

LA ABEJA.

NUEVA ORLEANS, 6 DE ENERO 1830.

Nueva-Orleans, 4 de Enero.
Tan luego como llegó á mí el número 31 del periódico El Español, conoció por la suelta puntuación que se hacía en su parte remitido al teniente coronel Dn. M. L., conocí que estas especiales encubrían el nombre y apellido de D. Manuel Leyton, y como ésto argumenta de que dicho teniente coronel, el 8 de Noviembre próximo pasado, sacó los credenciales de revista de Agosto, Septiembre, Octubre y Noviembre, y posteriormente el de Diciembre, del Sr. vice-cónsul mexicano, por un engaño sujeto; ésto es, después de haber ofertado en 9 de Julio del mismo año su baza 6, impasible espada al infame y despiadado Fernando 7º, digamos con franqueza cabida debiera tener acusación multada en la sociedad?

Abra pues é como habremos de entender aquella influida nota de los Editores de El Español en donde dicen que no conocen un temor servil &c. &c. A más, á un nombre que se ha constituido el defensor de los derechos de su país, le está bien el calificativo de D. Manuel Leyton de este, que no ha arribado ni lugar en su periódico para instaurarse ante el público? Y de donde vendrá tan "o silencio" después de lo magníficamente dicho en el preámbulo? De la generosidad no podremos atendiendo á que es desacumulada a los más pablos insensatos y á que no dice bien en el presente caso con la purza de la patria tan decentada quanto va que se ha erguido nueva recluta y perdiendo los pecados cometidos desde el 9 de Noviembre hasta el 25 de Diciembre?—Hasta otro día.

ORNO ATREVADUR.

MEXICO:
Continua el Decreto principiado en los mismos días anterior.

31. Las obligaciones comunes á todos los agentes consulares son:

1. Proteger el comercio mexicano por todos los medios que estén á su alcance y permitan las leyes del país en que residan.

2. Procurar componer amigablemente las diferencias que se susciten entre los mexicanos y los habitantes de la nación de su residencia.

3. Componer amigablemente y decidir por arbitrio las disputas que se promuevan entre los capitanes, marineros y mercantes mexicanos: ministrárselas á su llegada cuantos datos y noticias puedan servirles acerca del estado político y mercantil del país, pasando al efecto á borbo de los buques, y proporcionales los avisos que de si dependan.

4. Tomar todas las providencias necesarias para salvar las tripulaciones y cargamentos de los buques mexicanos que naufragen sobre las costas del territorio de los respectivos consulados posecionados de las mercancías salvadas, si sus dueños enemigatos no se hallaren en aquel lug, ó no estuviere en estado de dirigir su negocio, formando previamente un inventario exacto, asociado con dos comerciantes mexicanos si los hubiere, ó extranjeros en su defecto: hacer venta pública de los efectos de poca duración en caso de no saberse el paradero de los dueños ó consignatarios: retener los productos de estos, así como las demás mercancías, para entregarlo todo á disposición de la persona que legítimamente reclame, pagando de preferencia á los acreedores que legalmente posean sus créditos previa fianza de otro de mejor derecho si lo permiten las leyes del país; y remitir lo que resultare libre al tesoro de la república contestándose de todo lo actuado, un año después del naufragio.

5. Obrar con arreglo á la obligación anterior con los bienes muertos e inmunes de los mexicanos que fallecieren en el territorio de los respectivos consulados, ó vice-consulados en los casos de no haber personas que deban legítimamente reteners.

6. Recibir las protestas ó declaraciones que los mexicanos ó extranjeros tengan por conveniente hacer ante los cónsules ó vice-cónsules, sobre asuntos en que se viesen intereses de mexicanos, y expedir los correspondientes certificados, que tendrán entera fe y crédito en los tribunales de la república.

NEW YORK: WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1830.

CITY COUNCIL OF NEW ORLEANS.

At the sitting of last Saturday, the following Ordinance was taken into consideration and adopted:

AN ORDINANCE.

To amend the ordinance entitled "An ordinance concerning the suburbs of the upper precincts of the city of New-Orleans" approved Sept. 18th, 1828.

The city council decrees as follows:

Art. 1st. All steam-boats, rats, and pirogues which shall land at the part of the levee, opposite the Faubourg Laclede and Annunciation, and shall remain more than twenty-four hours, shall pay the following levee duty, agreeable to the 5th article of the ordinance entitled "An ordinance concerning the suburbs of the upper precincts of the city of New-Orleans," approved Sept. 18th, 1828.

Steam-boats, 8 5 60
Rafts of cypress, 11 60
Rafts of wood, other than cypress, 5 00
Pirogues, 1 00

Art. 2d. No flat boat, whose cargo shall consist of cattle provisions, provender for horses or other animals, shall be compelled to pay any levee duties until after they shall have laid at the levee fifteen days since the expiration of which time they shall pay one eighth of a dollar per day, for each and every flat boat.

Art. 3d. A flat boat with any other cargo than is expressed in 2d article of this ordinance shall pay a levee duty of two dollars.

Art. 4 Any person breaking up a flat boat shall pay two dollars exclusive of the duties expressed in the preceding articles of this ordinance.

