HARDSHIPS SAID TO BE PAST.

The New Alaskan Railroad Will Be Opened for Traffic This Spring.

Reports presented at a recent freeting in London of share holders in the White Pass & Yukon Valley railway gave assurance not only that the hardships and dangers now incidental to fourneys to and from the Alaskan gold fields will soon be things of the past, but that the terrors of life in the hyperborean Dorado have been considerably exaggerated, says the New York Times. Actual construction work on this line began in June last and it was | barnyard and will not again be called then hoped that the summit of the pass would be reached by September, but labor troubles of one sort and another. the most serious being a stampede of workmen caused by the rich discovtained.

Work is now advancing rapidly, however, and it is certain that the line will be onen as far as Lake Bennett before navigation opens in the spring. The traffic prospects are regarded as good. High rates will be charged for both freight and passengers, but, as compared with the present cost of reaching the gold fields from tidewater, they will represent a saving of at least twothirds to the miners. As to the character of the Yukon country, upon which, of course, the success of the enterprise depends, it was stated that the region is relatively as rich in copper as in gold. Coal too has been discovered in several places and there are "Indications" of oil. According to the chairman of the meeting, it is now certain that the Yukon valley is of great mineral wealth throughout an extent of territory nearly as large as Europe, while it has been proved that the summers are healthy and pleasant and the winters, for people properly equipped, no harder to endure than those of Mani-

A MARRIAGE LOVE FEAST.

Quaint Church Ceremony That United Two Lives After Two Years.

It was a veritable love feast that united Dr. Ira G. Barton, of Pilot Grove, Mo., to his wife some years ago.

A love feast in the evangelical middle west is a church service and something more. Devotional fervor is inspired by powerful exhorters. Men leap into the air at the bidding of the spirit. Nervous women fall writhing and speechless upon the floor. Amid such scenes Dr. Barton first saw and admired Addie Davis, of Hannibal, Mo. He asked to see her home.

"This is my birthday," he said on the "Strange," she murmured, "it is mine

"We will meet again one year from to-night," said Barton, "at the Centenary church."

They did not forget. One year later Barton called for Miss Davis, and took her to the service. Talking in whispers, they listened not at all. Before the exhorter had reached "fourthly and lastly" he had whispered a proposal, she an acceptance. One year later, only the other day, they were wed in the same old church, a birthday pres-

MAPS FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Florida Representative Wants Congress to Make Provision for Their Distribution.

Representative Davis, of Florida, wants to supply a map of the United States, known as the "land office map," to nearly all the public schools throughout the country. He introduced a bill the other day authorizing the printing of enough of these maps to supply 100 for every congressional district in the United States. They are to be distributed by the representative of each district. This map, which was printed two or three years ago, is considered to be one of the best which has ever been gotten up by the government. It is not only first-class in every respect, but it shows the territory comprising the original 13 states, the province of Louisiana, ceded by France in 1803; the Gadsden purchase, the territory ceded by Mexico in 1848, and the annexation of Texas in 1845. There has been such a demand for this map the supply has become exhausted, and those who have been successful in securing one prize it highly.

WON'T ADOPT NEW RIFLES. German Experts Think That Small Bores Have Been a Failure.

Gen. von Gossler, minister of war, replying in the reichstag to questions of the committee on military estimates, denied the report that Germany intended to adopt a new small-bore rifle. The experiment with such arms, he said. had not been satisfactory enough to warrant a change. Experience with small-bore rifles in the Spanish-American war had proved unfavorable. The wounds inflicted by them were light, and had mostly healed in a month. He further said that no change was contemplated in the style of bullet used. Germany certainly would not adopt a bullet like the dum-dum. The adoption of such a bullet would be an ethical rather than a military question. It would be a matter for the conference salled by the exar to discuss.

HERDING ON BICYCLES.

Owboys Put Upon the Universal Bike on a Western Ranch

Experiment of R. B. Mosely Is Amusing If Not Entirely Successful - What the Herders Think of It.

