

LA ABEJA.

NUEVA-ORLEANS, 10 DE MARZO.

Méjico, 1^o. de Febrero.

Cesa irresistible es la voz de un pueblo que todo se convierte y agita para consolidar y restablecer sus instituciones! Las autoridades y falsos simulacros erigidas sobre los escombros y ruinas de las leyes, desaparecen como el humo! Cuantos creyeron que el pueblo nunca volvería a recuperar los derechos que se lo habían usurpado, y que los atentadores se gozarían largo tiempo en el frente de sus crímenes! ¡Qué delirio! El Esquema. Sr. general D. Manuel Mier y Terán era para muchos la base sobre que fandaban esperanzas tan largas para la perpetuidad del desorden, como quiméricas atendiendo al estado actual de la república. S. E. conoce las bases legítimas en que descansa el sistema federal; las respeta religiosamente, y nunca mancha el brillo de gloria contrariando la voluntad nacional que se desplega para desalojar intrusos. No ha faltado en estos días quienes suscieren por la presencia de este general en el Estudio de Querétaro para la reposición de un Canadá; no habría dementido el valiente vencedor de Tampico los principios de que está profundamente penetrado para impedir a un Estado que en ejercicio de su soberanía repuele a sus autoridades conforme a las leyes que había jurado solemnemente: nunca el domador de los leones españoles habiera da lo este día de gloria a los enemigos del exterior, nunca cubriría a los desordenes del interior; ni desaparecerán, si desaparecerán para siempre, los que formaron de nuestra constitución la egida de su perverdad! Puebla, Oaxaca, Querétaro, Veracruz, Jalisco, y en una palabra, la federación todavía con el mayor gozo re-stituirá el orden de la ley, sepultando en perpetuo olvido a la numerosa turba de tantos demagogos que la plagaron de calamidad y desgracias.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 10, 1830.

Washington, Feb. 10

Mr. Dorsey, yesterday, from the Committee on Naval Affairs, reported a bill making provision for the welfare and representatives of the officers and crew of the Hornet. He was prevented by sudden indisposition, while on the floor, from stating the provisions of the bill. We learn that it provides for a duration of six months' additional pay, and authorizes the accounting officers of the Navy to allow them their pay until the first of January last; and that they may receive the bounty of the Government promptly. He moved that it should be made the order of the day for to-morrow week which was ordered accordingly.

In the House of Representatives on Saturday, Mr. Buchanan reported a bill in addition to the act authorising the President of the United States to run a line between Georgia and Florida. The resolution for abolishing the office of Draftsman was debated by Messrs. Daniel C. Ke, R. M. Johnston, and Hemphill, but no question was taken upon it. The bill providing for sundry Revolutionary and other pensioners, passed to a third reading.

APPOINTMENT BY THE PRESIDENT.

By and with the advice and consent of the Senate:

Louis McLan, of Delaware, to be Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States, at the Court of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, vice James Barbour.

William U. Rives, of Virginia, to be Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States to the Court of His Most Christian Majesty, King of France and Navarre, vice James Brown, resigned.

William Pitt Prede, of Maine, to be Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States at the Court of His Majesty the King of the Netherlands.

Cornelius P. Van Ness, of Vermont, to be Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States at the Court of His Catholic Majesty, in place of Alexander H. Everett, recalled.

Washington Irving, of New-York, to be Secretary of Legation of the United States near His Britannic Majesty, in place of William Babcock Lawrence.

Charles C. Harper, of Maryland, to be Secretary of Legation of the United States to His Majesty the King of France and Navarre, in place of John Adams Smith.

Auguste Davezac, of Louisiana, to be Secretary of Legation of the United States of America at the Court of His Majesty the King of the Netherlands.

J. C. Pickett, of Virginia, to be Secretary of Legation of the United States to the Republic of Colombia.

William J. Duane, of Philadelphia, to be a Director of the Bank of the United States, in the place of Nicholas Biddle, who declined accepting the commission transmitted to him by the Government, having been previously elected by the Stockholders of the Bank a Director.

James Campbell, of New York, to be a Director of the Bank of the United States, Benjamin Bailey having declined the appointment.

Richard W. Green, of Rhode Island, to be Attorney of the United States for the District of Rhode Island.

[From the New Hampshire Journal of Feb. 8.]

It is stated by Mr. Ingersoll, a member of Congress, that the contingent expenses of the House have increased $20,000, and those of the Senate $10,000!

Add this to the $115,000, increase of the expenses of the Diplomatic service, and to the thousands expended in fitting up "the East Room."

and to the hundreds of thousands lavished as "rewards" on the partisans of the Hero, and then tell us how much of the people's money has been saved by a change of the Administration.

