The Morgan Prisoners of the Community of the Chamber Pentiteration;

[Bysoial Dispatch to the Cincinnsti Gasette.]

Columbus, Ohio, July 30.—John Morgan and twenty-eight of his command reached here this afternoon, and were immediately taken to the Chio Pentisentiny, where they will remain until further orders. Fourteen commissioned and fifteen non-commissioned officers and privates. After Ganeral Mason had inded the prisoners over to the officers of the Pentientiary, they were searched, in accordance with the rules of the heatinition, to which hey submitted without any grunbling, except in two or three cases. Morgan himself supplied his posseste with as much grace and anxiet as he could command. He had several fundred dollars with him, mostly greenbacks.

As fast as the prisoners were examined they were taken to a bath tones, and lafter a thorough ablation, they were conducted to their calls, where they will be contined, subject to the rules of the Panitentiary, which will prevent them frees taking with each other.

The prisoners seem not to have been aware what disposition was to be made of them until they were night of the prison. Some of them were much downcast at the prospect of serving an isdaffaits term there, while others were not it all affected, but on the contrary were joking with seach other as to what trade they prison.

mean, only this: That he desires, in adolganction with them, when they are driven from the country east of the Mississippi, to hold Maxico and Texas. Should the rebust transfer their capital to Austin, and enter upon a defensive war in conjunction with Napoleon, it would prove a work of difficulty for the government to hold Texas. Many in the North would prefer to close the war by the loss of a border state; others would see in it an and of justice to diamembered Maxico, and others would seepit is as a means of checking acquisitions of territory on the South.

One of General Dodge's scouts left Tuscumbia July 25, and has arrived at Corinth. He reports that Roddy'iban sent all his baggage and stores towards Home, Ga., but still remains in the Tuscumbia valley, with most of his forces. He also reports that nearly half of the Alabamiume in Bragg's grow have deserted. He also reports that nearly half of the Al-abamiane in Bragg's army have descried, taking their arms with them, and are in the monatone, relusing to go back. Lieutenant Davesport, of the 28th Mississippi regiment, left Johnston, with the bulk of his army, is at Meridian. Part of it is under orders to go to Mobile. They were perfectly ignorant of Grant's movements.

tory on the South.

As security against an event fraught not only with the continuance of the present civil war, but also with the danger of a foreign war, the Government about a good of a foreign war, the Government about a good of a foreign war, the Government about a good of the first war, the Government and suppose to wards the Southwast; and sould we choose the time for reducing Richmond, it ought to be reduced at the season of high water, when our boats can navigate the Ohio, Tennessee, Cumberland, Aludams and Tombigbee, to points near their several sources, and thus render the transfer of the rebel Government and gray an impossible undertaking.

These are general viewe based upon facts known to the whole acountry, which lead us to advise delay on the Potomas and activity everywhere alse; defensive war tarse and off-naive war at all ether soints. In any svent, it will appear that the Auny of the Potomac, unfortunate in many respects, is not inferior to any other army of the repel Government, and met often, and always with honor, the best troops that the conspirators have brought into the field. We know that inaction will be disagreeable to the simp and to its commanders, but the wisdom of war is the overthrow of the enemy. However, the policy we have indicated will compel Lee to come to us. He came to Maryland a second time because be could not remain in Virginia, and for the same reason he will again eroes the Potomac, nuless Davis should early attempt the passage of the Missission.

During the draft in the Fourteenth Ward, Phila-lelphia, a few days ago, an incident occur-red that gave rise to much meriment. In the crowd there stond a pule faced Irishman, with his bands crossed and arms behind his back. He gazed intently as each name was drawn from the wheel of destiny. He had not been heard to speak a word to anybody. Presently he appeared to be operated upon by some unesen gain and the property of the party of the party of the was evidently full of dread superase.
