The English papers by the Thomas Dickinson brings the constitution which Nicholas, authorat of bears, has, in his claimency, given to Poland. We had marked it for insertion, but on looking it over, a second time, and finding that it is just what might be expected to be granted by a tyrant to a subjugated people, have concluded that our readers can just as well imagine its concessions, said spare un the room which it would occupy. The lot of Folandchivalrous, noble Poland-is to be, henceforth, one of vassalage and oppression! Their patriotic efforts to be freethe sympathics and wishes of the friends of liberty in every land-have all proved unavailing: the country of Sobiceki and Koskuisko is again trodden down by the iron heel of the oppressor. The nationality of Poland, notwithstanding the repeated declarations of the French ministry, is now about to be swallowed up in the maw of the rapacious bear of the north. A seasonable interposition by France, would not only have prevented this degradation, but spared the effusion of much patriotic blood—but France has disappointed—cruelly disappointed, the hopes which she awakened among the groaning and oppressed nations of the carth—the destunes of Belgium are committed to the holy alliance—the axe has drunk the life-blood of the national the destunes of the public conveyances, in consequences. alliance-the axe has drunk the life-blood of the patriots of Italy, and now Poland is extinct, and France has looked coldly on all the while without daring to violate the princi-ple of "non-intervention," although thousands of good swords were burning to lesp from their scabbards, in defence of the newly awakened spirit of freedom.

Well-Poland is annihilated and France has not interposed; but is it certain that she will now be permitted to mention the number of cases and the deaths occurring Well-Poland is annihilated and France has not intercarry out the plans of her own revolution, unmoiested? in the hospitals. The difficulty of stating the date We all remember the declaration of Lafayette, on the floor of the chamber of deputies, that Nicholas was only diverted from an armed interposition in the affairs of France, by the breeking out of the Pelish revolt. Poland is now reduced; and if the disposition still exists, to restore the old order in France, the pretexts will easily be found; and of the council of ministers:

France will be chitfied to as little sympathy of the friends of freedem, should there even be a restoration, so she bestowed upon the gallant people who acted upon the example which she had set them, and who had every reason to look for her aid and protection.

Of the lower part of the city, which is daily developing itself with increased vigor, that the time is not far distant when the whole will be in a state of improvement, and will form the most beautiful part of New-Orleans.

The wide avenues formed by the little of New-Orleans. railed streets permitting free ejeculation of air from the Lake to the River, and affording an unobstructed view, certainly indicate it the most healthy part, as well as the most beautiful. The compactly built and crowded streets of the business parts of the city already renders them unfit for residences during the warm dy renders them units for residences during the warm assessin, and as this inconvenience must increase with the growth of the population, more siry and salubrious situations must be taken for dwellings, as well for health as comfort. Cars will stop at the Darcanit faubourg at all times to put down and take up passengers, and it is the intention of the Rail road company to lay iron pipes from the river to the lake to formsh the intermediate inhabitants with pure and wholesome water at a small : xpense. For summer residences and pleasure gardens, this fambourg is delightfully situated, and the facility of speed with which it can be reached by means of the fail-road, render it more convenient to the square of the city than many of the upper faubourge.

The Raid Road Company desirous of affecting facility to enterprising individuals who may purchase lots or squares in said faubourg, propose to sell un the following terms : 1. 2. 3. 4 and 5 years, endorsers being required on