The cowboys on R. B. Mosely's ranch, north of the north fork of the Cheyenne river, are speeding after their master's herds on bikes. The cow ponies are eating their heads off in his into service until deep snows render the use of the wheels impossible.

Cattlemen have always considered Mosely a crank and dreamer of dreams. but they conceded that he had outdone eries made at Atlin, delayed progress | himself when he resolved to furnish a so that the summit has just been at , part of his herdsmen with bicycles instead of tough broncos so characteristic of the "cow country." Mosely, to do him justice, never said the experiment would prove a success. He simply wanted to see it tried. Wheels, he confessed, could hardly be used in winter nor in cutting time, branding, roping and turning stampedes.

He read some time ago of their introduction into the army, remarked on the testimony of the experts, who said they could go anywhere that a horse could and promptly declared they would do for work on the ranges if such statements were true.

His men say they have actually done better work in some cases than with horses. They are of opinion-and Mosely agrees with them—that in the long run horsestesh discounts them. Still, the margin between the usefulness of the bike and that of the bronco is not a wide one. The former certainly covers more ground in a day than the latter. It is never vicious, never frightened and never strays from the spot where the rider leaves it, no matter how long may be his absence.

One man who attempted to rope steer with the end of his lariat tied to his handlebar and was incontinently yanked into an adjoining county says the experiment is a flat failure. Another tried to turn a stampeded herd and met with poor success. A pony would have stood its ground while the rider got the frightened animals under control. When the wheelman saw the maddened herd bearing down on him, however, and realized that he would be directly under their hoofs if he tarried, he turned tail without loss of time and scorched for safety. To the credit of his wheel be it said that he quickly distanced the cattle and escaped harm.

The wheels will probably be abandoned after this season—perhaps sooner -as their use has been somewhat expensive, but Mosely says he has had the full worth of his money in watching the cattle punchers master their machines and in listening to their comments as they discussed the merits of the experiment in which they were engaged.

SEARCH FOR THE SOUTH POLE.

Belgian Expedition Started from

Antwerp July 25.
The Belgica, a steam whaling vessel. on July 25 sailed from Antwerp with a scientific party on board to explore the lite. "It seems to me that that is a rather antarctic circle and endeavor to locate grewsome souvenir." he south pole. The expedition ex pects to reach Graham Land about the middle of October, the beginning of the fine austral season.

The greatest latitude which has ever 78 degrees, reached by Sir James Ross. If the north pole is hard to reach, the difficulties surrounding the discovery of the south pole are innumerable. man being has yet been able to account for, and continents and mountains appear and disappear in a twinkling; fogs and sunshine alternate in startling rapidity.

Sir James Ross surveyed the antarctic continent for hundreds of miles. but unfortunately never found an opening where he could land. This much is known of the south pole: Nobody has got nearer than 720 miles of it; mountains exist, some of which are active volcanoes; no human being lives farther than 56 degrees and no quadruped beyond 66 degrees. It is a land of mystery and wonder.

CAPTURE A BIG SHEEPSHEAD.

New York Fishermen Have an Exciting Time Off Coney Island. There was great excitement in the neighborhood of the old iron pier at Coney Island, N. Y., the other day when Commodore Harry Sturdevant sent word to Lundy's hotel, near the pier, that a school of mammoth fish had just been sighted off the steamboat landing. Among those who heard the news were Capt. Lundy and Capt. Andy Sheehan, and a party was at once organized to capture the mysterious monsters of big hooks and fish spears were brought fishermen started for the pier head. It was not long before a big head came to the surface and Capt. Lundy called drove the three-pronged weapon at the big fish, which darted for fathoms below with a swiftness which pulled Lundy from his perch and into the water. He climbed aboard again, and aided in the struggle which followed to land the monster. It was a mammoth sheepshead, weighing 811/2 pounds and measured 6 feet 41/2 inches in length.

