GEN. GRANT ON THE IMPEACHMENT TRIAL. CITY INTELLIGENCE.

The great probability that Gen. Grant will be the next President, or Dictator, of the United States, according to Radical ideas, makes it a matter of deep concern to the people, over whom he is to wisd such extensive power, what manner of man their future ruler resulty is. And we must say that, since his duplicity and false-hood towards the President have been exposed; since his conviction of having committed one of the gravast and most d shonorable sets of which a sedier and a gentleman can be guilty, our opinion of his personal character, which, necessary which there was reason to believe his necessary which there was reason to believe his to be affected.) we regarded as deserving the confidence of his countrymen, has undergouse and material change. We can only judge of Grant by his acts. Previous to the war he was entirely unknown to the people. If its believed that his disappated habits led to his resignation in the army, and that he was a time of the confidence of his countrymen, has undergoused in the confidence of his countrymen, has undergoused the confidence of his countrymen, has capital hood to which we was reason to be live with the was reason to be affected.) we regarded as deserving the confidence of his countrymen, has capital hood of the confidence of his countrymen, has capital hood of which we have he was entirely unknown to the people have been an extensive the confidence of his countrymen, has undergoused the confidence of his countrymen, has capital hood of his personal continues of the production for Markey and the condition of the production for Markey in the production for Markey.
