OR BANKS AND BIDDLE'S SUCCOUR.

The last statement of the condition of the banks of

There was nothing, in effect, in Mr. Biddle to the bank committee of New Orleans, that in assistance from Mr. Biddle. And how, is name of common sense, could they expect the fr. Biddle would ever furnish a sliculating medium t the banks of New Orleans by means of his notes of the United States Bank of Possbaylvania 3. Did the helieve that he would furnish three or four millions o ion to the pitcous representations which the bar-rogamittee had made of the state of our affairs !-What a singular mistake, to expect relief from a mar like Mr. Biddle, who is in a state of open war we. ise government, and who thinks his interest is to i advanced by paralysing the movements of all the banks in the country, in order to make as many one officese possible to the national administration, and to see the partisens of a national bank.

At all events, we counsel the Intelligencer to wait until congress decides the question between Douglas and Stuart, as it is more tian probable that a new election will be ordered. THE RUMORED DEPAGRATIONS.-The New York

The Readerd Department—The New York-dun, a paper distinguished by the general acturacy as at information, states that the alleged embezzhement of the public monias by Mr. Swartwood, to the smooth of one million and a querter, will probably turn out a new exaggeration of the day. The late collapse of the port of New York is daily expected in the Great Western. The same definated is probably only a quarter of a million, and is held to await the result of certain suits, instituted for the recovery of dutimeliain ed to be over paid. The story respecting Mr. Hott he present collector, preves to be equally deminate of cruth.

So say the northern papers that it is evidently an error to state that Mr. Creighter was a member of congress. Fayette forms a part o Mr. Bond's district, and Madison a part of Mr. Bidg-

Courier and Enquirer actions of Messers and secret, and in the second and Ely. The congressional delegation stands therefore therein to trendy whige. This is infinitely better than the hat returns induced to expect. We have fittle doubt that when the official returns for gevernor are received from all the counties, the majorates of Messers Seward and Brahalis will be fluund not quite so everwhelming as they are proven the object of the section for member of congress in this state is yet accordance. New Castle county has given a majority of two handeed and ten for Robinson the administration candidate, ever Miffigun, the wing candidate. The remaining two counties Kent and times, are fident.
