

FOR GOVERNOR. J. B. DAWSON. FOR MAYOR. JOHN H. HOLLAND. FOR CONGRESS. CHARLES CARRER. JAMES M. BRADFORD.

Yellow citizens, if the law requires this as a condition in completing the eligibility of a candidate for the place of Mayor, judge if respect for public morals and morals, does not more imperiously exact that it should be found in a candidate for the office of Governor.

The Northern Mail of yesterday is supposed to have been a mistake. It is a mistake, and we are glad to see it corrected. The Northern Mail of yesterday is supposed to have been a mistake. It is a mistake, and we are glad to see it corrected.

The Government choice of a site for the Custom-house in New-York, is in danger again. A report has been sent to the city council, recommending the widening of Duane street, through the whole distance which will take of twenty-four feet from that part selected for the Custom-house, and make it available for the purpose. The report has not yet been acted upon.

The National Republican in Philadelphia held a meeting on the 20th inst. for the purpose of making arrangements for the reception of Mr. Clay, who was expected to visit the city on the evening of that day from Baltimore. The chief speakers in the audience were Matthew Carey, Henry Wilson, J. G. Whitaker, the United States Senator, and others.

by, which they are not troubling themselves about, in which their interference is, at least, unimportant, and in reference to which, if their views were perfect, they could not be expected to do anything.

The question which concerns the immediate sphere of their social influence is not limited to the exercise of their political rights, but extends to the exercise of their moral influence. If they possess the moral influence, they will possess the political influence.

The highest attempt to gratify this subject, on the part of the North, is justly regarded by the South as an interference with their private affairs. The South is not prepared to receive such an interference. The South is not prepared to receive such an interference.

When a man is found to be a man of high character, his name is a recommendation. His name is a recommendation. His name is a recommendation. His name is a recommendation.

The first and the second. No matter with what denomination he has been devoted to the altar of slavery, the moment a man sets his foot on British ground, the altar is broken, and the man is free.
