A Sign.
A Mr J. M. Commander was present at the Baltimore Convention, as a Delegate from the State of Stath Cardina. He took an active part in the proceedings, and his individual vote was received and recorded as the since votes to which the State is entitled. The Charleston Mercury, of the 26th u't., takes up the subject, and denounces Mr. Commander and the Convention in seathing terms. As a specimen, we subjoin the first paragraph in the article :

subout the first paragraph in the article:

The coolest purce of impudence we have seen store 1810, has been just enaced at Baltimore, trended by that trockery and bobstering which is ever not thered when honests and fair play are to be put under too. We did not believe, it the time, that all the finarriziation and the patting on the back of Mr. Communder and his patting on the back of Mr. Communder and his patting to the patting at Googsetown, but the Federal Train of Great's, and some others, was without its given at object. We never doubted for a moment that the Rucker fault was to be re-enacted, and we were to have new dilions, enlarged and improved, for the forthcoming of which, the management of our affairs had been taken in hand by the Georgia editor and his conductors. But, much as our capectations were raised, we were not prepared for that dazzlong burst of genus and imparabled imparing burst of genus and imparabled imparing burst of genus and imparabled imparing them.

The weather thus far has been most propitious for the corn in this parish. There is every prospect of an abundant yield, should the weather continue flavirable. The cotton crop, on the contrary will, we fear, prove almost a failure. The cut-worn has ravaged nearly every plantation in the larish—in many instances, heavily stripping the fields, and rendering the remaining stand sickly emongh. Cane is doing much better than on the coast.

The east Feliciana Whig has the subjoined article upon the subject:

The Crors—The present season, thus far, seems to have lawreed the planter to an unasual satent over the whole State. From every quarter we have been gratified to hear the most flattering accounts of the growing crops of cotton and corn. The sugar region does not seem to have been most the distribution of the State, but even there a reason, able prospect exists for an average crop. Our Parish until a week or two formed no exception to the general promise of abundant crops. Within that period, complaints have reached us. At first rare, but of daily increasing frequency, of the ravages of the cut. worm. This words is no new element of desirer in the reckoning of the cotton planter. He comes annually in greater or less numbers. The present year, in so far as this section of the State is concerned, will doubtless be significated by an unusually large visitation of the destroying vermin.

The corn crops never promised a better yield than they do at present. The sugar crop of the Parish forms an exception to the very general grant. The corn crops never promised a better yield than they do at present. The sugar crop of the Parish forms an exception to the very general good of the control of the destroying vermin.

The corn crops never promised a better yield than they do at present. The sugar crop of the Parish forms an exception to the very general complaints among the planters on the old sugar lands. Our East Feliciana lands will, we predict achieve a reputation this season for raising better sugar and more of it, than any others in the State. We distike bragging, but will go a gallou of East Feliciana mand busoweries.
