A RUSSIAN TRAGEDY.

Six Persons of a Fanatical Sect Walled Up Alive.

Finding of the Bodies by the Police Causes an Investigation Which Reveals a Remarkable Case of Superstition.

The London Daily News recently sent a special correspondent to investigate the circumstances of the dreadful murdering tragedy near Tiraspol, southern Russia, where the police recently discovered the bodies of six persons, members of the fanatical sect known as the Raskolniki, who had been walled up alive by Foodor Kovaleff, that they might secure salvation by self immolation.

In his first letter the correspondent says: "Emperor Nicholas is taking a strong personal interest in this extraordinary affair. I have not as yet visited the actual scene at Ternofka, but here (Tiraspol) I learn that Kovaleff, the executioner in this tragedy, is quite convinced of the sanctity of his act and awaits his fate with the utmost indifference. It is probable, however, that he will not be tried, but will be confined in a monastery as a madman, though there is no evidence of insanity.

"One of the chief figures, largely instrumental in this whole terrible drama, was a middle class, well-educated epistoler, Vera Makaveyeva, who, as Sister Vitalia, was a sort of priestess of this fanatical sect. She was of commanding figure, with wonderfully lustrous and expressive eyes, an attractive and persuasive eloquence and had an absolute influence over her followers.

"Last year she predicted the final cataclysm of a misgoverned world. When the census was taken she persuaded the sect that it was ordained that she should take the roll call of those who were to be summoned to the judgment seat. All went to prison for their refusal to give the census particulars. In jail, they refused to eat, and they were not liberated until they were almost dead.

"It appears that the wife of Kovaleff was persuaded that the census was intended to compel them all to embrace the orthodox faith, and she determined to sacrifice herself and her children.

"Kovaleff, who was really among the least fanatical of the sect, horrified by his wife's avowal, sought the advice of Sister Vitalia. The latter commended the mother's laudable sacrificial resolution with such eloquence that Kovaleff consented to wall up his own family, and Sister Vitalia with them.

The tender of the beautiful life-size original bronze was made to the museum on June 1 in a letter sent by Mr. McKim to Frederick Rhinecliff. This generous offer was by him transmitted to Daniel Huntington, chairman of the committee on sculpture. Under the constitution in the absence of the members of the board of directors, Henry G. Marquand, president, Hiram Hitechock, treasurer, and Gen. Louis D. Cosens, secretary of the museum, are empowered to act with the chairman of the committee on sculpture.

This committee of the board of directors met promptly and voted unanimously to accept the gift.

Some valuable statistics relative to the growth in Germany of the workingmen's insurance system have been received at the state department from United States Consul Stern at Bamberg. These statistics insure against sickness, accident and old age, and, in the opinion of the consul, have had a beneficial influence upon the economical and social position of the German working classes. He says that in a country like Germany, where low wages allow but a small fraction of the laboring classes to put anything for something for rainy days, a great deal has been accomplished by this system, which he hopes may be extended to other countries. In ten years, from 1886 to 1896, claims to the amount of $296,015,824 have been paid to 25,061,620 persons, and $250,000 per day is disbursed in such benefits.

Monuments of Glass. A company of glass workers have recently discovered that ordinary plate glass will make a more durable monument than the hardest marble or granite, for glass is practically indestructible. Wind, rain, heat or cold will eventually crumble the hardest rock, and one can seldom read the inscription on a gravestone 50 years old, but a glass monument will look as fresh after the lapse of centuries as on the day of its erection, and the inscription can be made ineffaceable. The thick plate glass used to glaze the port holes of steamers will resist the stormiest sea and is practically unbreakable.

The Certosa Monastery. Pavia's famous Carthusian monastery, the Certosa, which for many years has been used as an art museum, is to be used once more, in part at least, for divine worship. Mass will be said daily in the chapel by secular priests, as the monks have been dispersed.

New England Leads. Relatively to population no European country can vie with New England in respect of manufactures.

HELPING NEEDY HEBREWS.

First Installment of Million-Dollar Hirsch Fund Received.

