COMPROMISES. weeks ago we hazarded the prediction that the Wilmot Provino would be defeated in the Senate of the United States, and that the aguation of the Slavery question would be quieted by the admission of California,—not per-haps with her present boundaries, but certain'y with the anti-slavery restriction in her constitutim. The message of the President received some weeks after these speculations, confirms or belief in the certainty of a peaceful adjustmant of those sectional topics which recently a icited so many angry manifestations. We are the habit of looking to the United States Se every crisis that threatened danger to the ion, that noble and patriotic hody has been foremost in allaying strife, and in profering the o'ive-branch of peace to contending partizans.

The earnest and implicit confidence reposed in by both parties of a sincere desire to heal the estering sores which afflict the body politic and to restore to the Union its pristine health and vigor, by removing some causes of irrita-tion from which it had suffered.

Compromises in relation to the slavery question have originated in the Senate. Mr. Footg and Mr. Clay have already made known their plane for the settlement of the controversy, and im, has taken the initiative, and his California message, foreshadows the only feasible project by which a direct collision between the North tion of delegates representing the people of Ca-lifornia tramed, and which was subsequently rainfied by the popular voice. The obvious and messimable advantage of this arrangement is that it will releve Congress from the painful necessity of pronouncing upon the abstract question of slavery, that it kills the Wilmet Proviso effectually, and that it takes away from all but the restless and disentished ultras of the North and South, every preject for keeping up the agitation of the question. This is the wise, safe and prudent policy suggested by the sident, - this is the gist and marrow of Me. TLAY's resolutions, and this will probably be the essence of every proposition that may hereafter be made in reference to this delicate and dan-

The Nigara's letters have at last come through, confirming in every resential priticular the advices previously at hand by telegraph. Trade is repeased as being quite brick in the manufacturing libertoid, and this in connection with the unpredented cheanness of unouery, affinde a well grounded hope of the continuance of a steady demend for goods and years. The letters bring no orders that can be executed, nearly all of them being limited at 11c., and under for Fair. The margin is succeptible, bowdern of some tension, and the next two steamers will doubtless convey an increase of a muts.
