NEW-ORLEANS, TUESDAY NIGHT, November 8, 1842.

The events of the past few days call for no extended remarks, business operations have been limited, with the exception of one or two articles in which some moderate transactions were effected. Until a free communication is opened with the upper tributaries of the Mississippi, we cannot look for much animation in business.

Money matters are improving, and Exchanges continue to advance—the impression of the large amounts of specie of which large quantities are to be received. The notes of most of the suspended Banks are decidedly appreciating in par, and two of them are even now in a condition to resume cash payments.

After a heavy fall of rain we have again fine and pleasant weather. The river remains at the same stage pre viously to rise).

COTTON.—Arrived since the 4th inst. of Louisiana and Mississippi, 11 vessels—2 Tuscumbia and North Alabama, 1,248—Arkansas 127—Texas 110—Florida, 94, together, 13,233 bales. Cleared in the same time, for Havre, 1,722 bales—New York, 1,836—Boston, 301, together, 3,737 bales, making an addition to stock of 9,811 bales, and leaving on hand, inclusive of all on ship-board not cleared this day, a stock of 83,363 bales.

Since our report of Friday last we have experienced a fair inquiry for Cotton, and prices have been well supported. The sales on Saturday were about 1,500 bales; yesterday, 1,200; and to-day about 4,000 bales found purchasers at steady rates. The business has been principally confined to English buyers, only a small quantity having been taken for France and Spain. We are now looking for later intelligence from Europe by the steamer of the 10th ult.

FLOUR.—We have to record a fair day's business in this article, and the sales have been to a small extent in the city trade. The interruption to the navigation in the Ohio has thus far checked operations in this article. We quote 3 @ 3 ½ bbl. for extreme quality of the new crop. There is some inquiry for crops on the plantation, but we are not informed of any sales.

Havana sugars are in very limited request at previous rates, viz. white, 9 @ 9 ½c—brown 6 @ 8c.
