THE FUGITIVE SLAVE BILL—THE DISUNIONISTS.

It is undeniable that the passage of the Act for the recovery of refugee Slaves, has created a excitement among the ... heads of the North, and their foolish alliance ... Abolitionists. A hunger-dom is affrighted at its impending doom. Terror has smoothed the crisped locks of every runaway Slave in the Free States, and consternation has expanded their optics to most inordinate dimensions.—The recent summary proceedings in New York, Philadelphia, and Harrisburg, by which a number of the "conscript gentlemen" have been recaptured by their masters, have taught them that there is no safety in the whole broad expanse of the Union for the runaway. They are starting on all sides for the hyperborean regions of Canada—a country about as suitable to the constitution of a negro, as would be the snows of New Zembla to that of a camel. The northern papers teem with accounts of three stampedes. Every negro-loving Massachusetts, they tear to ... and up to and the iron gags of the law.
