The Spring Freshets and their Consequences.

FOREWARNED FOREARMED.

THE rivers of the South and Southwest have been disastrously turbulent during the spring. The tide of the Father of Waters has to an immensely swollen, that the low shores have been broken down, and the country on either side much injured by the in the country on either side much injured by the in the country on either side much injured by the in the accumulating force of the current has borne down these apparently impregnable walls, and swept the country for and wide. Along most of the Mississippi levees and the principal rivers pursuing other courses to the Gulf of Mexico the same destruction has occurred, and millions of dollars worth of property has been swallowed up in the remorseless waters. But the immediate but subsequent upon these mighty freshets sinks into insignificance when compared with the more remote but certain disasters that will ensue. The crevasses may be repaired, and the property acquired may be at least partially reclaimed. But the waters which have covered the lowlands will remain in marshes and pools, to become stagnant, and give forth miasmatic vapors beneath the summer sun. Then comes the more startling peril. The pestilential miasmata the first of all to reside in the vicinity of these streams. Fevers of the most virulent description will be prevalent, and that scourge of the South YELLOW FEVER, will scatter death in many homes now cheerful and happy. The grim spectre will darken many a door, and turn even festivity into mourning. Families will be broken up and firesides rendered desolate. The mother will weep for her little ones, and refuse to be comforted in their graves. The husband and father will be struck down even in the sunny hour of prosperity.

These are the sad scenes that are sure to follow a season of floods such as have characterized the spring of the present year. The most gloomy experience to bear witness that we do not exaggerate the danger that hangs over thousands of people in the Southwestern States. Fortunately, while we know the peril that is to come, we are not compelled to fold our arms and resign ourselves to the worst evils that may ensue. There is both a preventive and a remedy for every form of the destructive pestilence. Every man who values his own existence—every head of a family who cherishes those who look to him, or her, for protection, are solemnly bound to prepare for the dread invador. And this all may do by simply securing a supply of

Dr. J. Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters,

Renowned throughout the new world for its wonderful strengthening and curative properties. This medicine, which is composed of powerful but perfectly harmless ingredients, was discovered by a profound physician, and has ever been warmly eulogised by the most prominent lovers of medical science. Mild and palatable to the taste—potent as a tonic—it gives vigor to the digestive organs, and fresh energy to the whole system. The Bitters fortify the constitution against disease, even in the heart of the regions most cursed by deadly miasma. It is well known if the liver can be kept healthy and the stomach stimulated to perform its functions with proper vigor, that the danger of a man being seriously affected by any of the fevers which usually attack the system through those organs. The Bitters will accomplish this good work. It has proved successful in the most perilous crisis that have ever been experienced in those sections of the country which are liable to be afflicted with malaria. Thus much for the merit of this medicine as a preventive. As a remedy, it operates with astonishing rapidity in the cure of fresh attacks of fever and ague, dysentery, restore lous to the digestive organs, arouse the appetite, and by infusing a cheerful vigor throughout the system, enable the natural powers to throw off the incubus of disease. The most desperate cases of bilious fever, of the dumb ague, and intermittent fever, have yielded to the influence of the magical medicine, and hundreds of persons have learned to place unbounded confidence in its extraordinary qualities. The people of the South and West, as far down as the mouth of the Mississippi, have the HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS, and who must be aware of the danger that threatens them the summer and fall, should at once provide themselves with this famous article. Even if they should not be immediately attacked by the fell interfere, but rather facilitate beneficial operation.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITERS. The genuine Bitters, as prepared by HOSTETTER & SMITH, of Pittsburg, Pa., is the true preventive and remedy. All imitations will prove deceptive. Remember and get Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters, and thus be fortified against the coming pestilence.

HOSTETTER'S
STOMACH BITTERS

Has, for its medical and tonic virtues, and as a preventive and cure for all stomach diseases so prevalent, especially in seasons of epidemic, in our South and Southwestern States, become universally acquired a celebrity and sale throughout the land heretofore unknown to any medical preparation, and in consequence of which unprincipled parties here and in other cities have attempted to counterfeit the genuine mixture in our bottles and name, through our principled street brokers, or at auction, upon the representation of the genuine Hostetter Stomach Bitters. We also hear of travelers in the country offering to sell counterfeits at low rates, and are now engaged in the same nefarious business. Druggists and Grocers should look out for these fellows, and scrutinize all strangers offering Hostetter's Bitters for sale as a reduced price, as no reduction has been made by the proprietors, consequently no one but responsible parties or their authorized agents, who would be above any such mean consideration. Hostetter's genuine Stomach Bitters are never sold at auction or by street drug brokers, or any irresponsible persons, but can be had of any of the leading Druggists and Grocers of New Orleans.

Caution should be exercised by persons purchasing our Hostetter's Stomach Bitters to see that every bottle has the fac simile of our written signature on the label, which, no doubt, in fear of imprisonment, has prevented being put on any of the counterfeits but far brought to our notice. Also notice that the name, Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is blown on the side of the bottles, and stamped on the cap covering the cork.

All orders for the genuine article of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters must be addressed to the proprietors,

ANTI-GOUTY ELIXIR

HIPPOLYTE BRIEUGNE,
INVENTOR OF THE ANTI-RHEUMATISMA

Tropical Balm.

THESE now all medical science has had no power over the gouty, this terrible disease which has ever made so many victims in the world, and still tears daily so many thousands from their sorrowful palaces to give them up to the most painful lastings. It is unnecessary to recall to our minds the symptoms of this disease too well known to its numerous sufferers. It suffices to name them to appreciate the value of such a remedy against their return. Such is the effect of the ANTI-GOUTY ELIXIR, which is the result of the long researches of M. HIPPOLYTE BRIEUGNE, already known by the discovery of the anti-rheumatismal Tropical Balm, that has had success in this disease. The Anti-Gouty Elixir, particularly designed for curing the fits of the gout, possesses a power of long time warranted by a long and prominent experience of the inventor, and by repeated assays upon its numerous victims.

The ANTI-GOUTY ELIXIR is easy to take, and its taste is in no way disagreeable. It can be taken pure or mixed with two or three spoonfuls of tea or coffee. Its effects are felt after a few hours, whatever may be the intenseness of the fit. In twelve hours at most the sufferings disappear, and all its symptoms vanish away.

For sale at the general depot, in New Orleans, at
J. WRIGHT & CO,
21 and 161 Chartres street.

And in the principle drug stores of the United States. ap19 1y
