of the 25th alt. The following are additional items of intelligence:

Enselance.—Northing of Importance has transpired beyond the voting of £300,000 to carry on the Kaffir War. The Lord Chancesfor is moving for theyote expressed satisfaction that the war was site likely to prove so serious as at first anticipated. Adderly observed that Earl Gary and others haid down industry roles that Colonies who had a representative Government should hear the expenses of their own defence, and contended that such a Government with such a constitution ought to be given to the Cape, in order to prevent the resources of a similar demand in the Home Government. Lord Russell stated it was their own full if the Colonists at the Cape had not their own full if the Colonists at the Cape had not their own representatives and constitution, but did not think any kind of Native Government would enable them to defend themselves against the Kaffirs.

This, however, was not the question. The question whether they were prepared to permis emigrants whom they had encouraged to emigrate is that country to be destroyed without rendering them assistance. Mr. Hume baid he could not assent to this vote, because it gave encouragement to, robbery and aggression. Mr. Hawe, at some length, replied to Hume, defended the vote, it was carried by a larse majority. The new measure of Chancer y Reform, proposed by Lord Roscell and other having defended the vote, it was carried by a larse majority. GERMANY.—In the early pert of the week, Prussia virtually excluded the English Newspapers by reason of a heavy poat office tax, but it has since been repealed. Berlin has been the scene of great festivities during the week. A correspondent at Hamburg states that a conflict had taken place between the Austrians and a mob of the suburbs of St. Paul in Altina. The Austrians fired on the people in Hamburg territory, and killed and wounded 15 percent. The people of Hamburg and Altina were examples and the proposed of the proposed
