The resolution submitted by Mr. Clay of Ky for the repeal of the Sub-Treasury Bill was called up to day.

Mr. Clay made a few remarks, declaring that he had deferred asking a decision till this late period of the assaion because as the administration party looked on the mersure as unimportant, he was willing they should have all the benefit of it, so long as they continued in power; but he thought it ought not to be continued overto the aext administration. The people had emphasically condemned it, and now called for its repeal. Other questions undeutified were involved in the recent contest, but the Sub-Treasury was the prominent objection to Mr. Van Buren's a ministration, and had led to its overthrow more than all of other causes combined.
