The Last Card.

The Philadelphia North American—a very zealous and very able whig journal—thus describes the mode to which locofocoism now attempts to renew the interment fraud by which the people of that state were defined at the last presidential election: haluded at the last presidential election :

defined at the last presidential election:

In Schujkail county and generally in the coal and iron districts of our state, they are now busily circulating reports that Mr. Polk did not sign the nee trade taril bill, but that it was passed by a coalition of ships and southern free traders, under the head of Messra. Webster and Calhoun, who, from a common entity to Mr. Polk, united together to pass this bill and bring his administration into disrepute."

The particulars, we understand, were are as follows: A little before 11 o'clock, on Sunday night, ne called the turnkey and requested him to awake nimin an hour or two, if he should be asleep. In a few moments he was heard praying in his cell. After that, all appeared quiet, and it was supposed he was asleep. At day break, the jailor went into his cell to arouse him, but he was lifeless and cold. It appears that he had fastened one end of a silk handherchief to the grating of his window, and with the other formed a noose, which he put round his neck. The window was oo low for him to suspend himself, but, with a resoluti which must have been inspired by insanity, he reached lown with his hands to the iron rail of his bedstead and dislocated his neck by the mascular strength of as arms. Besiness in New York is not as active as it usually BUSINESS in New York is not as active as it usually is at this period. The fact is attributed to the changes recently made in our commercial system. The importations under the warehousing system are large, and when they come to be taken out after the lat of December, it is expected that there will be a very material reduction in the prices of cotton and woollen manufactures, in tonnaquence of an over supply. Buyers, of course, hold back to get the benefit of the cheap prices, and business in thus recented and decheap prices, and business is thus retarded and de-layed for a longer period than quant.
