I would strongly advise anybody considering buying replica guitars from this company, to be very aware they well may rip you off!!!

The sales manager is a man named Wink Zhang who is very helpful to get your business until you pay the money in full, then it goes a little cloudy, He continues to exchange emails but never really address's the problem . As I Experienced when purchasing two guitars, After two months of pestering him, He sent me a tracking number which didn't exist and then weeks later he sent out the wrong guitars, with one guitar snapped at the neck, when getting back in touch with him, he blames his staff for the mix up and then blames the parcel company (EMS) for the damage, The guitars were packed in a flimsy polystyrene bag and were in cardboard boxes which would clearly not stand any kind of aeroplane journey and then he expects you to pay for the guitars to be returned back, this costing $281, which he clearly thinks is no problem . Still he gives me no idea when the goods I really purchased will be delivered; he uses the language barrier which gradually gets worse as you exchange emails.

This man is not to be trusted, Find someone else to deal with, his company are rip off merchants!!!!!!!

I hope this helps anyone looking at this company.