[From the Richmond Whig of Feb. 9.]

A subscriber at Washington returns the Whig of Tuesday last, in which was republished the letter from Washington originally published in the Enquirer, with this endorsement: "Benton's own, depend upon it." It may be so. It smells a little of the "East Room"—"et we should hardly imagine that the gentleman would so have puffed himself."

The following amusing statement, and the profoundly wise interrogations appended to it, are from a London paimpolicy of attempting to establish manufactory in the United States of America even in the New England provinces, which, in education, habits, of capital, bear a resemblance to this country. The advices from Boston, received two days ago, mention that the State Bank of that city, a great and long established corporation, are unable to pay a dividend for the half year, a very large sum [the reported amount we decline to name, considering it beyond the limit of possibility] being locked up in the discount of bills which are either wholly or partially bad. Qui nunc facundus Ulysses? In plain English—What say the advocates of the Tariff to this?"

The Pleasure or Blindness—A blind girl in France, upon saying that she had no wish to see, was asked the reason, on which she replied—"If I could see, I should then have only my own eyes; now I enjoy the eyes of every body. I am obliged in some way by every person, and I am every moment grateful. Alas! if I were to see, people speak of me no more!" The same girl, hearing of the misconduct of a certain individual, whose speech was unusually pleasant, said—"who would have thought it of him, with so sweet a voice?"

Maire—At the last accounts from Paris, the Legislature continued in great distress, and the sovereign people were witnessing their groans with feelings of wonder. We have not room for particular today, but it may be well to state that the mad one administered in convention on Tuesday appears not to have operated favorably on the stomachs of the members of the honourable Senate or of the House of Representatives. A consultation was to be held with the Judges of the Supreme Court, touching the alarming situation of the servants of the people.

Mr. Webster and the Constitution.—Our readers will find in our paper of this morning an able letter from "A Virginian" addressed to the Editor of the Richmond Enquirer but, in consequence of its declining to insert it in that paper, it was published in the Whig. The writer is a friend of Gen. Jackson, and his administration, a. d. say the Editors of the Whig, "as we have reason to believe, a Virginian, and holding the Constitutional tenets held by a majority of the People of Virginia." He was present at the delivery of Mr. Webster's celebrated speech lately to certain doctrines put forth by Mr. Hayne, and, under the influence of a sense of justice, vindicates the orator against the atrocious falsehoods of his opinions, by the Government of O. Hill at the seat of government, and its affiliated "mercenary squadron" throughout the country.—D spirit must be the moral condition of that party which resorts to organized violence or the opinions of an opponent, in order to avert public attention from the evasions of its own corruption. That such a system finds no favor even among the candid and intelligent part of its own members, the only instance of "A Virginian" is an honorable instance. It fixes the brand of falsehood on the assertions of the Government official, that Mr. Webster did "intend that the National Government was established by the People, who had imparted to it unlimited power over the States and the Constitution." This falsehood is the text on which that print has since constructed so many cogent commentaries, and is the origin of the deafening howl of the whole "mercenary squadron," against the principles, motives and conduct of Opposition. The original publication of this letter of "A Virginian" has already stimulated public curiosity concerning the state of the nation to purge the Senate of its present and BEAUTIFUL AUTOMATOS.

THE Ladies and Gentlemen of N. Orleans and the Public generally, are informed, that for a few weeks on the evenings of Wednesdays, Fridays and Sundays, will be offered for their amusement, at Saint Phillip street I theatre an exhibition of ingenious and interesting Automatos, and the sublime spectacle of the Conflagration of Moscow!!! The exhibition will be conducted in the following order:

1st.—The little Bass Fiddler.

2d.—Maetzel's original Automaton Speaking Figures. One of these An-droids, (the little French girl) will in the spectators, distinctly articulate the words "Mama, and Papa."

3d.—The Beautiful Automaton Slack Rope Dancers. One of these likewise, while on the rope, utters the French exclamation "Oh la la." These figures are very celebrated, and their astonishing and graceful feats have received the highest encomiums.

The whole to conclude with the conflagration of Moscow. This magnificent combination of the effects of design, mechanism and music, illustrating the awful grandeur of an immense city wrapt in flame, and a prey to the ravages of war. The invading armies of Napoleon are seen to enter; the inhabitants abounding in wealth, with their torches pass among them—the bells are heard in every quarter, which, with the military French music, the volleys of instant musketry, the roar of artillery, the tremendous explosion, the expansion of flames, &c. will present a perfect simulation of the rear scene!!!

Dance open at 7 o'clock, performances commence precisely at half past 7.

81 00. Second tier for free persons of color, 50 cents; gallery, 25 cents—Children half price.
