No regular nail was received yesterday. New York papers are of the 9th, and Charleston of the 16th of February. No papers from either Baltimore or Washington.

The doctrine of nullification-the peaceful remedy-that was to have proved a catholicon for all political evils, has brought the inhabitants of South Carolina to such a situation as Satan himself might view with a smile of satisfaction. Many of the citizens of that state, although theoretic nullifiers, will not, it seems, abide the practice of their doctrine, and are fast migrating into neighbring states, to avoid its consequences. Is this not an enviable situation? Could the veriest enemy of Carolina have wished her s greater curse, than the one entailed upon her by her most favored cons? Indeed Carolinians should sing posans of praise, and erect monuments of gratitude, to the patriotic triumvirate, whose noble ambition has bestowed on them s many elements of peace and prosperity!

Important to Importers of Linen Goods.—The Secretar of the Treasury has decided, on inquiry as to what will be the rates of duty which will be payable, under the act of the 14th July last, after the 3d March next, on table dispers, damask napkins, table cloths, sheetings, brown drillings, long lawns, Russia sheetings, black linens, Russia diapers, and worsted shawls, that the whole of the above articles will be liable to the existing rate of duty of $5 per cent, ad

A letter from Chester District, dated 13th inst. states that the cause of Union was never stronger in that quarter than at the present moment. "We can muster (says the latters) in the Union cause, in this District, at least nine hundred effective men, who are ready and willing to take the ficle in defence of their liberties at a moment's notice. I have had many conversations recently with Nullitiers, and I find that they are, almost to a man, opposed to secession, on any terms—and I feel satisfied that the Propte of the State will never support their leaders in that move."-Charleston

Council.

The North American Gazette, published at Augusta, theo. gives a fearful account of the emigration from the State to the West, due in a great measure to the disastrous doctrine of Nullification. It is scareely eredible that the progress of depopulation is as rapid as represented in the following puragraphi, but there can be no doubt that it has already reached an alarmang extent.

"Since the pussage of the Nullification Ordinance in November last," (says the N. A. Gazette) "some intelligent individuals in South Carolina estimated, some time ago, that between thirty and forty thousand persons have left the State, and have gone to settle in places where the "value of the Union" is understood—where its blessings are appreciated, and its protection peaceably enjoyed. A gentleman from the Westward observed a day or two since, that three hundred families from South Carolina had crossed one ferry on Flint them. gentleman from the Westward observed a day or two since, that three hundred families from South Carolina had crossed one ferry on Flint river in ten days. How certain leading men in Carolina to its meaning to the control of the control of the certain leading one ferry on Flint river in ten days. How certain leading men in Carolina to its present condition, will ever make atonement to their fellow citizens, for the mischief they have already done, ie what we pretend not to calculate—how they can ever make amends for the still greater mischief they may yet accomplish, must be left to time to determine. But that the people have no cause to be grateful for their services is too evident we believe to be quostioned. Our best wishes are sincerely and ardently indulged that the State may be ressued from its present difficulties, in some way by which its heef interests may be preserved, its prosperity promoted, and the energy and dignity of the National Government be sustained, in a way that shall seen it the affectionate support, and the increased confidence, both of South Carolina and all the other States."

CONFLICTING DECISIONS. Admirally Cares.—Judge Crawford has lately given a decision, accompanied by a written opinion of considerable length, in a case before him, in the District Court of the United States for the southern district of Alabama, which United States for the southern district of Alabams, which decision conflicts with one given by Judge Thompson in a practisely similar case. It may be of some importance to merchasts and ship owners, and we note the main points of the case, and the difference of opinion.

of the case, and the difference of opinion.

The brig Hope had been regularly brought over the outer bar of Mobile by the pilots, who left her at the usual place. The wind subsequently shifted, the brig was blown on shore outside of the point, and so damaged that she was abandoned by the crew and master. The pilots boaseded her, succeeded in saving her, and brought vessel and cargo into port. They libelied her for salvage and were opposed on two grounds.

The opinion of the Judge therefore on this point, seas." The opinion of the Judge therefore on this point, that the United States District Court had jurisdiction, not only because the services were rendered upon the high seas, due for services performed on, from and to the sea."