Myer S. Isaacs, president of the Baron de Hirsch fund, has received a draft for $250,000, the first installment of the $1,000,000 given by Baroness de Hirsch for the benefit of the poor of New York city. Nothing has as yet been definitely decided by the trustees of the Hirsch fund as to the manner in which this additional million dollars will be used. Mr. Isaacs said that the money would be used to improve the condition of the poor of New York in any way which experience would dictate. The work now being done with the funds given by Baron de Hirsch will be extended and an effort made to better the condition of the tenement house dwellers. Whether, however, model tenement houses will be erected or the inhabitants of the poor quarters of the city benefited in other ways, Mr. Isaacs could not say. Mr. Isaacs and his co-workers are fully alive to the danger of forcing charity on people, and also to the necessity of extreme care in selecting those worthy of assistance. Most of the direct aid is distributed through the medium of the trade schools supported by the Hirsch fund, cases requiring assistance being referred through the instructors of these institutions. The chief object of the money given by Baroness de Hirsch is to encourage dwellers in the crowded sections of the city to migrate into the country, and the trustees will probably devote a large portion of the money to developing the work they have already begun of enabling those disposed to agriculture to buy and stock their farms.

PREHISTORIC RELIC HUNT. Party to Go to New Mexico to Climb a Tableland 7000 Feet High.

Prof. William Libby, Jr., of Princeton University, will leave for Albuquerque, N. M., early in July with a party of six explorers. Their plan is to attempt to reach a relatively rectangular tableland shaped like a figure 8, with perpendicular sides 700 feet high. The outcroppings of red sandstone project from the face of the walls, making it heretofore inaccessible.

There are indications of occupancy by a prehistoric race in the fragments of pottery at the base of the formation. Prof. Libby has arranged to throw a line over this tableland, which is several acres in extent on top, by means of the tandem kites with which experiments were conducted the other day by William A. Eddy, who sent up three large kites, which were maintained some time in the air, although the wind was too light for satisfactory experiment. Prof. Libby has a mortar and life line packed ready for shipment, with which an attempt will be made to fire a line over the tableland in case the wind is too light for the kites. Larger lines will be dragged over and the ascent made in a boatswain's chair.

Some cliff dwellings have been seen along its edges aloft. Mr. Eddy says that the top of the tableland can be photographed by means of his midair kite camera.

JAPAN ORDERS BIG BATTLESHIP. It is to Be a Counterpart of the British Vessel Jupiter.

Japan has ordered a battle ship of 11,000 tons to be built on the Clyde. It will be a duplicate of the British battle ship Jupiter. The Jupiter is of 14,000 tons and 12,000 indicated horse-power. It is in course of construction, and is a sister ship of the Magenta, Majestic and Mars. It carries four 12-inch guns, 12 six-inch quick firing guns, eight 12-pounders, 12 three-pounders, and eight 18-inch guns of smaller caliber. The coal capacity is 1,850 tons, and it is manned by a crew of 757 men.

The speed is to be over 17 knots, and the vessel carries nine inches of harveylized steel armor on its sides, from four to nine inches of harveylized steel armor over the gun positions, and the deck plating is from four to two and a half inches in thickness. The Jupiter has five torpedo tubes.

INVENTS A WONDERFUL ENGINE. Astonishing Results Claimed for a Rotary Machine at Ashland, Wis.

Manager Drake, of the Shumway factory at Ashland, Wis., has invented a wonderful rotary engine, which was put together and tried in a Saturday afternoon. Its weight is only 90 pounds and on trial it produced 15,000 revolutions per minute, producing five horse-power. The trial was made in the presence of the mechanics of the Parish iron works, who were astonished at the results. The manager, Mr. Bretting, says that the engine will accomplish all that was promised by Grant Bramble, of Sleepy Eye. Mr. Drake has been at work on the machine for 25 years.

LATEST THEATRICAL SOUVENIRS London Playhouse to Give Diamond Brooches to Its Patrons.

The latest thing in theatrical souvenirs has been devised by the management of Terry's theater in London, who, in honor of the queen's jubilee, as well as to increase the attractions of "The French Maid" propose to give diamond brooches to their most faithful patrons. Their plan is to give coupons to all purchasers of tickets for the galleries, pit and upper boxes, and to those securing the greater number of coupons for each of these parts of the house will be awarded the trinkets.

Seeking a Chinese Contract. The contract for the Chinese railway proposed between Peking and Hankow, a distance of 1,200 miles, is made a subject of a special commission, to be sent from Belgium to China. The parties seeking this contract are Belgium manufacturers, but the king and his ministers are said to be interested in it.

INDIANA TO HONOR LA SALLE.

Historical Society Will Mark Spot Which He Visited.