ANGRY FOR THIRTY YEARS. Because His Wife Sewed the Wrong

Button on His Vest. Because Mrs. Marion W. Hatton threw a stool at him and sewed a pants button on his vest nearly 30 years ago, Theodore Hatton wants an absolute divorce, says the Syracuse (N. Y.) Herald. The action is brought in the state of Illinois, and evidence is being taken in this city, both for the plaintiff and the defendant. The parties are well advanced down the toboggan of time, the defendant being upward of 50 years old and the plaintiff at least as aged. There are some interesting things about the case. Until about 1872 the Hattons lived near Amboy, supposedly happy, as all married people are to be considered until they reach the courts. One day the plaintiff, after a quarrel with his wife, which neither claim was regarded more than a trivial matter, left his home and went west. He was heard from at various times, but no contributions to the support of his wife and child were received.

A short time ago Mrs. Hatton heard that her husband had brought suit for divorce, and that judgment was about to be entered by default. The matter looked irregular, as Mrs. Hutton had never, she says, received a service of the papers or an intimation of the litigation until informed by an acquaintance. An answer was put in denying the charges made and alleging the facts as Mrs. Hatton and the people about Amboy remember them. It is said that Hatton, since living in Chicago, his present residence, has accumulated some property.

LINCOLN'S MOTHER'S GRAVE A Lonely Tomb on a Wooded Hill in Indiana.

The recent communication between President McKinley and Gov. Mount in which the former called the attention of the latter to the neglected grave of Nancy Hanks, mother of Abraham Lincoin, has attracted attention from all over the country to the grave. It is located on a hill of gradual ascent and is right in the middle of the woods, about a mile from Lincoln City, a little station on the Air Line road in Spencer county, Ind. It is inclosed by an iron fence, which separates it from a number of other graves around it, and has a neat headstone which gives the name, age, etc., of the occupant. An inscription also says: "Erected by a Friend of Her Martyred Son, 1879." It is comparatively isolated, and any improvement made in its surroundings would not prove of any great value.

In order to fittingly honor the dead the people of that vicinity suggest that the remains be taken up by the state and reinterred at Indianapolis, or that the United States reinter them in some national cemetery. A $1,000 shaft could be placed over it where it now stands and ten persons in a year would not see it unless they made a special trip there.

NEW WESTERN IDEA. Girls Who Give Gold Models of Their Little Fingers.

"Do little girls here give gold models of their little fingers to their flances?" asked the western girl of the Gothamite, reports the New York Sun.

"Heaven, no!" answered the Gotham-

'Not at all." answered the western "It is decidedly dainty, and I'm a little surprised that New York is so far behind the times. The fad started in this way: When the daughter of one been reached in the antarctic zone is of our big western politicians was six months old he had a model of her little finger cast in gold. Around the little dimpled digit is a ring of turquoise, which is her birthstone, and it makes a Phenomena occur there which no hu- lovely charm for her betrothed's watchchain. He valued it so much that it set other men to thinking, and the result is that as soon as a girl wraps one of these chaps around her little finger sufficiently for a proposal to follow, he immediately insists upon a gold facsimile of the flesh and blood original. It is a pretty conceit, and is being followed by every westerner who is in subjection to somebody's little finger."

Concerning "Purfessors." The misuse of the title "professor" as often vulgarly applied to musicians in general finds a laughable example in the following story credited to Bandmaster Sousa. It seems that some years ago, before the existence of the organization which bears his name; and before "The Washington Post," "Liberty Bell," "Cotton King" and "El Capitan" had made the American march king famous, he was leading a band in the government service, at some small country festival. The advent of the hand had been awaited with intense interest by the local population, and, as a consequence, the bandsmen were soon surrounded by a surging crowd which hemmed them in so that it became wellnigh an impossibility for them to keep the sea. After a hasty search several on playing. Sousa pointed out the fact to a local official, adding that unless the to light, and a party of a dozen gallant crowd fell back his band would have to stop. That personage shook his head warmly, and turning to the assembled multitude, bawled out: "Gentlemen. for a spear. With a swift stroke he step back and give the purfessor's purfessors a chance to play!"
