Wodnesday morning, August 28, 1846. Operation of the Sub-Treasury. That beautiful contrivance for creating new office empting men to acts of dishonesty and producing ned the Sub-Treasury, was passed at the te session of Congress in so truneated and distorted a shape, that its practical operation already bids fair to substantiate the prediction of Mr. Benton, that it vould prove a "humbug." We learn from the Bal-I impracticable by some of the highest functions ies in the employ of the Government. By the Subreasury law, says that journal, it is made a penal of ence, and the punishment is ten years in the State ment funds already in bank, may be kept there, but it is a felony to make any further use of these banks than to draw your money from them as you may seed it. In the mean time there are half a dozen out a violation of law. Some of the disbursing offiers under these circumstances have applied in perand when they shall act. The Treasury officers The magic machinery of a Sub-Treasury s yet too complicated for these gentlemen to jun ers, who are constantly receiving funds and yet can sums in gold and silver, and he prepared to pay out on demand. To say nothing of the inconvenience of the plan, or of the facilities afforded to scoundrels for robbing men who are known to have on hand large quantities of coin, the inducements to Swartwouting that under a better regulated system have already shipwrecked the integrity of hundreds, must in many ances, prove almost irresistible.

It seems, however, that conscious of the absurdity of the existing act and of the difficulties attendant upon its interal enforcement, some of the officers of the Government have already hit upon an ingenior lan for "whippingshe devil round the stump."

American describes it as follows:

"They will deposit their funds with John Roe, and John Roe will be the Cashier of a Bank—Richard Doe, as the Government officer, will draw upon John, who will make payment as if he was the bank and as Richard's agent. This sort of non-obervance of the law is declared to be necessary to give the scheme any practical effect whatever, and thus men are to two in dread of "ten years imprisonment," or of the ng robbed of the Government money, in order to afford the Administration tinkers with the currency and to the business of the country, rainous experiments. It will be amusing hereafter to note the hundred and one plans on foot for avoiding this Sub-Treasur, law."

Upon the presumption that these statements are

By the way. we have on hand a communication on the subject of this same speech, from one of Mr. H.'s constituents, which we will transfer to our columns as soon a possible.

A letter written on board the U. S. ship Coumbus, under date of Macao, April 10, states that soon after leaving Manilla on the 14th of March last the Asiatic cholera broke out among the crew and carried off thirteen in a very short time. There were nirty or forty cases in all; but during the ten days preceding the writing of the letter there had not been a single new case, and the sick were rapidly recov-ering. The crew were very careless in their diet hen at Manilla, and as none of the officers, who had been more careful, were attacked by the disease, its inducretion. Reques Caught by Telegraph.—Another instance of the utility of the magnetic telegraph in this line of business occurred in New York on Saturday the 15th inst. An individual succeeded in obtaining an amount of goods from a merchant of Philadel-phia, under false pretences. He immediately sent a message by the telegraph to the Chief of Police, at New York, detailing the circumstances and giving a description of the swindler. On the arrival of the cars he was arrested, and committed to prison to await the requisition of the Governor of Pennsyl

SERIOUS FIRE IN MILWAURIE.-A fire broke out on the morning of the 10th instant, says the Milwan-kie Gazette, in the fine mills of Messrs. Comstock & Chase, in Kilbourn town, on the canal, a few rods north of the scene of the late disastrons fire. The building was filled with machinery of different descriptions. The loss of C. & C. is estimated at $15,000, that of Amos Tufts, a foil mannafacturer, in the same building, is $1500. Mr. Luscombe, who was burned out in the former fire, is a sufferer to the amount of $1000, and a number of other mechanics who lost their all. The total loss will exceed $25,000

To the French Editor of the Courier:

My dear fellow why do you get into such a passion!

Do you not know it is dangerous, particularly hot weather? You might bring on us an epidemic by making yourself the first case and thus introduce the disease. Think of the unacclimated volunteers now in the city, if such should be the result, and keep cool is pray you. Besides you should recollect that people generally think that the party who loses his temper knows he has the worst of the battle. But you do not even fight fair—you have called in the English editor to help you—you both fall on me in a most violent to help you—you both fall on me in a most violent on alaught. Two upon one, at the same ine, is really too much for me, particularly as you are both experienced gladiators in the literary arena—both "evenfined gladiators in the literary arena—both "expensive without drill or discipline. Now do I pray you, pall off from me your colleague until I have used you up, and then if he wishes it, I will take him in hand; but I have no wish to fight both at once, and I should really think he would prefer to keep hus "breath to cool his own porridge" seeing the manner that "A Citizen" is pouring his hot shot and Paixhan shells into him. I read through your article of Saturday, and after composing my risible muscles at the manner I had unintentionally disturbed your bile and the way in which you floundered yourself still deeper into the morans. I went through it more attentively a second time, and the result of my reflections was that your own article fully continued the opinion. I had previously expressed that you were protoundly important on the subject. You have neither disproved one of my ascertions nor proced one of your own, excepting partially or rather plausibly on one point which I shall presently notice and of which I will give you the full advantage. That your assertions were made at random and without foundation is proved by your own statement that you were employed in looking up for authorities to support them. Now would it not have been beetter, or at any rate safer for you to have found your authorities before you made yourgaster-ful tions, for I promise you in this case you cannot find them offerroards, search as diligently as you may. This communication, recollect, was officially made to Congress by the President from facts collected by the Department of State, and I could fill several columns with similar cases and sounc of them moviving of the officers and crew, in some instances resulting even in death, but which I have purposely omitted.—Privateersmen at best, are but licensed privates, and to not suppose those of France were worse than do not suppose those of France were worse than do not suppose those of France were worse than they do foreigners, and who sent their view agents to their colonies to carry out their system in these please.—Now I think that when neutral vessels are either colonies to carry out their system in these please.—Now I think that when neutral vessels are either colonies to carry out their system in these please.—Now I think that when neutral vessels are either colonies to cerul the transition and condemned, under such circumstances as have stated.
