SALLE D'ORLEANS. Bal de la St. Joseph. L'Administration des Baisés honore d'informer le public qu'elle donnera dans la dite salle, Mercredi 19 du courant jour de la St. Joseph.

GRAND BAL PARE ET A CARACTERE. A l'instar des principaux villes de France et du Nord Amériques. Ce genre d'amusement n'étant pas en vogue dans ce pays, on en donne l'explication suivante: chaque personne doit prendre un déguisement quelconque sans être déguisée et sous le costume qu'on a adopté, on remplit le rôle que représente le costume et qui doit être soutenu par l'individu déguisé.

The members of the Committee, in favor of the Administration, are requested to meet this evening, at half past 6 o'clock.

We are authorized to announce that Mr. A. PATENAUD is a candidate for the office of Mayor of the city of New Orleans, at the ensuing election.

STATE LEGISLATURE. The bill providing the election of the Mayor, Recorder and Aldermen, of New Orleans, for the 1st Monday of April, which has been adopted by both houses, was presented to the attention of the Governor.

CONGRESS. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, FEBRUARY 19.

Mr. WHITE, by leave, presented a resolution of the Corporation of the City of Pensacola, in the Territory of Florida, relative to the destruction of a temporary building now occupied as a Custom House in that city, and the erection of another building for that purpose; which resolution was referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Rasched, That the Committee on Indian Affairs be instructed to inquire into the expediency of making an appropriation to purchase of the Choctaw Indians that tract of country which lies in the territory of Alabama, & east of the western boundary of said territory.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be requested to communicate to this House any and all information which may be in his department, relative to any settlements which have been made in the tract of land granted, or proposed to be granted, to the Marquis de Malheur, in the State of Louisiana; and whether, (if such settlements were made) they have been recognized, as valid, by any law or authority from the Government of the United States, or any department thereof.

[From the Boston Patriot.] ORGANIZATION.—Mr. Randolph has thrown out a caveat, which we trust the people will remember. In the debate on Mr. Chilton's proposition, in reply to Mr. Blake, of Indiana, who remarked "he was willing to sink or swim with the present administration," Mr. Randolph said, "I will not sink with him—nor with the other side, if they choose to come into a very crude measure which my gentlemen may throw into the house, without regard to consequences."

He then spoke of consultations out of doors, to dictate to the Kremers, we suppose, what they should write or say. "What would have been said thirty years ago," he asked, "by the party of which he was the youngest member, if every man of them had brought forward a proposition, unconsulted and unconsulted?" This then is the shameful avowal. I, John Randolph, protest against the right of any Representative to bring forward any measure by any judge, necessary to the national welfare, before he has obtained permission from the leaders of his party. No matter if the public interest does demand it; if it may be possibly injure the party, it shall not be proposed. And this man speaks of the time "when Jefferson was with him," as the period when he first learned this system of party tactics, implying that Jefferson was his instructor. And while he utters this libel on their venerable leader, he calls himself a republican, and asks of the republicans support.

How faithfully do Mr. Randolph and his satellites abide by the creed avowed by their party in Pennsylvania in 1823. "The supporters the Hero of New-Orleans held fidelity to him, under all circumstances, as paramount to every other consideration; to him they have pledged their faith, to him will they remain true."

The National Intelligencer, of Saturday last, contains a speech of Mr. Randolph, which occupies eight columns of that paper. The orator is, we believe, a bachelor, who has reached the grand climacteric. In the report of the speech, we remark the following compliment to a single lady: "For a description of the varieties of the plagues of Ireland, see Miss Edgeworth—delightful, ingenious, charming, sensible, witty, imitable, though not unimitated, Miss Edgeworth."

How thrilling the sensations of the fair one, when she shall read this rich series of epithets! In the same speech there is a reference to the sex in general, in these terms: "So far from the want of what is called education being a very strong objection to a man at the head of affairs, over-education constitutes a still stronger objection. [In the case of a lady it is fatal. Heaven defend me from an over-educated, accomplished lady! Yes, sir, accomplished indeed, for she is finished for all the duties of a wife, or mother or mistress of a family!"

Now, this seems to us a little at variance with the generous eulogy of Miss Edgeworth, who certainly may be classed with Quid's rare race—

The following case was tried a few days since before the supreme court, held at Norfolk, (Con.)

Summer vs. Ugly.—This was an action of slander, demanding 2000 dollars. The parties were both of them physicians—the plaintiff a young gentleman just commencing practice, and the defendant an old practitioner. The slanderous words were spoken in relation to the plaintiff's profession, and charged him with killing a number of patients by his mismanagement. The jury, after a verdict of 750 dollars, but on being returned to a second consideration, brought in 600 dollars.

It is understood that the case will be carried to the court of errors by the defendant, on the ground that the charge against a professional man of mismanagement in a particular case, is not actionable without imputing to him intentional mismanagement. Whatever the result of this may be, it is due to Dr. Summer to say, that the facts disclosed at the trial and his own department, enlisted public feeling strongly in his favor, and that his reputation has not only been restored, but elevated, by the ordeal through which he has passed.

