THE DITY OF THE NOMINATING CONVENTION.

The ticket of candidates for the various State, parish and city officers, presented by the State parish and city officers, presented by the State central Demoratia Committee, having been withdrawn, it has been thought best by the Committee to request the various Ward Clabs to sleet delegates to a city and parish convention, to be held on Saturday evening seax, in order that the whole subject of local nominations may be discussed and decided, and if norminations may be discussed upon, for the further purpose of nominating candidates for all offices—Congressional, Jodicial, Legislative, Parochial and Municipal. This programme does not contemplate the nomination of a ticket for officer of the State government, because such a Convention would not have the power to represent the other parishes of the State.

The duty which has than devolved upon the city and parish Convention of the delegates thereto, not with the view of electing this or that man to office, but with the single object of discovering satishle candidates, andidates in the first place eligible and capable of qualifying and holding these offices, and in the next place candidates around whose names the odor of more seeking disposition does not bang, if the delegates independent of the constitution of the decident of the State where the state is an intensity reject every name obnoxions to voters, on the ground to which we allede. A Conservative Senator, noted for his caution as well as his great ability, declared to-night that there was no escape of the country from its present political bondage, excepting in revo-lution, which he regards as near at hand.
