North Battery .- It gives us great pleasure to find that the negociation with the government of the United States for the re-cession of the north battery to the corporation has been successful.

The cite of that fort was ceded by the corporation to the United States during the late war on the condition that when no longer necessary for the defence of the harbor, it should revert to from 24 to $30 per bbl. the corporation. - A law passed in 1830 authorising the President when the work was no longer considered necessary for the defence of the harbor of New-York, to dismantle the same. dispose of the materials as he should think would the cabin at the time, was lost, supposed to have comport with the public interest and deliver over been crushed to death by a part of the cargo. NEW-YORK, April 1st, 1831. Sir-Agreeably to the directions of the committee in relation to the north battery. I proceeded to Washington to negotiate for the cession of that fort to the corporation of this city. It gives me great pleasure to state, that the powers given by the act of congress to the Pres- inst. we copy the following: 'ent to transfer that work, were constructed by him in that spirit of justice and liberality, which, while it awakens kind feeling towards our government, tends also to willing and ready exertions for the public weal on any future emergen-

Author of Junius. - We lately copied an item some time known the fact, that this supposition le s long since been anticipated by Dr. Benjamine Waterhouse, of Cambridge, England, and that he has time and again, expressed his opinion explicitly, both in convesation and in letters to friends, both in this country and in England. We also understand that he has actually at this tine, on the eve of publication, a volume on the count says;subject, which has been shown in manuscript, in parts, for several years past, in which the Doctor assumes this postulation, that Wm. Bank of the United-States .- The resolution declaring it the sentiment of the Legislature of this state, that the charter of the Bank of the U nited States ought not to be renewed, passed the Senate yesterday, by a vote of 17 to 13. The Pennsylvania Legislature passed a resolution unanimously, at their late session, that the charter of the Bank ought to be reacced.

Thus far the sentiment of state legislatures, in relation to this subject, is asscertained. To what degree, in either case, it represents public sentiment among their constituents, remains to be seen. We shall look with some curiosity to see if any similar movements are made in the other state legislatures .-. V. Y. Ere. Post.