FOREIGN SELECTIONS.

The King of Bavaria has admitted to the Chamber of Deputies a plan for appointing a tribunal and mediators, for settling disputes on point of honor, and preventing duels.

The Pacha of Egypt has evinced a determination to abstain from any aggressive acts on account of the loss of his vessels at Navarino, declaring his resolution not to attack any territory measures that the Grand Seigneur may think proper to direct.

Don Miguel was at Paris on the 21st December, but was soon to proceed to England and probably thence to Portugal.

Miss Helen Maria Williams, a celebrated authoress, died lately at Paris, after a long illness.

Advices from Batavia to 30th August, state that an armistice of thirty days had been concluded between the Dutch and Javaneses, preparatory to a negotiation for peace.

Transport are fitting by the British Government, as is supposed to take their troops from Portugal to England.

The London papers have not yet got through with narrating circumstances and anecdotes in connection with the battle of Navarino.

A dinner was given to Earl Fitzwilliam, in Dublin, by the friends to civil and religious freedom, on the 16th December.

Eight Irishmen were bound over at London on the 17th Dec. to take their trial at the Sessions, for being ring-leaders in a riot in which five or six watchmen were much injured by blows from staves, bundles and pitchforks.

A lady was recently played off in London upon a gentleman living in Tavistock Square. Orders had been forwarded by some person to tradesmen, apothecaries, coachmen, physicians and undertakers, who besieged the gentleman's house from morning to night. Some of these gentlemen were with difficulty persuaded to return with their furniture, having brought it a great distance.

War declared.—The King of the Netherlands has ordered a war of extermination to be waged against all the rabbits in Holland, for injury done to the dykes by that race of sappers and miners.

The London Fancy continue to amuse themselves with dog fights, rat-killing matches, &c.—The famous dog Billy killed one hundred rats in seven minutes and half, and the dog China drew a badger 60 times in an hour. Bets to a considerable amount are some times made.

Two sisters about 30 and 35 years of age, committed suicide by poison in London. They were supported by a brother who was in India. 250l. had been sent to them to apprentice a nephew to a surgeon, 20s of this they paid and gave their note for the remaining 30, which they had occasion to use. The note they were unable to pay immediately on its coming due, and the owner having threatened them with a suit, the prospect of a prison terrified them to that degree that they committed the act. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of insanity.

Numerous affrays had taken place between poachers in different parts of the country and some blood had been shed. In one instance the poachers went in a body of 60 or 70, armed with guns, bludgeons, &c. upon the grounds of the Marchioness of Hertford. These occurrences had given occasion to renew the animadversions upon the game laws, the unjust and tyrannical operations of which lead to scenes of violence and disorder.

A letter from Liverpool, of 19th December, says—"Cotton is heavy and selling lower this week, from the desire of importers to reduce their stocks before the end of the year and not from any change in trade or prospects."

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 14.—Letters from Abu say, that the remainder of that unfortunate town has been destroyed by fire. The exportation of iron from Gottenburg, in the 5th, amounted to 141,000 ship lbs. being 30,000 more than last year.

The concluding article of the fifth number of the American Quarterly Review was given some days ago to the printers; and the number will be ready for distribution even before the regular period. Its contents are of a more popular character than those of any of the antecedent numbers. The subjects of the articles are—Atmospherical Phenomena; Hallam's Constitutional History of England; Voyage to the Moon; Sparks' Life of Ledyard; Dada's Poems; Gynastatics; the Greeks and Turks; Irving's Life of Columbus; Buisset's Napoleonic and Timoshin's Russian Mission to China.

[From the Philadelphia Nat. Gazette, Feb. 19.] A letter from Albany, dated Wednesday morning, relates the following pathetic circumstance:—"Mrs. Clifton remains in a state of derangement. She has been that her husband is only a shadow, and begs that his friends will advise her."

Let ancient or modern history be produced, and they will not afford a more heroic display than the reply of Yankee Stonington to the British commanders. The people were engaged in piling the balls which the enemy had wasted, when the foe applied to them. "We want balls, will you sell them?" They answered, "We want powder—balls."

It is stated that there have been made in Louisiana the last year, from native cane, sixty thousand hogheads of sugar, and thirty thousand of molasses. Paddy would say, on hearing this, Och! what a swart country.

St. JOSEPH'S BALL, IN THE ORLEANS BALL-ROOM.

THE Managers of the BALLS has the honor to inform the public, that he will give in the said room, on Wednesday the 19th inst. (St. Joseph's Day) A FULL DRESS BALL and with characters. The same are given in the principal cities in France and North America. A FULL DRESS BALL.

This kind of amusement not being well known here, the following explanation is given, if each person may take any kind of disguise, without being masked, and in the dress which he has adopted and fill the character which is represented by the dress, and which must be supported by the individual so disguised. The Ball being a dress one, and with characters, every dressed or distinguished person will be equally admitted, but to avoid the introduction of respectable persons, the name of each lady will be written on her ticket, and she will have to make herself known before entering the ball-room. Admittance—one dollar.
