neither can we come at the drift of his deprecating appeal to the planters of Louisiana. Is it offered us a picculum, an expiction for all the mischief that the editor of the Telegraph has attempted to draw on this equatry? Or is it Doc. 1831, put forth as an indirect answer to three or four venaries, more day of the property of the pr which appeared in this paper, alluding to an indication Fishing vessels, on the part of Duff Green to start an incondiary question? If the latter, we, not as the editors of "a Jac. son press;" but as men who stand in the consciousness of independence; who scorn to truckle to any man or set of men; we again assort, that the tondencies of an article which appeared under the editorial head of the Telegraph, are essentially destructive of the peace of the South. What care we that Duff Green should have pounced upon the Emancipator, on its very appoirance; when his own paragraphs, with something more of talent, are named in the same spirit, as that which he relukes? How know we, and circumstances would make it good, but that the Tele graph is actuated by the secret spirit of egotism, which will not allow some men to have a comper even in a flagitious act? This conduct is "the very arch-fiend's mockery," which would not resign to any subaltern devil the ount honor of disturbing the tranquillity of Eden.

From several letters published in the northern papers, i securis a settled thing that the president will visit some of the bleeding went on in spite of every effort to step it—the castern states during the course of the present summer. Our chief magistrate, we believe has never gone far her north than the city of New-York: his tour over New-England must necessarily do away with many groundless prejudices, which have grown out of a misconception of the man's real character. No one, since the days of Washingman's real character. No one, since the days of Washington, has shared as largely as he in popular favor; and no one tone excepting. Jefferson, has been as gratuitously asporaed. Important legal decision.—The court of appeals yesterday unanimously reversed the decision of judge Bay, requiring you may suppose me some third or pickpocket, but to prove an oath of allegiance to the state, in addition to the oath of fidelity to the federal constitution, as a condition of admission to chizenship. It will be recollected what a handle was made of judge Bay's decision, by the Mercury, and the find for a generally during the last state elections to retrieve nulifiers generally, during the last state elections, to persuade adopted citizens that their primary allegiance was due to the state. It was in vain that we contended, that the oath of allegiance to the state was required without warrant of law—that it was an interpolation into the law of naalization-the Mercury could not be convinced, because would not. The highest judicial tribunal in our state has a whovever settled beyond further cavil, that foreigners may now become citizens of our great and glorious republic, without other pledge of their allegiance than to the constitution of the United States—in which, we readily admit, is risplied and included fidelity to each and every state in the union, in which they may happen to reside, in all matters it a conflicting with the "supreme law of the land," to which they have pledged their faith by a solemn appeal to hea-
