GRAND CALICO BALL.—We acknowledge the compliment of tickets to the Young Men's first grand calico ball, for charitable purposes, at Odd Fellows' Hall, to-morrow evening. The entire feature of this ball is an excellent one, as it proposes that what is saved in dress is a contribution to charity.

THE EIGHT HOUR MOVEMENT.—We publish a well written and well reasoned communication this question, addressed to the workingmen of this city by a fellow-workingman. We confess that we feel doubly assured of the correctness of the views recently advanced by us in the same relation, when they are confirmed in all essential points by the practical conclusions as well as the abstract reflections of an intelligent and experienced mechanic. The eight hour system, should it be attended by adequate compensations for the reduced time, devoted to a special labor, would not be in it itself an evil. But to secure such compensations, it must be understood. If carried out on the fallacy that the rewards of labor may be enhanced by diminishing its products, and that a little is equal to, or more than, much, it can serve no other than a pernicious effect. Time misapplied, it would involve that minimist misery of labor which finds its purest illustration in the rent-digger Indians and the bug-eaters.

RAILWAY PROSPECT IN HATCHITOCHES.—The Natchitoches Times of the 10th contains a notice of a meeting to take steps for making a railroad from that town to the main branch of the Red River at Gurney's Landing.

The Opelousas Sentinel records the death on the 7th of Mr. Caleb L. Swayze, an eminent lawyer at the Opelousas bar, and formerly in our Legislature. It also mentions the death on the 6th of another citizen, Mr. Richard Parrott.

A meeting of architects, builders, and employers of mechanics was held in Masonic Hall, and the proposition to adopt eight hours as a day's work was voted down by 71 against 7. The report and resolutions adopted by this meeting are interesting, and will appear on the French side of the Bee to-morrow.

SUNSET LIKE.—Is the pretty name of the princess in the fairy tale, and every lady may be a Princess Sunset-like, if she chooses to use the fragrance breathing Sozodont. The rare essence of immortality, aromatic herbs, removes every blemish from the teeth, gives a blush-rose tinge to the gums, and renders the mouth as pure and fresh as an infant.

AMUSEMENTS.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The popular Treasurer of the "Academy," Mr. J. Kittredge, has his annual benefit to-night. In this responsible position, Mr. Kittredge has shown that delicate respect for others, that patience under trials, and that unblemished good humor under most aggravating circumstances, which have largely contributed to make that establishment such a favorite with all classes. The fact is, we do not know a better model of a courteous gentleman and an attentive officer than our friend Kittredge. All his friends, of course, agree with us in this; but it is only some a year that they have the chance of giving a tangible evidence of their regard—let them remember that.

If we were writing of the benefit of any other gentleman, we would be apt to dwell upon the capital programme announced for the occasion—particularly, when the Company will be out in full strength. But Mr. Kittredge, to ensure a crowded house, needs no other mention than that he invites all his friends to visit him to-night.

Added to the regular programme for the benefit of Mr. Kittredge to-night, will be the brilliant musical novelty of the Crescent City Lancers, arranged by Ford. Von Olker, Musical Director of the Academy, and dedicated to the Young Men's Crescent City Benevolent Association.

VARIETIES THEATRE.—Mrs. W. H. Leighton, for her benefit, to-night, announces three very popular pieces—of "Ernestine, or the Foster Sisters," "Pocahontas," and the "Fool of the Family." At least two of these plays will bring out strongly the peculiarly racy talent of the lively beneficiaire, and will enable her to appear in those scenes for which her humor so admirably fits her. Of a surety, the Weeping Philosopher—were she on earth again—would have but little reason to loiter in the Varieties to-night.

ST. CHARLES THEATRE.—Mad. Céleste takes her last benefit this evening, on which occasion will be presented the drama of "The House on the Bridge of Notre Dame." Mad. Céleste's ability to speak our language, combined with her unquestionable eloquence of action and feature, make her personations much clearer and more striking than those of the generality of the Parisian talents of the day. She speaks English—not with an English or American tongue, but forcibly, for all that.

STONE, ROBINSON AND MURRAY'S SOUTHERN CIRCUS will give to-night their last representations, but, in this city, on the 'Haunted Lot' in the Fourth District. After leaving us, they will go to Carrollton, and, after two exhibitions there, they pass over, fog, Lake Pontchartrain, big serials, red wagons, trained animals, and all—to regale our neighbors of the opposite bank.

FROM MEXICO VIA HAVANA.

By the steamship Evening Star we have Havana papers to the 9th, with news to the 10th ult. from the Mexican capital.

We find in the Presse that M. Langlois, the diplomatic representative of France in Mexico, died of brain fever, aged 61 years, in the midst of preparations for reforming the finances of the country.

Marshal Bazaine, instead of being defeated in Morelia in a late engagement, as reported, beat Regules and captured 600 of his army.

The country, lying out of the range of the Imperial forces, was still overrun with the guerrillarism which seems the chronic condition of Mexico.

From the Rio Grande.

We have Brownsville papers to the 6th inst., but not much additional news. The Courier of that date ridicules the Ranchero's statements about plots for a filibuster attack on Matamoros from Brownsville. There was no abatement of guerrillist depredation along the river. The Courier relates:

Capt. F., of the barge Colome, reports that night before last a party of Mexicans guerrillas came upon the barge, which is lying on the Mexican shore two miles above Rancho Alegre, and in wrecking the steamer Montezuma, they demanded the commissioned officer, who made his escape and carried away with him after robbing Capt. F——, and his crew of their clothes, money, two pistols, two canteens, besides three carts loaded with goods intended for the barge, wrestled from the Montezuma.

Until now the commissioned officer has not been heard of, and the Guerrillas from Matamoras are after the robbers.

WHY BATON ROUGE.—The West Baton Rouge Sugar Planter says: It is always a pleasure to put the bright side foremost when-ever there is family and domestic news. In this connection, we unhesitatingly say that up to the present time we have heard no complaints of the freedmen, nor of the freedmen. Employer and employé appear to be satisfied with each other. The freedmen were disposed to carry out their contracts in good faith, working with a diligence and energy something of by gone days.

It will be gratifying to the citizens of our parish, as well as those of the Gross Tete and Iberville country, to learn that every proper attention is being given to put the Baton Rouge, Grosse Tete and Opelousas Railroad into repair in order.

REMAINS OF THE LATE P. E. BOSFORD.—The Alexandria (La.) Democrat, of the 14th, says:

On Friday last the remains of Hon. Pierre E. Bosford, who died in this town in August, 1865, was handed over to the custody of the Masonic fraternity to be conveyed to their final resting place in New Orleans. Old masters of Hiram Lodge, who was his co-laborer in the country of the Supreme Court of the State, the District Bar, assembled to pay a tribute of respect for the memory of the lamented deceased, and in order to give the members of the bar an opportunity to answer thereby to the summons which called him away.

RESOLVES OF HOUSE RELATIVE TO NEW YORK.—The New York Tribune says: The Albany Argus and the Philadelphia Ledger widely differ on the subject of the Federal custom-house question.

The Argus says: "Secretary Seward, on his return to duty every week, will resume the negotiations with Mr. Hall, and will proce
