THE DAILY BEE.

SATURDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 30.

DISCUSSION.

We have received a pamphlet bearing the title "The War of Secession," written by Mr. T. C. Davis, of the Union between North and South, and the propriety of separation and the formation of a Southern United States. It is a well-written, interestingly presented paper, and its position is argued ably and clearly. The author's prose is masterful, and his style is forcible. The book proceeds up the river of opinion of the Union; next the changes of the country and people, the influence of race and party, the rise of sectional factitiousness, and the like. The author's language is clear, and says such language would have been used had much longer been available.

The book proceeds up the river of opinion of the Pacific India War.

THE INDIANS SUBSIDED.

A letter from Louis, dated October 13th, says that the Spokane and Pendleton Indians, who were at war with the whites, have peaceably submitted to the authority of the United States, and the peace is now general throughout the country.

The chief of the Spokane was captured.

The Indians of the South, the expenses of the government, from whom the money is raised, and a whole host of other topics, are finally reached.

The conclusion that the only hope of the South is in casting of a coat and service dependent upon the rest of the country.

Our faith in the remedy proposed by Mr. Dix is proportionate to our belief in the spirit of the article and author.

THE ILLINOIS CONTEST.

On Saturday, October 29th, Lincoln denied the right of secession, and the contest is over.

As we conceive the matter, it will be sufficiently explained, we hold the former to be premature and imprudent.