The initiative toward a memorial for the great explorer, La Salle, has just been taken by the Northern Indiana Historical society, as the result of agitation begun several years ago by the South Bend Tribune.

There can be but little question but the spot made historic by La Salle's visit near South Bend in the winter of 1679 is in the picturesque bend of the St. Joseph river familiarly known as St. Hook, two miles north of the city. In that bend began the old portage across to the headwaters of the Kanawakee that the Indians had used long before the advent of the white man.

It is one of the three historic portages of the great northwest, the others being in Illinois, between the Illinois and Desplaines rivers, and in Wisconsin, between the Fox and Wisconsin rivers.

On the Desplaines a monument to La Salle was erected last season, and the Wisconsin portage is appropriately marked. It seems to be the idea of the society to secure a bit of ground, which, it is understood, can be had for a asking, somewhere near the old portage landing on the St. Joe, get one of the biggest granite rocks that can be found in the vicinity, have it properly inscribed and set up to mark the historic spot, and to perpetuate La Salle's memory until something more expensive and imposing can be erected.

TURNING IRON INTO STEEL. Hastings Process for Converting Submitted to Successful Test.

That the John B. Hastings process for converting common iron into steel is a success was shown before a large gathering of experts at the Bellaire (O.) Edge Tool company's works the other day. After putting the steel to the most severe tests known to them the experts pronounced it a positive success.

Not only is the process a success, they say, but the cheapness of converting the iron into steel is wonderful. Five hundred pounds of iron was treated and converted into steel at a cost less than five cents.

The converter, which is an invention of Mr. Hastings', is heated by oil and air, requiring but two gallons of oil, at a cost of 45 cents per barrel, to obtain the required heat. This was acknowledged by those present to be the cheapest and most successful process now known.

The steel that was made at this test cost less than a cent a pound and performed work that steel costing 40 cents a pound would not do.

Other articles that were cast were reheated and put into different shapes, showing that the cast steel from this process can be made into any shape desired. The steel is held to be positively anti-friction.

Another test will be made at the same works, where a number of Columbus and Cincinnati capitalists, who are to erect a large plant in Columbus to make steel by this new process, will be present.

ONCE COLONIZED AMERICA. Evidence Proving Presence of Chinese on Continent 2,000 Years Ago.

Simultaneously with news of the discovery of relics near Guaymas, Mex., which prove the existence of the Chinese in Mexico 2,000 years ago information is received from Australia concerning the reports of F. W. Christian, of the Polynesian society. Christian has discovered extensive traces of the Chinese and Japanese in the islands of the Pacific and claims to have discovered evidence pointing to the existence of a civilization of nearly 2,000 years ago, which is linked with the ancient civilization in Central America, and will probably explain the origin of the Aztec races. Evidence of a decisive nature was secured which shows that a large trade was carried on, via the islands of the Carolina group, between China and Central America. The coincidence is a strange one that a dispatch from Hermosillo, Mex., dated June 6, reports that a rock recently discovered in the mountains of Magdalena district, state of Sonora, is covered with Chinese inscriptions. Those translated show that the writing was probably inscribed on the rock at least 2,000 years ago.

TO SEARCH FOR MINERALS. Jesse B. Grant's Expedition Sails for Gulf of California.

The schooner Emma and Louise sailed for Guaymas, Mex., a few days ago laden with lumber. Beyond this commonplace trailing trip, however, is an exploring expedition, of which Jesse B. Grant, of San Diego, son of the late Gen. Grant, is the backer. Some months ago Grant obtained a concession from the Mexican government to explore all the islands of the Gulf of California lying north of the twenty-ninth degree of latitude, he to have all the guano and minerals discovered and the Mexican government to receive ten per cent of the proceeds.

The twenty-ninth degree divides Tiburon island, which is inhabited by the man-eating tribe of Ceris Indians, and it is proposed to prospect the northern half for minerals. Angel de la Guardia, the largest island in the Gulf, lies entirely within the Grant concession. It is believed the island is rich in minerals, although it has never been thoroughly explored.

Reluctant Compliments. When Sir Walter Scott repeated "Hohenlinden" to Leyden the latter commented: "Dash it, man! tell the fellow that I hate him, but, dash him, he has written the finest verses that have been published these 50 years." Sir Walter faithfully carried out his errand and Campbell answered: "Tell Leyden that I detest him, but I know the value of his critical approbation."

