Orleans' or 'The Hotel St. Charles'. The records also note various taxes, including 'Taxes for Taxes', 'Taxes for Taxes', and 'Taxes for Taxes'. The names of the property owners are frequently mentioned, such as 'Thomas J. Et J. Ringer' and 'John H. B. Fife'. The records provide a detailed look at the urban landscape and property ownership of New Orleans during this period.