The Bucks county Intalligencer of Saturday, says:—The weather the past week his had all the softness and warmth of a ring. Such a continued spell of warm weather at this season of this season of the year, is quite uncommon. Numerous flocks of wild pigeons were seen passing from the south to the north, which has caused numerous speculations as to the cause of their premature migration. There is no frost in the ground, and many farmers have been busily engaged ploughing for several days.