South Africa's Gold Output. The February output of the Witwatersrand gold mines in South Africa—211,000 ounces—was the largest on record, with the exception of that of last August.

CAN'T WED IN BLOOMERS.

A Milwaukee Minister Refuses to Marry a Chicago Couple.

"Thou shalt not wear bloomers on the Sabbath day if thou wouldst be married a Methodist." Such is the rule of conduct laid down for the guidance of Chicago couples by Rev. Wesley A. Hunsberger, the great marrying parson, of Milwaukee. The decision was given in the case of William Kinler and Miss Dreisbaugh, of Chicago, who presented themselves at the parsonage and asked the minister to pronounce the words which would make them one.

Miss Dreisbaugh was attired in a suit of modest becoming bloomers, while the young man had on a regulation bicycle costume. They came from Chicago on an excursion steamer and had their wheels. After a hot ride through the city, in which they did considerable scorching, they stopped in front of the parsonage and went panting to the minister with the request that he marry them while they were getting cool on the little red sofa. He refused because they were not properly dressed for the occasion and the day.

In speaking of the matter Mr. Hunsberger said: "I do not object to bloomers so much, but then the church has condemned Sunday wheeling and Sunday excursions, and when it was evident that a couple came here from Chicago to get married I cannot marry them. It had been any other day but Sunday it would be different."

Justice McWorther, who has no prejudice against bloomers, married the couple.

JUBILEE SWINDLERS GET READY. Chase of Brother Jonathan.

It is impossible to escape the jubilee echoes. Already everything is turning up that celebration, dress, decoration and entertainments, while there is a shrieking chorus from the press warning everybody against all imaginable disasters which, it is claimed, are likely to ensue. It is even pointed out that the proposed bonfires are likely to set the whole country in a blaze, while other correspondents are so impressed with the importance of the jubilee that they are not satisfied with the name of England or Britain and want England to be rechristened Wiseland, the first four letters being the initials of Wales, Ireland, Scotland and England. This is capped by another correspondent who wants the empire to be called Enwiscollia, so as to bring in the colonies of England and that all subjects of the queen be called Enwiscollians.

Jubilee seat swindling is rampant. Sharpers are meeting the incoming steamers at Port Said, Brindisi and Queenstown and are selling to unsuspecting passengers nonexistent seats to view the jubilee procession. Many Americans have been victimized in this manner at Queenstown.

Complications in regard to the special embassy of Mr. Whitelaw Reid, proprietor of the New York Tribune, are already on the horizon. The queen will receive Mr. Reid alone, following the same precedent with the other special embassies. The foreign office is prepared to provide quarters for Mr. Reid and his suite, embracing in the latter Gen. Nelson Miles and Rear Admiral J. X. Miller, U. S. N. Mr. Reid, however, proposes to do credit to the United States, and Mr. Orden Mills, his brother-in-law, is already in London seeking a large house for the accommodation of the special embassy. The foreign office officials are glad to have Mr. Reid do this, but they say they cannot separate Gen. Miles and Admiral Miller from the rest of his suite, and they must provide their own quarters.

The duchess of Devonshire's historical costume ball on July 26 promises to be a magnificent affair. It is understood that the duchess of Marlborough (formerly Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt) will appear in the character of Columbia, and the duke of Marlborough has ordered a Louis XVI. costume with wonderful jeweled embroideries. The prince of Wales will represent one of his ancestors.

The first named, who was charged with affairs of the Korean legation at Washington for three years, has been commissioned by the king of Corea to escort the prince to America and see him comfortably established in some eastern institution of learning, where he can take a three years' course in English branches.

DIAMONDS IN MEXICO. "Lost Fields" of Guerrero Thought to Have Been Found.

It is reported from the state of Guerrero, Mexico, that the lost diamond fields there have been rediscovered. As far back as 1822 some Indians brought from that state specimens of what they called "crystal chips," and presented them to Gen. Guerrero, who discovered that they were valuable diamonds, and which were equal to the best Indian diamonds from the Golconda.

Traces of the beds were lost, and it is now believed they have been found again. There is much interest in the matter in the City of Mexico, and there are predictions that the new diamond fields are equal to those in South Africa.

Persons interested in real estate in Atlanta, Ga., are saying that there is every indication that more building will be done in that city the present season than in any one year before in its history. Last year about 300 buildings were erected there. Atlanta is called by many the most Yankee-like city in the south.