Art. 5. No person shall be permitted to leave on said barge or levee, any cargo, parts of cargo, of any flat boat, steam boat, raft, pirogue or other craft, nor any quantity of plank, pickets, wood, bricks or any other lumber or materials whatever, for a longer period than ten days, every person offending against the provisions of this ordinance shall be fined in a sum not less than ten dollars, nor more than fifty, for each and every such offence.

Art. 6. Any provision to the contrary of this ordinance notwithstanding.

From the Smyrna Courier of Sept. 20.

SYRA, Sep. 8. The General President has determined to send a Deputation to the Sovereigns of the three Allied Powers, to thank them for the protection accorded to Greece. Count Vassar will be the Envoy to London, M. Maricordato to Paris, and M. Caetani to Petersburg. A fourth nomination will take place for Batavia. The intention of the President, in hastening the departure of these Ambassadors, is evident. He wishes, in causing his Representatives to be admitted to the three Courts of the Mediation, to establish a precedent of Sovereignty, which shall have all its force when the mediation shall decide the question of erecting Greece into a monarchy; and choosing him the chief. He is sure of the assent of Russia, and judges, by the past, of the facility with which the two other Cabinets will sanction, or, at least, respect what shall be done. Thus the three Envys have orders the most pressing to use all diligence to reach their ports. From a mission of gratitude to one of diplomacy there is but a step, and Hatzky is the soul of both. They will take care that the bears of Hellenic Gratitude be very soon transformed into the Ambassadors officially recognized, of Count Capo d'Istria, Sovereign in fact of the People of Greece.

Antidotes against Infection.—In one of the late French papers we find it stated, that the committee of French physicians sent to Egypt, in order to ascertain the efficacy of the chlorides of soda and lime in checking the propagation of the plague, have transmitted to Paris accounts of some curious and important results. Shirts, and other articles of inner clothing, belonging to persons who died with the worst forms of this distemper, were worn, after having been steeped in a solution of the chlorides, next to the bodies of the physicians, without the smallest ill effect. The bodies of persons who had just died of the plague were also dissected with impunity, after being washed in a preparation of one of the chlorides, the hands of the dissectors being also washed in the same solution.

A small work on this subject has lately appeared at Paris entitled Instructions and Observations on the Use of the Chlorides of Soda and Lime, by A. S. Labarraque, of which an English translation has just been made by Dr. R. G. Perez.

J. of Massachusetts, and published in this country. M. Labarraque was the discoverer of the properties of the chlorides in counteracting contagion. Previous to the year 1823 he made some curious experiments on putrefaction, and published a series of instructions for disinfecting bodies lying in a building on the Seine, called La Morgue, where dead bodies found in the river remain until they can be examined and claimed by their friends. In consequence of these experiments the Prefect of Police directed that the disinfecting apparatus of Labarraque should be stationed at La Morgue. In 1825 the Royal Academy of the Sciences awarded him a prize of 3,000 francs for the discovery that the solution of chlorides of lime and soda may be successfully employed in destroying infectious animal odors.

The valuable work of M. Labarraque contains several histories of experiments, in which the insupportable odor of animal putrefaction was annihilated by the use of the chlorides—some cases of ulcers and gangrenous affection in which it had been successfully applied and instances of sewers, &c. disinfected by this powerful agent. It contains instructions relative to its use in these cases, as well as for the purification of hospitals, prisons, ships, stables, and markets, by its means. The chloride of soda, the author thinks, should be used in all application to the human system, in preference to the chloride of lime.

The trial lately made at Egypt of the power of these substances in destroying the most freightful and mortal diseases to which the human frame is subject, furnishes the strongest possible confirmation of their efficacy. We have lately heard of some instances of their use in this country. The Secretary of the Navy has issued a circular, directing the national vessels to be purified with chlorine of lime.

A gentleman who has kept a regular account of the fires which have occurred in New York, during the past year, informs, that the number since the 1st of Jan. 1829, is one hundred and thirty-eight. The number in 1828, between Jan. 2 and Dec. 3, was one hundred and thirty-one; and the estimated destruction of property thereby, at the sum of $580,463.

It is mentioned in the New-York Mercantile, that Captain Holland, of the Silas Roberts, has been the first to deliver in England the several Messages of the President, at the opening of Congress, for nine successive years.

Daily Chronicle.

An eagle can fly in a minute six thousand and thirteen English feet. A hawk, belonging to Henry the Second King of France, flew away from Fontainebleau, and was caught twenty-four hours after at the island of Malta. In that time, therefore, the bird had travelled one thousand English miles which make about forty-two miles per hour, or three thousand six hundred and ninety feet per minute.

YALE COLLEGE. We find in a New Haven paper the following summary from the annual catalogues of this distinguished and venerable institution. It furnishes the most conclusive evidence of the continued prosperity of the college. The Freshman class is the largest ever entered at this or any other college in the United States. Theological Students, 47; Law Students, 21; Medical Students, 61; Resident Graduates, 6; Seniors, 7; Juniors, 87; Sophomores, 95; Freshmen, 106—Total, 496.—J. V. Y. Herald.
